7-STORY TOWER GIVEN OKAY

St. Peter Site On Highland

A seven-story apartment tower with an attached three-floor office wing has been approved for the old St. Peter Lutheran Church property east of Highland Avenue, between Eastman and St. James streets.

Developers expect their investment in the building and grounds to total $1.6 million. It is the largest downtown development approved to date.

The complex will be known as the Highland House apartments and the Eastman Center office building.

The board of trustees granted approval to the planned development layout of the structure Monday; the plan commission had given the project its favorable recommendation last Wednesday. Developers told trustees they will seek approval of building permits and a start on construction at an early date.

EXTERIOR WALLS will be of stone, brick and glass. The apartment tower will contain 65 units: 12 efficiencies, 22 two-bedroom units and 31 one-bedroom units. The office area will contain nearly 20,000 square feet.

The first floor and basement of the apartment section will be devoted to parking, lobbies and elevator shafts.

Co-developers are Joseph W. Bernstein and H. Myles Gordon. Gordon said he has had several "good contacts" for potential office renters.

The property, part of the land held by St. Peter Church for about 100 years, has been subject of several high rise proposals in the past two years. First proposal, by Bernstein in 1963, was for a 14-story building.

THE VILLAGE had no ordinances covering high rise structures at that time. Since then, a B-5 ordinance for downtown was approved, providing heights up to 90 feet—about nine stories—for commercial or mixed commercial-apartment structures. St. Peter property was included in the B-5 area.

The village also created an R-6 "eligibility ring" surrounding the B-5 area. In it, apartment structures up to six stories will be permitted.

Trustees had approved the concept of B-5 structure previously — a dramatic building planned for 25 S. Highland Ave. Its developer Ronald Petralito told the Herald Monday he has since decided to re-evaluate his plans in view of recommendations by Tec Search downtown planners that downtown be redeveloped in relatively large complexes.

Trustees have also approved one R-6 structure—a five story apartment building at Campbell Street and Chestnut Avenue extended. Plans for it are being reviewed by the building department.

IN APPROVING the St. Peter development, the village board concurred in a plan commission recommendation that the private portion of Highland Avenue west of the property remain private. Half of it is owned by the developers, the other half by the adjacent National Tea.

Major area of concern to trustees was that the office structure actually be developed. The B-5 ordinance requires the first floor of a B-5 building be devoted to commercial use.

Spirit of that provision, board members pointed out, was that new commercial space must be provided before developers can take advantage of the extra height for apartments.

THE ST. PETER project, however, will make use of an existing gymnasium building, with an extra floor inserted, for commercial space.

Gordon and his general contractor Norman Rudenberg pointed out the gym building will have three walls demolished as part of the site preparation and will be faced to blend into the tower section. They assured trustees work on the two sections will proceed simultaneously.

Creekside Park Study Requested

The plan commission has been asked to study possible development of an extensive parkway along McDonald Creek in northern Arlington Heights.

The study was requested by the village board Monday after its legal committee reported the park district is willing to consider an extensive creekside park. The parks, plan commission and village board have given intensive review to a proposal to develop one small section of the creek with a park—in the planned Ivy Hill Unit 6.

LEGAL COMMITTEE chairman John White indicated the overall study made "more sense" than consideration of only one section. Under consideration is an agreement where Ivy Hill's developers would donate the creek and adjacent areas to the park district with the village assuming responsibility for maintenance of the creek bed itself.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson, who originally was concerned over village's possible involvement, said Monday he felt after investigation "we can work out the village's obligations for maintaining the creek bed in a natural state."

Hanson, the engineering department, park officers and the legal committee met twice to consider the Ivy Hill request.

WHITE SAID the park district will consider the extensive park provided there are areas dedicated along the creek large enough to accommodate recreation activities of the park district.

The area of the creek under consideration is unsubdivided, and most is presently outside the village limits. One leg of the creek extends northwest from a point near Grove Road and the extension of Techny Road. Another extends southwest. The third extends east into developed areas of Prospect Heights.

The area the plan commission has been asked to consider is Hintz Road on the north to Palatine Road on the south and east to the projected village limits, Schoenbeck Road. Among the directions to the plan commission is that it make recommendations on the park district's requests for parkland reservations along the creek.

KING THOMAS LeStarge and Queen Cindy Flodin presided at Arlington High School homecoming festivities Friday. LeStarge, the Cardinals co-captain, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert LeStarge, 318 N. Yale Ave. Miss Flodin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flodin, 229 N. Yale Ave. Both are seniors. Arlington's varsity team beat Riverside-Brookfield 35-0 in the homecoming game. ## Schools Eye Joint Reading Drive

The 10 elementary and high school districts of Palatine, Schaumburg, Elk Grove and Wheeling Townships are discussing a joint reading improvement proposal under the recent federal education bill.

The proposal will provide an estimated $616,000 for the four township school districts.

The application will be under Title I of the act which provides financial assistance for education of children of low-income families. Although the remedial reading or reading improvement program will primarily help students from low-income families, all students will be able to participate.

The major over-all proposal will include sub-proposals in the field of reading improvement as developed by the individual school districts.

The programs must be open to students from non-public schools if they desire to participate.

THE PLAN calls for the hiring of a director to assist local school districts and to coordinate the programs in the 10 separate districts.

The general proposal was developed by the Northwest Suburban Curriculum Council which is composed of at least one curriculum person from each school district. The proposed project was planned by a special steering committee headed by Marion Omiatek, curriculum coordinator of Palatine-Rolling Meadows District 15, with Dr. Donald Thomas, Elk Grove High School principal, High School District 214.

The council is asking the 10 area school boards to approve participation in the area proposal, with final approval to come from the superintendents of the participating school districts.

OMIATEK stated that no discussions with parochial schools had been held to date. This will be done before the final proposal is written, he said.

A meeting is slated for today (Oct. 7) between administrative representatives of Norwesco and members of the curriculum council. Norwesco is a community group for action against poverty covering the four township area. It is a subgroup under the north Cook County area steering committee on economic opportunity. The north area committee was approved by the Cook County Board of Commissioners last week.

Under provisions of the educational act, school districts are required to develop programs in cooperation with, or with the blessing of, community action groups organized under provisions of the Economic Opportunity Act. Norwesco fits this description.

School boards in Elk Grove District 59 and District 15 have approved participation in the proposal development. The board of Arlington Heights District 25 has also approved participation in the study. Under the estimated allocations, District 59 would receive about $60,000, District 15 would receive about $115,000 and District 25 would receive about $108,000.

OTHER tentative allocations are approximately $36,000 for Wheeling-Buffalo Grove District 21, $21,250 for Prospect Heights District 23, $12,000 for River Trails District 26, $31,000 for Schaumburg District 54, $33,000 for Mount Prospect District 57, $69,000 for Palatine-Schaumburg High School District 211 and $132,000 for High School District 214.

Actual allocations will be determined by the Cook County Superintendent of Schools. Allocations are made on the basis of the number of low-income (under $2,000 per year) families in the school district.

Approval of the proposal will come from the state education office.

THE JOINT 10 district proposal is being planned because some school districts might not meet requirements for the total number of low-income families and because income statistics are based on townships. School district boundaries also do not coincide with township lines, making identification of low-income families difficult for individual districts. In addition, parochial school areas do not coincide with public school boundaries.

School boards have been asked to approve participation in the joint proposal by Friday, Oct. 22. Individual school district subproposals also are to be developed by that date. The curriculum council steering committee will have the final proposal ready by Nov. 1 for submission to school administrators and school boards.

Omiatek noted that some state

Downtown Motto For Auto Tags

The village board Monday approved a downtown development motto for next year's vehicle stickers. Public Relations Committee Chairman Roy A. Bressler said his group felt downtown renewal is "one of the most significant things that has happened to Arlington Heights."

Public Works Touches Residents' Daily Lives

by DAN BAUMANN
Staff Writer

A little-known Arlington Heights industry controls, operates and maintains uncounted millions of dollars worth of public property.

Its shops are capable of anything from sign manufacture to complete overhaul and rebuilding of a dump truck.

The industry—the village public works department—affects your life continually.

Of all village departments, public works, with a force of 28 and a budget of $283,000, is second in size only to the police department.

"When we give talks to community groups," says Eugene Willroth, public relations-minded director of public works, "we point out that most of the direct village services not provided by the police and fire departments are under our jurisdiction."

EMPHASIS IN THE department now is on winterizing activities. Street salt has been ordered, plow frames have been bolted on 17 trucks and plow blades are being cleaned, repaired and painted.

The department's street division has responsibility for a long list of public improvements: streets, curbs and gutters, sidewalks, parkways, street lighting, trees, storm water drainage and street signs.

On some major programs — street replacement, tree removal and plantings — the department supervises the work of private contractors. It is, however, responsible for patching and maintenance of streets, curbs and sidewalks.

Although many people do not know it, the department will pay half the cost of a sidewalk replacement. And it maintains parkways, exclusive of grass cutting.

Where parkway grass has been destroyed, the department will put in black dirt and reseed. Willroth expects to replace seed with sod: "It eliminates return trips — a constant problem with seed — and is cheaper in the long run."

OWNERSHIP OF street lights in the village is split. In the downtown areas, the village owns street lights. In those areas, it has installed the ornamental concrete and metal standards.

Areas surrounding downtown are lighted by wooden poles owned by the public service company.

Some of the posh older subdivisions and all the new ones (where subdividers are now required to install ornamental poles) have village-owned lights. The department is responsible for the care and maintenance of all village-owned lights — including Hasbrook's gas lights.

In the planning stage is replacement of village lights in Scarsdale and Stonegate. "Replacement parts aren't available for them, and they're getting rather old. Their height — 12 feet is a taunt to every boy with a stone."

One reason every section of the village doesn't have the modern poles is their cost — $1,000 to $1,200 an installation, with wiring.

THE DEPARTMENT hires a consulting forester to survey parkway and other village-owned trees. It also performs emergency pruning, stump removal and spraying. The entire village is sprayed for Dutch Elm disease once a year; heavily infected areas receive a second spraying.

The sign shop prepares all village street name and traffic control signs.

And the street division has two street sweepers. Downtown streets are swept every morning in summer. Residential streets are supposed to be swept every two weeks.

"We've done a lousy job on sweeping this year," Willroth feels. "We've had to pull men off sweeping for other work a number of times."

Major winter responsibility for the street crew — augmented by men from other divisions — is snow plowing and salting.

Water Is Top Source Of Gripes

More complaints about water are received by Arlington Heights' public works department than about any other single subject.

And more compliments are received on snow plowing operations than any other, according to Director Eugene Willroth.

Two of the main water complaints — low pressure and rust in the water — should be reduced or eliminated by actions taken this year, he believes. One is an ordinance limiting lawn sprinkling to alternate days.

THE OTHER is addition of phosphate sequestering materials, starting this week, to prevent iron in the water from turning to rust.

While the department does get complaints about plowing, "the compliments we receive far outshadow the complaints."

Comments Willroth, "I was a little surprised. This is the first town I've worked where people take time to write or call when they feel complimentary about the department."

Blind Girl Tells of Fun At Lion-Sponsored Camp

Lions Club activities have enabled one Arlington Heights girl, blind since birth, to attend summer camp during the past four years.

At the camp, Cheryl Corts, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill W. Corts, 915 N. Walnut Ave., has found a broad range of activities from boating to trampoline to swimming to crafts. The camp, at Lake Hastings, is run by the state Lions exclusively for blind children.

Its program is highlighted this week in the annual Lions candy sale. Arlington Heights Lions will use proceeds of the sale to benefit Camp Lions and other projects for the blind and partially sighted.

Sellers will be at the railroad station, at shopping centers and at downtown intersections Friday and Saturday.

Cheryl, a student in the Northwest Suburban Special Education program, attends classes with sighted children at Jack London Junior High School in Wheeling. She was a guest of Arlington Lions at the four one-week camps.

"THEY HAVE HAD handicrafts, instructional and general swimming, activities at the waterfront and lodge, dances, campfires, treasure hunts, a talent show, a Sadie Hawkins day, hay rides, baseball, races, and other activities."

She recalls with relish a "backward day" — "That was a real blast. First we had dessert, then we ate our meal, then said grace. Then we went outside and the bell rang. We even wore our clothes backward."

Her mother, Mrs. Pat Corts, feels the Lions "do everything they can to make the kids' stay enjoyable." She feels the greatest advantage to the youngsters is in developing a sense of independence and "self assurance in what they are able to do on their own."

Before 1962, she noted, Illinois Lions sent blind children to a camp in Wisconsin. Since they have entered into an agreement with the YMCA for use of the camp, they have remodeled and added to the cabins, added a pool and other facilities. The camp grounds have been left basically in their natural state.

LIKE ANY summer camp, Camp Lions has its hazards. Cheryl caught cold one year and developed an ear infection another. "My best summers were 1962 and 1965. I didn't catch anything, and the program was more interesting to me."

Though she feels local park and school districts offer excellent programs for blind children, many children who attend Camp Lions do not have such advantages, according to Mrs. Corts.

Some, for example, have never had water activities.

Besides Camp Lions, the Arlington club has donated encyclopedias, braille writers, typewriters, tape recorders and other equipment for children to use in their school work. (A

Remodeling Done At Ben Franklin

A grand opening sale Thursday, Oct. 7 heralds the reopening of the Arlington Heights Ben Franklin store. The store was closed Oct. 4, 5 and 6 to complete remodeling of the interior.

All the wood shelves and wide counters have been replaced with the latest gondola counters and metal shelves which can display more merchandise. The newer counters and racks are narrower, resulting in wider aisles. Store manager Gerald Ehrhart pointed out that selling space has increased by 25 per cent.

AMONG THE improvements are new card racks, a hanging rug display and doubled space in the "soft lines" jackets, shirts and dresses.

"The modernization was undertaken to handle increased business and better serve the public," said Ehrhart. "We had hoped to add a new front but that will have to wait till next spring."

The Ben Franklin is an independent, locally owned store.

Trustees to Review Weller Creek Problem

Arlington Heights' Village Board will meet as a committee of the whole to re-examine its position on drainage in the Weller Creek basin.

That decision was taken Monday after the board reformed a special assessment program started by the Weller Creek Drainage District had been thrown out of Circuit Court.

The improvement affected Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and incorporated areas between them. Both villages and the Arlington Heights Gardens Homeowners had filed objections in court.

VILLAGE ATTY. Jack M. Siegel said Circuit Judge Thaddeus C. Adesko had approved petitions to dismiss the assessment proceedings without elaborating on his reasons.

Siegel suggested the board "might very well take another look. . .there still is a problem with Weller Creek."

Village Pres. John G. Woods proposed the committee of the whole study to "decide what is in our best interest." Following that, he suggested meetings with Mount Prospect and the drainage authority. No date was set for the committee session.

Volunteer Is Honored

Chilly October May Welcome Jack Frost as Next Guest

Another month has come and gone, and as October's cool evenings threaten to bring the frost and present a tentative hazard to rosebushes, much of our social life is limited to waving across the back yard to neighbors who are doing the same thing we are: covering the rosebushes, just in case.

The James A. Smiths, 909 S. Dunton, were guests of honor at a surprise wedding anniversary party Sept. 11. Plans for the party marking 24 years of marriage were made by their daughters, Marilyn and Sharon, and was held this year to coincide with Sharon's visit here from her home in Seattle.

Anniversary games were played by the guests, and some of those present improvised and made up a small band which played for dancing during the evening. The anniversary cake was done in orchid and white, and punch and finger sandwiches were also served.

Among those attending included the Harry Jenkins, Alfred L. Wilcoxes, Robert C. Hawleys, Max Ulrichs, Frederick T. Brookses, Robert K. Tindalls, Melvin B. Freemans, Dennis Malcolmsons and the W. Bass Watkinses of Arlington Heights, and Henry Bentz of Park Ridge.

MR. AND MRS. Robert L. Schulte, 913 S. Dryden, returned Sept. 18 from a vacation on which they spent three days in the Ozarks. Traveling by car, they stopped en route to visit in the Edwardsville home of the Chester Michels. The Schultes celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary Sept. 16 and spent the day following their anniversary in the home of the Michels, their first neighbors following their marriage. The occasion marked the first anniversary the Schultes had spent away from home during their 26 years of marriage.

On Sept. 24, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Thomas and son, Jim, 1111 W. Euclid, traveled to East Lansing, Mich., where Jim is a freshman at Michigan State University, majoring in engineering. While there, the Thomases visited with their newly married son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thomas. Bill, a senior at Michigan State, is majoring in packaging engineering.

THE LAWRENCE Roccas, 117 S. Fernandez, flew to Minneapolis on Sunday, then traveled to Jordan, Minn., to visit their son, Peter, who is attending Sacred Heart Noviate there. They returned Sunday evening.

Barker Davis, 318 N. Drury, returned Monday from a three-day trip to LaGrange, Mo., where he was called due to the death of his 99-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Mary Hagood. Mr. Davis was accompanied on his return home by several members of his family who will visit in the Davis home until the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Niemeyer, 116 S. Chestnut, returned last weekend from a three-week vacation in the Northwest and also southern California. They left by train for Salt Lake City, where they met Mrs. Niemeyer's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Merritt of Los Angeles. The two couples then traveled from Utah, motoring through Idaho and Montana to Seattle, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Kellogg, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Niemeyer and Mrs. Merritt. Mr. Kellogg is a former resident of Arlington Heights. After a stop in the Puget Sound area, they followed the coastline to San Francisco and on to the Merritt home in Los Angeles. Mrs. Merritt will be remembered by friends here as the former Nellie Kellogg.

Guests of the Earl Schmidts, 724 S. Chestnut, for the past five days were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Anderson of Augusta, Me., here on a combination of business and pleasure.

THE HUBERT O. Ewings and son, D. Spencer, returned home to 637 S. Highland on Sept. 24, following a 12-day trip to Canada and through the New England states. They traveled first to Detroit, where they visited former neighbors, the Charles Greens. Next stop was Toronto, where they took in one of the famous sites of the city, the Casa Loma, a castle built at the turn of the century. The Ewings then left for Niagara Falls, which they viewed both during the day and by night.

Upon leaving the Falls, they journeyed up the St. Lawrence Seaway to Quebec, where one of the highlights included a tour of the old walled city. Driving back into the United States through Maine, the Ewings followed the scenic routes through New England to New Jersey by way of the Hudson River Valley. In Hasbrouck Heights, N.J. they visited Miss Winnifred Anderson, a friend who had been in the group with whom they traveled to Europe last year. After seeing such points of interest as the George Washington Bridge, the Ewings returned home.

Miss Kathleen McDonald, daughter of the Michael J. McDonalds, 1601 W. Fremont, was the guest of honor at a prenuptial shower held recently in the Chicago home of her great-aunt, Francis Seider. Twenty-five guests were in attendance to shower Miss McDonald with miscellaneous gifts.

ON SEPT. 8, Miss McDonald was the recipient of a second shower given by a neighbor, Mrs. Russell Gilmore. Amid white decorations, 10 guests surprised Miss McDonald with miscellaneous gifts.

Miss McDonald became the bride of Thomas A. Dunn at Our Lady of the Wayside Church on Sept. 25.

A rehearsal dinner, at which 20 persons were present, was given in the home of the bridegroom's parents, the Thomas Dunns, 1518 W. Fremont.

Among out-of-town guests here to attend the wedding were the family of Mrs. McDonald's sister and brother-in-law, the Fred Kachelleks of Dubuque; the bride's brother, Michael J. McDonald Jr., from Lockborn AFB, Columbus, Ohio, and the bridegroom's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor, of Bangor, Me., who visited here for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hood, 604 W. Campbell, returned Thursday from a wek's vacation in Hibbing, Minn., where they visited Mrs. Hood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Frank.

BARNARD BIRD and daughters, Donyn and Danielle, recently returned from a 10-day trip to Lander, Wyo., where they visited Mr. Bird's sister and brother-in-law, the Harry Hays. While there, they witnessed the annual festivities at the One-Shot Antelope Hunt. The girls especially enjoyed the Shoshone Indian dances and the colorful dress. They also watched a performance given by Brave St. Clair, who danced recently for President Johnson. Among the notables present were Governor Kerner and the governors of Colorado, Wisconsin and Wyoming who led the hunt teams.

Mr. Bird and his daughters returned in time for Danielle to receive a houseguest, Miss Marjorie Griffin of New York, a sorority sister. Miss Griffin spent two days here before she and Danielle left for Austin, Tex. to visit Danielle's sister and family, the Gary Vances, for a few days before returning to their classes at Trinity University in San Antonio. Danielle is in her second year of premed.

Mrs. Dan Kain, 209 S. Wilshire, flew to Williamsburg, Va., Friday, for a weekend of golf and sightseeing. She joined Mr. Kain who had gone east earlier in the week on business.

MR. AND MRS. Arnice Basil, 427 S. Windsor, will have as their houseguest next week, her parents, the Clarence Jensens, currently visiting in the east. They will stop on the way home to Escanaba, Mich.

The Basils' daughter, Joanne, a student nurse at Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital, was home for the weekend, bringing her roommate, Miss Jean Ameen of Kankakee.

Recent visitors in Arington Heights were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Geocaris of San Lorenzo, Calif., who came for the wedding of the former's brother, Thomas Geocaris, to Miss Patricia Schirvey of Prospect Heights. They flew here with their two young children, Kimberly and Thomas, and were houseguests of her parents, the George J. Betts, 516 Lincoln. Mrs. Geocaris and the children remained in Arlington Heights for a week to enjoy visits with many former Arlington High School friends.

Dan Baughman, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Eugene Baughman, 517 Banbury, was home from Illinois Weslyan University in Bloomington for the weekend. He was among many young people who returned for Arlington High School homecoming festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Richard Fondrie, 510 S. Pine, took their son, David, and his friend, John Erickson of Scarsdale, to Madison, Wis., Saturday, for the Wisconsin-Iowa football game.

Walter Bray, son of the George Brays, 620 Banbury, was initiated into Sigma Nu fraternity on Sept. 26 at the University of Illinois.

MR. AND MRS. Floyd W. Tremberth, 300 E. Rockwell, accompanied their son, Steven, to Athens College in Athens, Ala., where he is a freshman, and then went off on a vacation. They toured the southern states and then went to the Lake of the Ozarks, staying a week at the Tan-Tar-a-Lodge at Osage Beach. One of the events they especially enjoyed there was the Ozark Oprey, a Hillbilly musical performance.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Banks, 722 Mayfair, marked their 25th wedding anniversary, Sept. 28, with a champagne dinner party, while in Rochester, N. Y., on a visit with Mrs. Bank's sisters and their families, the William Cowles and the James Pendrys.

The Harry W. Colburns, 535 Burton, were hosts to a large group of out-of-town friends and relatives who came for the wedding of their daughter, Marilyn, and Phillip Michael Smith on Saturday.

Among the guests were Capt. and Mrs. William Ruefle of Omaha, Robert Brinker of North Stamford, Conn., Miss Sarah Cruise of Somerville, the Jack Colburns of Needham, Frank E. Lonergans of Braintree and the Simon Connors of Arlington, Mass., the Thomas Crickards of New York City and the Joseph Harts of New Jersey.

Mrs. John Rowan of Daytona Beach, Fla., spent the past week in Arlington Heights, visiting her son and family, the Robert Rowans at 530 S. Belmont.

MRS. JOSEPH Simoneau, 805 E. Davis, entertained at a surprise farewell party and bridge on Wednesday for Mrs. Thomas Wittkoff, who will be moving Oct. 15 to the north side of Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jones, 315 E. Park, went to Detroit on Sept. 25 to attend a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Mann Jr., in the Detroit Women's City Club, at which the engagement of their daughter Susan Louise, and Tom Jones was announced.

The following day, Mr. and Mrs. Jones were hosts at a brunch in the Dearborn Inn for members of both families. Also in Detroit were her brother and sister-in-law, the J. F. Greenlees of Dayton, whose son, David, and his wife gave a buffet supper in their Grosse Point home later in the day. Miss Mann and Mr. Jones have returned to their classes at Stanford University in Palo Alto, Calif.

MR. AND MRS. William E. Kopplin Sr., longtime but intermittent Arlington Heights residents, spent most of last week celebrating the 55th anniversary of their Sept. 28 wedding date. Extending nearly continuous best wishes were local and Chicago friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kehe, neighbors in the Trude apartments, began the party whirl by hosting an anniversary eve dinner for the celebrants. Next day the Kopplins had a party delivered to their doorstep. Eight friends, fondly accumulated during the Kopplins' Chicago-living days, arrived here with all the makings for a festive luncheon and a gala afternoon. Although most of the guest-hosts are still Chicagoans, one couple now lives in Wisconsin, another in Mount Prospect. and they too joined the celebration.

With a one-day breather, the bride and groom next were showered with anniversary greetings by their Thursday canasta club; Friday they entertained a niece, Mrs. LeRoy Richer of Bensenville, also laden with 'Happy 55th" greetings.

The Kopplin apartment is comparatively quiet this week, and although its occupants are never bored, they are just a bit anxious for their 56th anniversary to roll around - it might be even more fun than the 55th!

Preliminary Industrial Plat Is OKd

Preliminary plat for the Clearbrook Industrial Park, between Algonquin Road and the Illinois Toll Road, was approved Monday by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

The action followed favorable recommendation by the plan commission. That recommendation was given with a series of reservations, most directed toward more complete information on the plats.

Trustees decided all but three of the plan group's reservations had been met: final determination whether street widths should be 60 or 66 feet, platting of utility easements and zoning of a 3.5 acre parcel apparently overlooked when the property, part of the Klehm farm, was zoned for manufacturing. The village board approval was hinged on resolution of those questions (A

Man Arrested After Complaint by Woman

A 32-year-old Arlington Heights man was charged with disorderly conduct and unlawful use of a weapon after a woman complained he made a number of lewd remarks to her as she walked along S. Highland Avenue last Thursday.

Arrested, with bond set at $300, was Richard W. Hamilton, 1707 N. George Ave.

THE WOMAN told police she was walking home from the railroad station at about 7 p.m. when a man approached in a dark Falcon at Highland and Park. She said he made a suggestion, then drove around the block, repeating the incident twice more.

She gave police a description of the car and an all-units alert was sent out. Police stopped Hamilton at Northwest Highway and Vail.

They said they found a revolver in searching the car and issued the weapons charge. Hamilton was charged with disorderly conduct in a complaint signed by the woman after she identified him. (A

All Affected By Department

equipped with salt spreaders. Their assignment in a storm, according to Willroth, is salting the downtown business district and all stop intersections.

After that, if conditions require, they salt major arteries.

This year, snow plowing zones will be increased from 12 to 13 and procedures will be revamped.

Trucks first will operate in tandem on wide, major arteries, to clean them in one sweep. The plows then will move into their assigned zones.

Formerly, Willroth explained, the main streets received a number of sweeps by a single plow, delaying their complete opening.

GOAL OF EACH plowing operation is to have all 140 miles of streets plowed within four hours after the snow stops. The department missed its goal twice last year, the director said.

The department's water distribution division has responsibility for maintenance and operation of all water mains and all sanitary sewers. It is also charged with reading 10,000 water meters.

It services and installs an average of seven new meter installations a day. And it is responsible for care of about 1,200 fire hydrants.

Many residents were interested in the black boxes the department hitched to hydrants last year, Willroth recalled. They were highly sensitive listening devices which help locate leaks in water mains.

SOMEHOW, Willroth said, a rumor started that the village was using a radioactive trace material in the water to find leaks.

The water pumping division is responsible for the operation and maintenance of nine wells and six sewage lift stations. Like firemen, its crews work 48 hours and are off 72.

The maintenance division operates a super filling station-repair shop in the village garage at 222 N. Ridge Ave. It is responsible for maintenance of 69 village vehicles ranging from a $54,000 aerial ladder fire truck to a $1,600 sedan, police motorcycles included.

We do all maintenance except automatic transmission work," Willroth noted. That includes washing and spray waxing (fire trucks excepted), normal preventive maintenance and repairs. While the department does body work on trucks, it farms out auto body repairs.

BEAUTIFICATION — leaves and other debris collected by street sweepers and left in caches around the village are lifted into public works truck. Sweepers are supposed to cover downtown streets every morning, residential streets every two weeks. Public Works Director Eugene Willroth says his department did "lousy" job on street sweeping this year because men had to be put on other duties. (A

Signals Approved At 3 Intersections

Installation of traffic lights at three Arlington Heights intersections was approved by the village board Monday with acceptance of a $71,547 installation contract.

The intersections are at Arlington Heights Road at Euclid and Miner and at Northwest Highway and Kensington Road.

Low bid was submitted by G. A. Rafel & Co., Chicago. According to village staff engineer James Crowley, work is to begin within 10 days after completion of the contract.

WORK WILL begin at Miner Street, he said. The second intersection to be started will be at Euclid. The Kensington - Northwest Highway work will start last, he said, to permit engineers to get a change order approved by the state. (Motor fuel tax funds will pay for the installations.)

Crowley said through an engineering error the Douglas Avenue outlet near the intersection had been installed 21 feet wide. It will be broadened to 32 feet.

Engineers had estimated the project would cost $70,806 but had tentatively set aside $80,000 in motor fuel funds.

Bidders, besides Rafel, were Contracting & Material Co. Evanston, $72,932; Wood Electrical Construction, Chicago, $74,772; Knott & Mielly, Chicago, $78,247, and Dwane Brothers Electrical Co., Chicago, $87,815.

In voting to approve the contract, one trustee—John J. Walsh Jr.—noted that "we have run into an unbelievable delay on this type of thing." He said Rafel has been "slow" on other installations.

AN INSTALLATION at Arlington Heights Road and Sigwalt was approved by the board in May and is still uncompleted. The project is held up by overdue delivery of mast arms to Rafel.

Village Mgr. L.A. Hanson said suppliers of component parts "keep nothing on their shelves."

Crowley said prelimiarny plans for two other installations along Arlington Heights Road—at Oakton and Grove—have been completed and sent to utility firms for their review. They still must have state approval. (AF

Offer Aid to Sell Library Building

Arlington Heights' Village Board has asked Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel to provide whatever legal help is needed by the Memorial Library board in arranging sale of the present library building.

Village Pres. John G. Woods reported to trustees Monday that Mrs. Florence J. Hendrickson, president of the library board, told him the library has a firm offer to buy the building for office purposes. That use would depend on the village's supplying appropriate zoning.

THE LIBRARY BOARD has had under consideration for some months a plan to construct a new library in the block bounded by Euclid, Fremont, Dunton and Vail. It has formally discarded a second site. Last of the three sites reserved early this year—the block in which the present library stands—was reserved in case the board decided to add to the existing building.

Disposal of the present library trustees sought to sell the building to the park district last summer, but the park board declined the offer. (AF

Projects Depend On Good Weather

Wheather will determine whether two street projects are substantially completed this year, a consulting engineer for the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) said this week.

The two projects are the Grove - Pine and Campbell Street jobs being improved under special assessment programs supervised by BOLI. Engineer Charles McBride pointed out both projects have been delayed substantially by rainy weather.

WITH GOOD weather, McBride said, Campbell Street residents will have a concrete roadway before the snows fly. Related improvements on streets intersecting with Campbell may not be completed before spring even with favorable weather, he said.

One warm day is all that will be needed to put in the blacktop base course and binder on the smaller Grove-Pine project, McBride said. That must await completion of underground improvements.

Meanwhile, two other major 1965 street projects are nearing completion—Northwest Highway and a complex of near north side streets. Crews worked Saturday on both projects. Northwest Highway was improved by the state, the other streets by the village.

Wayside Plan For Addition To Be Unveiled

Tentative plans for a junior high and gymnasium - auditorium addition to Our Lady of the Wayside School in Arlington Heights, will be unveiled Sunday at a monthly Holy Name Society breakfast.

The plans are awaiting archdiocesan approval.

According to the Rev. Harold O'Hara, pastor of Our Lady of the Wayside Church, tentative plans call for eight classrooms, a science room and library and the auditorium-gym combination with lockers and kitchen facilities.

ENROLLMENT in the present building, with its 26 classes, is 1,310. The addition will accommodate another 400 pupils, Fr. O'Hara said.

The breakfast will be at 9:30 a.m. in the Pioneer Park fieldhouse. Our Lady of the Wayside School is at 432 S. Mitchell Ave. (AF

Work Split Between 4 Divisions

Here, at a glance, is the organization of the public works department:

Eugene Willroth was named to direct the department in June 1964. He formerly worked as public works director and building inspector for the village of Streamwood.

Work of the department is split into four general divisions, each headed by a working foreman.

LARGEST of these is the street division, with 11 men. Foreman is Roy Nolting, a veteran of 19 years in the department.

The water distribution division, with seven men, is headed by another long-time employe, Herb Miller. Miller has been with the department for 15 years. Water pumping division is headed by Clarence Brinkman Sr., who has worked for the department three years.

The five-man vehicle maintenance division is headed by James Ladd, a seven-year public works employe.

STREET patching is one of the public works' street crews.

Auto Rams Tree; Three Teens Hurt

A 15-year-old Arlington Heights girl was critically injured and two other children were less seriously hurt when the car in which they were riding plowed into a tree at 921 N. Dunton Ave. shortly before midnight Friday.

Gail Whiteside, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Whiteside, 926 N. Dunton Ave., was reported "responding to treatment" in the intensive care ward of Northwest Community Hospital Tuesday after emerging from a coma. She suffered severe head injuries.

TREATED and released from the hospital after suffering severe facial cuts were Gary M. Kehe, 15, 206 W. Wing St., and Phyllis Schuster, 14, 707 N. Chicago Ave. Police said the Kehe boy was driving the vehicle.

A witness told police it swerved back and forth across Dunton at a high rate of speed before hitting the tree. The car, which was demolished, is owned by Whiteside. The Whitesides, attending a conference in Chicago, had left the girl in the care of a neighbor, friends said.

Whiteside is director of student personnel services and research for High School District 214.

Police issued several tickets.

10 School Districts Eye Joint Reading Program

educational officials have indicated a possible deadline of Nov. 15 for submission of the first group of Title I proposals.

OMIATEK explained that the estimated allocations to schools were on the basis of the number of students from age five to 17 in the school district from low-income families and from families receiving federal-state aid to dependent children (ADC). The total number of such students is multiplied by half of the state average per pupil expenditure ($265.69 in Illinois).

There are 21 students from families receiving ADC in Palatine Township, 11 in Schaumburg, 11 in Elk Grove and 29 in Wheeling—a total of 72 students.

Based on 1960 census figures, which are the latest complete economic survey statistics available on a county, township, state or national basis, there are a total of 746 families with incomes less than $2,000 per year in the four township area. There are 206 families in Palaine Township, 53 in Schaumburg, 145 in Elk Grove and 342 in Wheeling.

THE COUNCIL steering committee used a "conservative estimate" of the number of students from each family — two elementary school age students and one high-school age student. This would be 1,492 grade school students and 746 high school students, or a total of 2,238.

Adding the ADC family students, the final total for the four townships is 2,310 students. This is far more than the 100 low-income family students per district required for participation in the federally-financed program.

OK Traffic Counts for Two Streets

Traffic counts for two street projects planned in 1966 were authorized by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

Cost, to be paid from motor fuel tax funds, will be $700. A new state requirement makes traffic counts mandatory for all streets improved with motor fuel funds.

Involved are Kaspar Avenue between Northwest Highway and Oakton Street and a complex project covering Davis, Eastman, Wing, Miner and St. James Streets and Ridge, Salem and Chestnut Avenues. Both improvements will be made by special assessment, with motor fuel tax funds paying for "public benefit" costs. (A

Clearbrook School Plans Nov. 1 Move

Moving day for Clearbrook School for Retarded Children into the new building on Campbell Street in Rolling Meadows will be Nov. 1 or before, director Bern Witt reports this week.

The end of October rather than the first is the completion date now being set by the general contractor, John Lindstrom, and Co.

Inclement weather is given as the prime reason for the delay in construction.

Meanwhile the school staff has been enrolling additional students in new classes which can be offered in the larger quarters. By mid-November about 45 youngsters from 3 to 15 will be enrolled, according to Witt.

THE SHELTERED workshop for adults has been opened in a vacant store space in Rolling Meadows shopping center while awaiting the completion of the school building. Witt predicts that within a year there will be an enrollment in this vocational training program of from 50 to 60 persons 16 years of age and over. Robert Gillespie is director of the center.

Witt says the interior of the new building will not be completely finished when the contractor moves out due to lack of funds. He is lining up donations of labor and materials to tile floors and paint walls.

Scientist Lectures In Church Series

A series of lectures entitled "What Do We Really Believe?—A World and Life View of Christianity" is being conducted Sundays at 10 a.m. in the adult class of the Arlington Heights Free Church, Dunton and St. James Streets, by Dr. Wallace A. Erickson.

Dr. Erickson is president of Wallace A. Erickson & Co., and the Erickson Foundation; a member of the board of directors of Inter - Varsity Christian Fellowship (with chapters on 700 campuses); president of the Evangelical Foundation, sponsors of Eternity Magazine and the Bible Study Hour, aired on 330 radio stations; a fellow of the American Scientific Affiliation; listed in American Men of Science since 1949; member of Presidents Council, American Institute of Management, and member, Presidents Professional Association, American Management Association.

DR. ERICKSON is a Christian layman with a scientific approach to the contemporary questions of the day.

The public is invited to attend this series of 13 lectures.

Topics to be presented include: The need for a Christian world view; The tendency of everything to deteriorate with one exception; The creation of the universe; The distinction between time and eternity; The creation of life; The development of life; The origin of man; The fall of man, and its consequences; The Christian view of history; The Bible, the written revelation of God, its inspiration and its transmission to us; The interpretation of Scripture; Living the Christian life; The Life, the death, the resurrection and the present work of Jesus Christ and their significance theologically, historically, and existentially. # Park Manor Approval Postponed by Board Approval for a planned development layout of single family areas in Park Manor subdivision was postponed by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday. The board delayed action until plats were available from a special committee.

Approval had been recommended last month by Trustee John White, head of the special committee assigned to study Park Manor. He said at that time the developer, the Wallach Corp., had threatened to cancel agreements with the village because of its inaction.

PLANNED developments for single family and multiple family portions of the subdivision have been pending before the village for months with a number of complex disputes arising from an agreement signed in January. Streets, sewers and water lines have been installed in the subdivision in a special assessment program, but no development has been approved.

Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel told trustees the Wallach Corp. has followed through on its threat, sending a letter of cancellation to the village.

But he indicated the cancellation has no effect, stating the board still has authority to approve the single family layout. The multiple family area cannot be developed without planned development approval, he said.

WALLACH wants to develop the multiple family areas for single family use, he said, and disagreements have arisen over lot dimensions to be applied to that area.

White had recommended no action on the multiple family area. The board is expected to act on the single family layout at its Oct. 18 meeting.

Third Realcoa Addition Voted

Approval for the third addition to Realcoa subdivision was granted Monday by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

The addition is on Golf Road, southwest of Realcoa's Airy Trace subdivision on S. Arlington Heights Road. Realcoa spokesmen asked trustees to withhold approval for the intervening first and second additions until the next board meeting because they were not prepared to present those plats.

Sanitary Dist. Head Tells Plan to Clean Weller Creek

Vinton Bacon, Chicago Sanitary District superintendent, has proposed a five-year plan to stop the open flow of Arlington Heights sanitary sewage through Mount Prospect.

He made his proposal last Wednesday in an appearance before the Mount Prospect Board of Health and other Mount Prospect officials.

They are concerned over what they call the uninterrupted flow of untreated human waste in Weller Creek from Arlington Heights and possibly Rolling Meadows.

Bacon said he will seek approval of sanitary district trustees for a plan to force the disconnection of downspouts, sump pumps and other storm water connections with sanitary sewers.

THIS WOULD MEAN that only storm water would enter Weller Creek. Mount Prospect officials say the difficulty arises from the fact that Arlington Heights has a combined sewer system for sanitary and storm sewage.

Weller Creek is covered in Arlington Heights but open throughout its length in Mount Prospect.

Mount Prospect health board members, who walked in Weller Creek on Sept. 25, found that it was heavily polluted. They said since no sanitary outlets exist in Mount Prospect the waste could come only from Arlington Heights or further west.

BACON ALSO offered more short-term steps for helping relieve the pollution.

He gave assurances that within two years the sanitary district will have a law stopping all illegal hook-ups with Weller Creek.

In addition, Bacon said that the sanitary district will send a crew to clean out all rubbish and debris which was seen on the recent inspection. The crew also will cut underbrush on sides of the creek.

He proposed that steps be taken to stop persons living along Weller Creek from dumping trash which stops the normal flow of water.

BACON WAS accompanied by S. Peter Bourbaki, engineer of sewer control for the sanitary district. Robert De John, chief sanitary engineer of the Cook County Health Dept., also was present.

Bourbaki said that an interceptor sewer that runs along the route of the creek should carry the sewer in normal periods. But, he added, after a heavy rain the gate at the west side of Mount Prospect must be opened to prevent flooding of homes. This allows some sanitary sewage to enter Weller Creek.

VILAGE TRUSTEE Joseph Grittani said one difficulty now is that the gate never seems to close as tightly as it should and some sanitary sewage is flowing ino the creek at all times.

Grittani said that the sanitary district also plans to check whether waste from upstream industrial buildings is entering Weller Creek. He said this can be done by flushing dyes through sewers.

Asked about the possibility of covering Weller Creek in Mount Prospect, Bacon expressed doubts that this ever would be done, because of the high cost.

DISAGREEING with this position is Village Trustee Harry Bruhl.

Bruhl revealed this week that he has been invited to Springfield by Illinois Secretary of State Paul Powell to discuss the possibility of re-appropriating funds for covering the creek.

The trustee said that he has talked with Powell about the money which was available in the previous biennium, when Powell was speaker of the house.

Bruhl said the money would be adequate to cover the creek from Central to Lincoln, or about one-third of the distance through Mount Prospect. He said no flooding problem should be involved, since the area immediately to the west already is covered.

HE APPEARS to be expressing a minority viewpoint on the covering proposal.

Grittani said that he favors keeping Weller Creek open, because once it is cleaned up it can be a beautiful asset to Mount Prospect.

Nurses Brush Up on Training

Six nurses who have not worked at their profession in 10 or more years went back to school Monday.

The women are enrolled in the first six-week nurses refresher course sponsored by Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights.

The program includes 14 medical lectures by physician staff specialists, clinical practice on a continuous rotating basis and daily seminars conducted by nursing specialists, administrative staff and outside experts.

A second refresher course is scheduled to begin in January.

THE CLASS is being conducted as a community service, and nurses are not under obligation to work at Northwest Community.

Directing the refresher program is the newly appointed director of in-service nursing training, Mary Dugan. The program is supervised by Ruth Wesseling, appointed director of nursing in June.

STUDENTS AND INSTRUCTORS gather around the table in the physicians' library at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, in an orientation period for the nurses refresher course started Monday. Six registered nurses, who have not worked at their profession for 10 years or more, are enrolled in the intensive six-week course designed to update their medical knowledge and techniques. From left are Mrs. Marion Clark, Mrs. Victoria Carpenter, Mrs. Carole Vessell, Mrs. Mimi Stafford, Director of Nursing Betty Wesseling, Administrator Alan B. Campbell, Mrs. Laverne Hoff, Mrs. Ruth D. Hanneman, Asst. Director of Nursing Juanita Jones, and Director of Nursing Education Mary Dugan. (Staff Photo)

Miss Wesseling noted that all regular nursing positions at the hospital were now filled, but that there were some vacancies for nursing assistants. She explained that 10 former nursing aides had gone into regular nursing training or practical nursing programs this fall.

She added that many women from the area had enrolled in the local practical nurses training program conducted by Niles Township High School, and many returned to Northwest Community on completion of their training.

SHE STRESSED that the $4 million hospital addition, now under construction, would add another 100 patient beds next year. This would require an expansion of the nursing staff.

Some of the topics to be included in the six-week refresher course include new drugs and treatment for cardio-vascular disease, strokes and diabetes. During a one-week tour of duty in the hospital emergency room, lectures will stress the handling of burn and suicide patients, and the latest techniques in treating accident cases.

OTHER lectures will highlight new surgical techniques, medications and procedures, Pap smears for cervical cancer and new laboratory tests and techniques.

Special lectures on intravenous procedures and body fluid balance will be given by Dr. Thomas Harwood, hospital pathologist, and on external heart massage and stimulation by Dr. Keith Wurtz, surgeon.

School Building Boom Beset with Boo-Boos

Construction Pace May Be Too Dizzy

by DAN BAUMANN
Staff Writer

One of suburbia's biggest public investments in the future (probably second only to highways) is in school construction.

Northwest Cook and north DuPage communities have been building schools at a dizzying pace for more than a decade. And judging by some of the boo-hoo's that have turned up in school buildings, the pace may be too dizzying for architects, contractors and construction workers.

In a nearby township, for example, kids attending a major new (and much touted) high school have discovered what architects should have known about a covered, outdoor walkway between two classroom buildings.

They call the walk "pneumonia alley."

Skipups of that nature, and far more serious ones, are on their way to becoming folklore. Not that school construction errors are necessarily more prevalent than errors in private construction.

BUT THEY'RE certainly more public.

In Addison, for example, the architect involved in the Indian Trail Junior High building said his life had been threatened and he felt compelled to report the threat to the FBI.

The same school building caused the Addison board to censure two of its former members, including its president, on charges of "interference" in the construction. The school district is suing the contractor, the architect has threatened to sue the district, the contractor has done so. The stack of depositions, charges and court records of the feud is prbably as thick as any textbook in use in the school.

The tally of disputed construction items — ranging from defective brick to a chlorinator not installed until children had been drinking school water for months — originally totaled about 400. It has been whittled down substantially, but the school, started in January 1962, has never been accepted officially by the district.

IN STREAMWOOD, a school is sinking. Two years after the

IN STREAMWOOD, a school opened in 1962, officials found floors buckling, stresses in walls and ceilings. Some water and sewer lines hung below the flooring had dropped and were cracked.

The school originally cost $400,000. Elgin School District U-46 is suing the contractor for $450,000.

An engineer hired by the school district reported that caissons supporting the structure are defective.

In Arlington Heights, Thomas Junior High School was built one foot too low. The surveyor's error was caught in time to make the necessary drainage changes.

One cold winter evening, a women's volleyball team using the multipurpose room at Hoffman School, District 15, interrupted a school board meeting to tell board members, "It's snowing in the gym."

A fissure had developed tween the wall and ceiling of the room. It was blamed on frost.

LAKE PARK High School's recent $1.95 million building program was plagued by errors.

Nineteen rooms were floored with defective tiles. The school board made contractors rip them out, at a cost in the thousands.

When wood paneling arrived for Lake Park's new auditorium, it was finished on the wrong side.

Three Arlington Heights elementary schools have been harassed by a problem of falling tiles. The exterior tile work refuses to stay up, although the architect insists he has put in similar work with success in north shore communities.

Palatine High School found soon after its parking lot was installed in 1961 that it had unusual enthusiasm for developing pot holes.

PROSPECT HIGH School, on the border between Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights, found itself overburdening one drainage district because too much of the building and grounds had been hooked into that district, in error.

Access to the school's field house, for some puzzling reason, is through the school itself, though much of its use is public.

In Hoffman Estates, the building inspector halted work on Blackhawk School additions, calling the work a "fiasco." He said, among other things, an extension was being put on without benefit of a foundation wall.

Some schools have been completed and ready for occupancy before sewer and water hookups were available.

Roofs, heating and ventilation problems appear widespread. Winds lifted the roof at Alcott School, Buffalo Grove, last year.

Railroad ties were laid on the roof to hold it down until repairs could be made. Leaks are a much more frequent roofing problem.

Ventilation problems at Pleasant Hill and Salk schools in District 15 led the district to add special vent windows.

WHEELING'S school board long suspected heating bills at London Junior High School were unusually high. They're in company with a number of other districts.

Every school district with buildings more than 10 years old is faced with renovating those buildings to bring them up to standards of the new state Life Safety Code. Many of the changes are necessary because no standard existed before the disastrous Our Lady of the Angels fire in Chicago spurred demands for safety.

But many of the code's demands are common sense demands — like corridor widths and exits sufficient to handle a mass exodus. Many of the conditions the code will correct have to be regarded as planning errors.

Not all experts would agree whether a building problem is an error.

IN ELK GROVE District 59, several schools have been praised highly for their esthetic qualities. One architect commented, however, that esthetics or not the shake roof and wooden window sills at Robert Frost School will become maintenance problems.

And he berated the metal stacks protruding from the roof as considerably less desirable than masonry stacks.

Salk Creek School was built to combine corridors with activity areas. Problems arise because they are still corridors. The school's multipurpose room also serves the function of a corridor between two sections of the building.

In Rolling Meadows, the Kimball Hill School has a similar problem. The school was built without internal coridors. To get to the office, teachers and children have to leave the building.

Even with the most conventional design, construction and architectural problems abound.

Commented the chief custodian of one large district, "The architect is no better than the general contractor. And the general contractor is no better than his weakest subcontractor." (A15

Elk Grove Sophs Get 27-6 Victory

A second victory of the young season was registered by Elk Grove sophomores on Monday. They whipped Evanston 27-6.

Evanston scored first in the game but EG evened the count at 6-6 on a 22 yard run by George Taylor. Taylor's ramble capped a 70 yard first period drive.

Two touchdowns were registered by the winners in the second quarter. Roy McClellan pulled in a 17 yard pass from Larry Pahl and John Knopf ran 73 yards on a punt return for the scores.

The Pahl to McClellan combination clicked again for the final EG tally in the last period. Jim Oplt kicked the last of three extra points to establish the final margin.

Elk Grove's next game is one week from Saturday (Oct. 16) at Downers Grove South

Unique Office, Factory Building Nears Completion

Construction has begun in Palatine on a unique building which will feature professional offices and factory facili...

Located at Old Northwest Highway just west of Eric Drive, the building is expected to be ready for tenants early next year.

This amalgamation of offices and factory facilities is the idea of Chicago lawyers Kenneth T. Snow and Edward L. Benno.

Snow describes the new building as a "one-half million dollar quality building which is sure to be a major asset to Palatine."

THE PROJECT features six industrial units, each 100 feet by 35 feet. At the rear of each unit will be large overhead doors used for loading. Behind each industrial unit will be a 78 feet long area.

Snow said perspective tenants can rent more than one unit. Each industrial unit will have a reception room, large general office and a private office in addition to the 35x100 feet factory area.

Total area devoted to industrial use in this new building is 27,720 square feet.

In the office portion of the building, there will be 20 office suites, each featuring a reception room and a private office.

BESIDES THE 20 office suites there will be two rooms provided at the building's front corners for displays.

Serving the office suites will be a central service room featuring office machines such as duplicators. This service room also will have a master telephone switchboard.

Another feature will be a large directors meeting room.

Tenants may rent as many suites as desirable.

Total office space is 9,300 square feet.

Snow believes these office suites will be attractive to professional men such as lawyers, architects, doctors and engineers.

The entire building will be air conditioned.

Ample off-street parking will be available for the office suites and industrial portion.

The Over 50 Club will have a bazaar on Oct. 22. On Sept. 30 the Junior Woman's Club of Arlington Heights surprised the group with home made cake and coffee. They will extend the courtesy once a month and have offered to pick up and return folks who have had no way of getting to the club. (A

Hospital Needs Psychiatric Aide Trainees

An appeal for psychiatric aide trainees at Elgin State Hospital has been issued by Dr. Ernest S. Klein, superintendent. Dr. Klein said today that 100 additonal men and women are needed for all shifts.

Psychiatric aide trainees receive three weeks formal training vollowed by on-the-job instruction in nursing duties. The starting salary for a trainee is $265 per month with the possibility, Dr. Klein added, of advancement with service and training to $605 a month, based on a recently approved salary rate.

Further information can be obtained from Elgin State Hospital's personnel office, 742-1040 (area code 312). (A-15

Land for Sidewalks Accepted

Arlington Heights Village Board Monday accepted dedication of a five-foot right-of-way for sidewalks along both sides of a lot at Kensington Road and Evanston Avenue.

Acceptance was recommended by Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson, who said the sidewalks would "close the final links to Kensington School." The village will install the walks in exchange for the land dedication.

Activities Open Today In Fall Park Program

Registration is continuing for a variety of activities as the Arlington Heights Park District fall-winter-spring program gets under way today (Thursday).

On today's agenda are judo lessons for fifth through eighth graders, starting at 7 p.m., and for high school students and adults, starting at 8 p.m., both at the Arlington High School sunken gym.

Also scheduled tonight is the first in a series of guitar lessons held Thursday nights at Recreation Park and Fridays at Hasbrook. Classes are scheduled for adults only and for mixed age groups.

A father and son swim night begins today at St. Viator High School pool at 7 p.m.

INFORMATION ON advance registration for all classes is available at the park district office, CL 3-0620, and in brochures mailed recently by the district.

On Friday (tomorrow), a class in ceramics for boys and girls over 10 will begin. An adult class will begin on Monday.

Saturday's classes include a boy's competitive swimming club at St. Viator. Classes for three age groups are scheduled.

Tumbling and trampoline lessons also will open Saturday at Hasbrook, Recreation and Pioneer fieldhouses. Again, three age groups are scheduled.

MONDAY'S agenda includes a knitting class for women, at 7:30 p.m. at Pioneer Park. Ladies who want to "move it and lose it" through physical exercise will begin classes at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Recreation Park.

Boys' exercise through a gymnastics class will be offered at Arlington High School at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. The course is open to sixth, seventh, and eighth graders.

Next Wednesday, a six-week "Tween and Teen Charmer" course will begin for sixth through ninth graders. (A

THE SIGNAL TRACK

by ED LANDWEHR

Good lead-in cables to your TV set are a "must" for good picture reception. This is particularly true of color TV.

Through the years this cable gets dried out and brittle, and the insulation drops off. The signal from the antenna is not constant, and the results create crackle, lines and flashes on the TV screen.

Replacement of this worn cable could save you service calls, too, because bad cable reception causes you to overmanipulate adjustment controls on your TV set, a reason for TV breakdown.

Phone CLearbrook 5-0700 and LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights will be prompt on the service call.

Mechanical Banks Depict 19th Century Era

Restaurateur Has 145 in Collection

by DAVID J. HANKS
Staff Writer

A collection of mechanical novelty savings banks in Bensenville symbolize characters, places and things of historical significance in the 19th Century.

Sandy Howell has a 145-bank collection, which he and his family have been acquiring since 1934. The novelty money banks are displayed at Howell's Plentywood Farm.

Howell first became interested in collecting the banks in 1946 after he returned from the Marine Corps. But his father was the original collector in the family. The elder Howell became interested in the mechanical banks after his mother gave one to his son Peter (Sandy's brother).

The William Tell bank, first in the Howell collection, is still regarded as one of the most interesting.

AMONG THE MOST eye-catching of the collection is a clown on a globe. Here is how the mechanical bank works. For one penny inserted in the clown it automatically spins around once, deposits the coin in a bank below. For a dime it spins twice and for a quarter the clown spins three times.

Many of the banks are symbols in American history in the 19th century. An Indian shooting a bear, a trolley car, a couple in a surrey, and others.

"One of the most facinating things about collecting these banks is that they are worth about 15 times as much as they originally cost," Howell said. He added, they (the banks) are certainly worth searching for. It's a lucrative hobby," said Howell.

Howell is proudest of his "Ferris Wheel" bank. "Its the most expensive one I have," he said. He did not indicate what its value was, but said "its worth several thousand dollars."

THE FERRIS WHEEL bank is a replica of the huge ferris wheel at the Chicago World's Fair in 1892. It is one of the largest penny banks in existence. A coin is inserted, a lever is pushed, the coin drops in the wheel and it then revolves. A total of six miniature persons are on the seats on the ferris wheel.

The miniature bank which is rated as the most expensive is a "Freedman Bank" which symbolizes a freedman during the Civil War. Howell set a price of $5,000 on it.

When the freedman bank was first made in 1880 it sold for $66 per dozen. Today most banks range from $40 to $1,000.

The first mechanical bank was made in 1869.

BETWEEN 1875 AND 1910 more than 600 different varieties of the mechanical banks were made, and sold. All of them were hand-made from cast iron. "They had a lot of iron after the Civil War," Howell noted.

The banks were patented and some have dropped from circulation for years only to turn up later. Every year they are out of circulation makes them worth more money.

"They still turn up in people's attics, and other places you wouldn't expect to find them," Howell said. Howell sometimes travels 150 miles to look at a bank which has been discovered.

Original mechanical banks can always be distinguished from duplicates because of the heavy weight of the cast iron, said Howell.

HOWELL RECENTLY returned from a convention of the Mechanical Bank Collectors of America. The select group has only 108 members. Howell said most of the collectors are located in the eastern part of the nation.

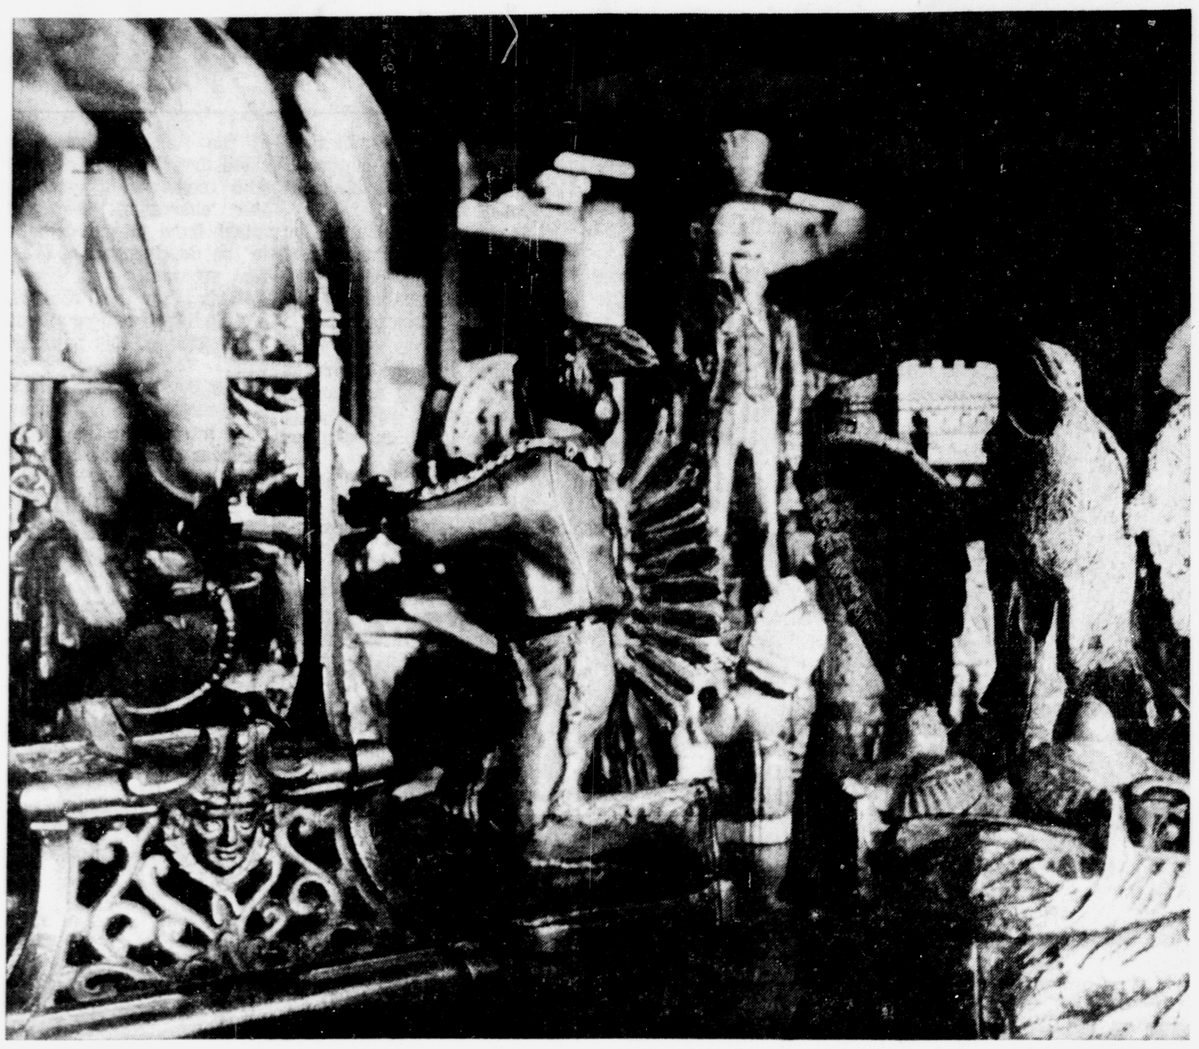
The one-day convention is held annually. The collectors discuss fakes and deviations. Rare banks are on display at each convention.

Howell's collection is on display for thousands of visitors annually at Plentywood Farm. He said most of his customers are facinated by the collection. Some see the collection, then return with a bank which they hadn't thought was valuable.

The bank collection has been on display at the Bensenville Library, Chicago's First National Bank and other places.

THE COLLECTION IS used many times to depict history in the 19th century. Howell says he's received requests as far away as New Orleans.

Savings banks were originated with the idea of "thrift" in mind, said Howell. The idea of thrift is not as dominant as it was a few years ago, he said.



SAVINGS BANK COLLECTION—A clown on a globe mechanical bank whirls after a quarter was inserted in its head. The whirling clown, the Indian shooting a bear and Uncle Sam banks are just a few in the collection of Sandy Howell at Bensenville. The banks were all made in the period just between the Civil War and the turn of the century. They are all of cast iron. (Staff Photos by Bob Finch)

Falcon Jayvees Fall to Spartans

Forest View's JV football team had a 12-6 lead in the fourth quarter of play last Friday night at Glenbrook North, but a deflected flat-pass spelled disaster for the junior Falcons and a 13-12 victory for the Glenbrook North eleven.

The host Spartans put the first tally on the scoreboard in the second quarter on a two yard plunge by quarterback Frank Krohe.

Coach Paul Jordan's Falcons came back to tie the score at 6-6 on a sparkling 75 yard TD gallop by Jeff Jacoby.

In the third quarter a 61 yard scoring pass play from quarterback Rich Gillespie to Dennis Lynch gave Forest View a 12-6 margin.

It appeared that this might be the final tally as the lead held up midway through the final quarter. However, an attempted flat pass deep in its own territory backfired on the Falcon eleven, and the deflected pass was picked off by Mike Hynes on Forest View's 10 yard line. Hynes ran unmolested into the endzone for the score. Krohe sneaked for the crucial extra point, and a few minutes later Glenbrook North claimed a 13-12 win.

Pastor Injects Suburban Church into World of Work

NEW PROGRAM — The Rev. William Bingaman, pastor of the Addison United Presbyterian Church, has started a new program which is designed to combat the often-heard criticism that the suburban church doesn't extend further than the family on Sunday morning. The pastor is visiting the male members of the congregation at their places of work. He is shown here, on the left, with Lee B. Sechler of Paddock Publications. (Staff photo) (B10

A new program is being undertaken by an Addison minister to combat the often leveled criticism of the suburban church that it doesn't extend further than the family on Sunday.

The Rev. William Bingaman, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, has started a program of visiting male members of the congregation at their places of work.

THE OPEN end, informal visits, explained Bingaman, are designed to help him see the actual conditions under which the breadwinners work — many times, far removed from the community in which they live and attend church.

"I don't know if I'm the only one attempting this type of program, but I don't know of any other," explained the pastor as he toured Paddock Publications recently.

The program also has some interesting sidelights. It allows male members of the church to talk with the pastor about their jobs and at the same time get to know him as a person, rather than the man up front on Sunday morning.

"I've met with men of the church before for lunch or at their offices," said Bingaman, "but it has always been to discuss church business."

THE PROGRAM also helps to establish that the church is not just a building and makes it a seven day a week part of living instead of an hour on Sunday morning.

For Bingaman it is a refreshing experience, and his impressions and observations are recorded after each visit in a special file.

"I'm not sure just how these notes will or can be used because the idea is still new," explained Bingaman.

"Perhaps they could be used at an informal gathering of the men at some future date to exchange problems and ideas."

Bingaman, who has served as pastor since the formative days of the Addison church, indicated that the close association with members in establishing and chartering the church might have played some part in the development of the current program.

"This is my third church, but it's the first time I've attempted a program of this nature," he said.

THE PASTOR said he started his visits in June and since that time has toured the places of business of six or seven of the men.

"I hesitated starting the visits because I felt I would be imposing on the men. But experience has proven me wrong," he observed.

The visits display in a quiet way that the Church is more than a building, that a Christian way of life is not limited to Sunday, that the suburban Church can serve more than just the family on Sunday morning, and that the man up front is a person, too.

"On Sunday morning I notice a little different glint in the eyes of the men I've visited," the pastor said with a smile.

Girls eligible for the Bensenville Junior Miss title include all seniors attending Fenton plus those seniors with Bensenville, Addison and Wood Dale addresses.

The eight local Junior Miss winners will compete at the state pageant, sponsored by Chicago's American, with titleholders from some 50 other Illinois communities. The state pageant offers the chance to vie for more than $5,000 in scholarship awards and the right to represent Illinois in America's Junior Miss Pageant in Mobile, Ala., next March where $14,000 in scholarships will be awarded.

For the first time in the seven-year history of the Illinois Junior Miss Pageant, the finals will be televised in the Chicago area under sponsorship of Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

At a preliminary meeting of candidates Sunday, Oct. 24, a representative of the Illinois Junior Miss Pageant will be on hand to explain pageant standards and goals and answer questions. A film of the 1965 America's Junior Miss Pageant will be shown at that meeting. Parents are urged to attend.

Applicant questionnaires are available at Paddock Publications office, 217 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights 60005. (A15 Must

Assistant State's Attorney-Law Internship

THE COOK COUNTY state's attorney's office is one of the "biggest law firms" in the nation, accoring to John Stamos, first assistant to State's Atty. Daniel Ward. For the population of Cook County is greater than that of all but about 12 of the states, and has one of the densest population concentrations of any area. Two of the 140 assistant state's attorneys are Bill Martin, left, and Bob Hutchison, who work as a team on felony cases. They are in their office in the county's Criminal Court Building. (B10

Huge Legal Plant, County Hires 135

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

William Martin, 29, has been practicing law for only 3½ years. Yet he has already argued more cases in court, including 20 before the Illinois Supreme Court, than the great majority of attorneys will in a lifetime.

He has just begun his career, but he has already confronted practically every type of major crime in the books, from the most sordid sexual offenses to the most artfully committed burglaries.

He has applied society's laws to practically everything society says is illegal and immoral. He has drilled into the most abscessed recesses of men's minds, and matched wits with some of the best minds. He has had to coldly apply impersonal laws to emotionally torn people.

FOR HE IS an assistant state's attorney, one of a highly select group of about 135 apprentice lawyers hired by the office of the Cook County state's attorney, among the largest — and busiest — legal plants in the world.

He spends practically all day, every day, preparing cases or arguing them in the felony court of Judge Walter P. Dahl of Arlington Heights, one case after another in endless succession.

Occasionally he takes part in special police investigations and crackdowns, such as of a prostitution ring roundup in Chicago last week which kept him on the job for about 24 straight hours.

MARTIN'S JOB AS an assistant state's attorney is considered an internship in the art of law, a grueling, exciting training ground for which, like athletics, youthful vitality and resilience is considered a prerequisite.

Both by precedent and unwritten rule, few stay as an assistant state's attorney longer than five years. Practically none would want to.

Rather, it is viewed as an extension of law school, a learning and training ground from which one must graduate.

The working lives of about two-thirds of the assistant state's attorneys are bound by the dingy gray marble and yellow plaster of the Cook County Criminal Court building at 26th and California Avenues on Chicago's west side. They prepare their cases in barren, high-ceilinged offices with jail-like windows, and argee them in the heavy ornateness of the court chambers, where the proceedings are periodically interrupted by a shrill blast of a factory whistle.

The others work in the civil, family court and suburban divisions of the state's attorney's office.

For every hour of courtroom drama there are long hours of preparation, legal research, investigation, interviewing witnesses, consul ficers, and planning the strategy for their prosecu

"ANY TRIAL is like an iceberg," said assistant state's attorney. "Only about one-tenth" of the that goes into it is apparen

Almost every working day ex tends into after-supper home work for Martin and his partner, Bob Hutchison, 25, a yea out of law school. All state's attorneys work in pairs or three in any trial case, and Martin and Hutchison are one such team.)

"As a training ground for trial experience," Hutchison feels, "no other place is as good" as the state's attorney's department of the Cook County government.

But it isn't a base from which young lawyers can hope to get on a road to wealth, they both point out.

The most financially lucrative paths in the legal profession are with large law firms, and these firms aren't particularly interested in lawyers with past experience as state prosecutors. Martin explained. "When you come here (to the state's attorney's office) you kind of make a decision not to go into a large firm."

Such firms, Hutchison added, prefer to hire lawyers right out of school in order to "fit them into their mold, so to speak."

NEITHER IS A state prosecutor's work one of the most glamorous sides of the legal profession. Defense attorneys usually get the glamor spotlight — as reflected by the starring role of defense attorneys in television programs.

People often view the "machinery of the state" and the prosecutor's role as "oppressive," Martin said.

"It is very hard to imagine right" as opposed to wrong in the context of society, both Martin and Hutchison explained. "It is easier for people to imagine themselves being in a defensive situation" in regard to law.

"IN AMERICA generally there is a fear of authoritarian power," Martin continued. And compounding the difficulty of being a prosecutor in a jury trial is that a "substantial number of people are biased against policemen."

In general, criminal law, with which the pair is almost solely concerned, is designed for "protecting people on the street," Martin said. It is this view of the whole rather than of a single individual that is often hard for the public to identify with.

As to the Clarence Darrow image of a lawyer fighting for social justice, "There is a different set of values today, and other issues," Martin replied.

Civil rights litigation, he gave as an example, "is a long, tedious process."

Also, "the slap-dash style (of Darrow) is past," Hutchison said. "Television has sophisticated people."

The fictionalized version of courtroom trials projected by television and movies creates a problem in selecting potential jurors, according to Martin and Hutchison.

THEY REPEATEDLY ask of prospective jurors, "You won't let what you have seen on television influence your decision in this case in any way, will you?" Of course the answer will be no, but after hearing this question repeated for each of the 12 members of the jury selected, as well as numerous others interviewed but excused from duty, the prosecutors hope the point will be solidly driven home.

One of the "overriding considerations" of a prosecuting attorney, Martin said pulling out a voluminous file for October, is keeping abreast of each and every case he is expected to be ready to prosecute.

"There may be as many as eight or nine cases on call daily," Hutchison noted.

Often after they have prepared themselves thoroughly for one case, the defendant may, at the last moment, plead guilty. Then they must head back to their office to get ready for another case.

THERE ARE OFTEN allegations of political clout pervading legal justice. But both Martin and Hutchison state they have "never been subjected to any political pressure" or otherwise approached to give leniency to a defendant.

They also feel that the judges hearing their cases have always rendered decisions fairly and squarely according to their best judgments in accordance with the law.

"Judges are human like everyone else," Martin reminds, and it is possible that when friendships are involved it could have some bearing in one's decision as it would with anybody.

"Once in a while just put yourself in a judge's place," he suggested.

Neither Martin nor Hutchison has yet decided what paths of law he will pursue in coming years.

There are three main avenues open for most of the prosecutors after their internship as assistant state's attorneys, Martin related.

They are to join a small law firm which specializes in handling "personal injury claims," going into a private general practice, or going into politics. Circuit Court judges are former assistant state's attorneys. Such employment provides some contacts as well as needed knowledge of law for individuals interested in working within a framework of government, and perhaps running for an elective office someday.

But the great bulk of them will go into private work. And they will be among the future attorneys who won't negotiate "out of court" settlements for their clients because of a lack of experience in court. (B-10

PROSECUTORS Bill Martin, left, and Bob Hutchison, bone up on case law in the library of the Cook County state's attorney's office. Long hours of research and preparation are put in for each hour actually spent in court. (B10

Young Lawyers Gain Valuable Experience

A prize for a beginning young lawyer is a job with the Cook County state's attorney's office, for there one can build up a backlog of valuable legal experience quickly, particularly trial experience.

Incumbent State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward has a staff of about 140 attorneys working on the thousands of cases disposed of annually in the county's courts. (About 4,000 in the felony courts alone, according to Ward's first assistant, veteran prosecutor John Stamos. "And untold thousands in the suburban courts.")

"It takes a minimum of three years to develop an excellent trial assistant," Stamos stated. "But you have to be young" to keep up the pace of the work. Pay averages about $8,000 to $9,000 per year.

THEREFORE, few assistant state's attorneys remain over five years before going into private fields, and young new attorneys are constantly being looked for to replace them.

But because of the experience to be gained, "we can afford to be choosy" in hiring new lawyers. Stamos said. And the only way to run a good office is "professionally," to get men who can best do the job.

Q. When is the proper time for the host and hostess to seat themselves at the dinner table?

A. The hostess always seats herself first, this being the signal for the guests to seat themselves. The host is always last to seat himself.

Q. Is it all right to use the typewriter for letters of condolence?

A. Indeed not! Such letters should always be handwritten.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

The sympathy of their friends and neighbors is extended to the Ken Scharf family, 528 S. Prindle, on the death of Dorothy's father, Mr. John Chesky, on Sept. 28, in Adams, Wis.

Dinner-of-the-Month Club members were guests of the Roy Stoehrs, 441 S. Prindle, for cocktails at the Guest House in Park Ridge Saturday evening. Following the cocktail party the Stoehrs and the Frank Marshalls of this area and the Al Mays of another area of Arlington Heights enjoyed dinner at The Studio in Morton Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schneider, 424 S. Prindle, were forced to let their Sept. 29 wedding anniversary pass unobserved because Betty was still in Northwest Community Hospital and hospital atmosphere is not conducive to celebrating even a 20th wedding anniversary. However, Betty's back surgery was very successful and she is now recuperating at home.

THE BOYD Briscoes, 433 S. Forrest, are breathing easier now. Their 3-month-old Todd was in Lutheran General Hospital for two days, undergoing minor surgery, and was brought home Wednesday of last week.

A paper trade convention took L. Q. Yowell, 441 S. Forrest, to New York City recently, and after four days there he left for Culpeper, Va., to visit his parents. After a few days in his hometown, L. Q. left for Philadelphia and Washington, D. C., to attend to business matters and returned home last Wednesday.

Margie Bruce's family helped her celebrate her 18th birthday Sept. 28 at a family dinner at the Bruce home, 441 S. Gibbons. The air of festivity was considerably heightened by the arrival of a "big bouquet of roses" from her steady date who is away at school.

BOB McMULLEN, 413 S. Prindle, celebrated his sixth birthday Sept. 28 by inviting some of his close friends to an after school party. After a round of games, his parents, Ed and Barbara, assisted in hostess duties by a neighbor, Pat McNulty, insured the success of the affair by serving a barbeque supper to the guests, Pam Sievert, Peter Finley, John Syverson, Michael Earl, Leanne Wolkey, Keith Moller and Tommy, Michael and Danny McNulty.

For Danny McNulty, Bob's birthday celebration was just a warm-up for the celebration of his own third birthday Sept. 30. To mark the event properly, the McNulty family, 412 S. Prindle, were guests at a dinner party given by grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wing in Evanston.

TO CELEBRATE his Sept. 29 birthday, Mike Drombrow invited his date to join him and his brother, Greg with his date, for an evening of music, dancing, snacks and a birthday cake at the Dombrow home, 428 S. Prindle.

A happy second birthday Sept. 29 was wished to Blake Matthewson at a family get-together planned by his parents, John and Judy, on the evening of his big day, for grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Matthewson and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Lind of Chicago. The Matthewsons live at 516 S. Waterman.

Congratulations and best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. James McArdle, 536 S. Phelps, who were married seven years Sept. 27.

The best wishes of her friends and neighbors go with Doris Lindblade, who sold her home at 540 S. Phelps and moved to Des Plaines. (A

Some Openings in Adult Classes Yet

This is the final week for adults to sign up for classes in the adult evening program provided by High School District 214. Twenty-one classes have been most gratifying, according to W. L. Randle, director of the adult program. When the late registrations are all in and counted it is estimated that approximately 3,000 adults will be enrolled in the program. One hundred-four teachers came to register for one extension course offered by Northern Illinois University. Approximately 60 of them were turned away. The 43 who stayed had been preregistered by Northern.

Classes are being held in all four high schools and students are attending from towns and villages as far as Lake Zurich.

To inquire as to which classes are open for late registrations, interested persons are invited to call CL 3-1700. (ACM

Inside Randhurst

Big Art Exhibit Sets Fall Pace for Center

BY MARGARET IRWIN

The calendar tells us it is fall, which brings the brisk, wonderful Autumn days, and Randhurst has taken on the atmosphere of the season.

The hectic pace of buying clothes for our family is now over and we can relax and turn our attention to the cultural side of our lives.

Whether your artistic interest lies in the area of contemporary, modern, cubistic, realistic, or just plain "I know what I like," I know you will have an interesting adventure in viewing Randhurst's fabulous 4th Annual Autumn Art Exhibit, Saturday, Oct. 16 from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 17, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

BELIEVE me. We really are excited about this exhibit, as the artists who were selected to present their efforts, are among the top artists in the nation.

Every piece of work whether it be in oil, water color, pastel chalk, or carved out of stone, is the sole interpretation of its creator's imagination.

Each artist has his own identifying manner in the way he applies the oils to the canvas or swirls the water colors across the paper. Some are strong, bold, provocative in their application and use of color, using their brush or pallet knife as a dagger — thrusting a dash of color here and there to create the mood they feel and want to project. Some are of a more gentle nature — expressing their thoughts in a light and airy manner, giving the viewer a pleasant, relaxed feeling.

Whatever your preference, I know it is impossible to stand in front of a painting or sculpture and not have some sort of a reaction. I am glad I am not a judge; theirs is a difficult task to perform. To try to judge what is best out of all the entries is most difficult — try it and see.

THE POSTER Contest, held Fire Prevention Week, was an overwhelming success.

Hundreds and hundreds of posters were submitted by Mount Prospect school children, to the Randhurst Art Committee, and truly it was not easy to select the best of the group. Each poster tells the story of fire prevention by each young artist in his own way. Some are humorous, some quite thought provoking, all represent time and effort. A great big thanks to these talented youngsters for focusing our attention, in a visual way, to the contributing causes of fires, and how to prevent them. We hope each and every one of you will come to Randhurst to see these posters in the mall — they will be here up to and including Saturday, Oct. 9.

Plan to be at Randhurst 11:30 a.m. Saturday. The Mount Prospect Fire Department will have a safety rescue demonstration—using their aerial ladder to rescue a "victim" from the roof of the Randhurst Cinema. This should be quite an impressive demonstration for your children to see. I'm also sure you will want your children to see how our firemen go about putting out fires.

Girls, — I don't know whether I should mention this or not — you will turn green with envy, but take a look at the equipment and trucks of the fire department. Our furniture should shine so good. Don't let envy stand in the way of praise for the excellent job performed by our firemen. Let's make their job easier and safer by doing our part in helping prevent fires, not just now, but all through the year. (Rh

4-H Clubs Elect County Officers

The new 4-H year began Sept. 30 with the election of the Cook County 4-H federation officers. New officers for 1965-1966 are: president—Faith Pukszta, Snappy 4-H'ers; vice president—Peggy Sidor, Clever Clovers; secretary—Penny Collins, Barrington Girls; treasurer—Steve Levan, Hanover Hawks; reporter—Chris Tietze, Plum Grove; recreation leaders—Charles Huff, Plum Grove, and Sue Foster, Equestrians.

The ratings in the 4-H window display contest were also announced at the Sept. 30 meeting. The clubs with "A" ratings were: Hanover Hawks, Scratches and Burns, Gee Gees, Schaumburg Aggies, Plum Grove, Prospectors, Girls of Schaumburg.

"B" ratings included Wheeling Wizards, Barrington Girls, Barrington Pioneers, Snappy 4-H'ers, 4-H Explorers. Those with "C" ratings were Elgin Eagles and Clever Clovers.

SINCE THIS is the beginning of the year, a few words on 4-H are in order. 4-H clubs are groups of boys and girls, 10-19, engaged in various 4-H sponsored activities. Although most people think of the 4-H members as people who raise cattle and corn, make dresses and bread, 4-H has adapted itself to our suburbanized area, with the number of members raising horses, dogs, and gardens far exceeding those raising cattle, pigs, and corn.

While these agricultural home economic projects are the main work of 4-H members, judging contests, speech contests, demonstration contests, fairs and citizenship activities are a few of the many other 4-H activities.

4-H clubs are organized first at the local level, then the county and finally the state level. 4-H work is sponsored mainly by the County Extension Service, the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture.

For more information call the Cook County Extension Service at CLearbrook 3-6460.

Area Experts Set For Literacy Talk

When Raymond J. Hilliard, head of the Cook County department of public aid, speaks at 8 p.m. at Winston Park School, Palatine, on Monday, he will have an audience with a 100 per cent interest in having his programs succeed.

So says Mrs. Frank Moore, president of the League of Women Voters.

"Mr. Hilliard is going to describe the literacy and retraining programs his department has started to help rehabilitate welfare recipients," explains Mrs. Moore.

"All of us are taxpayers—and welfare programs cost money" she points out. "So we all have a vital reason —a dollars-and-cents reason—to want his programs to succeed."

LOCAL RESIDENTS with a particular knowledge of the department of public aid's workings will be among those in the audience Monday, Mrs. Moore said.

She said that special invitations to attend had been extended to Albert C. Peters, Wheeling Township supervisor of welfare; William Rohlwing, Elk Grove Township supervisor of welfare, and Mrs. Ruth Helvig, Elk Grove Township's case worker.

Because they, too, work with persons needing assistance, Mrs. Moore said, the league felt the township officials would be particularly well-informed on public aid questions.

"We are hopeful," she said, "that the audience will gain from any questions they ask about the literacy and retraining programs."

Other persons who might get an extra dividend from hearing the Hilliard talk, Mrs. Moore said, are those working with migrants, with high school dropouts or potential dropouts and private citizens interested in any of the area's vocational programs.

The League of Women Voters has sent out 120 announcements of the meeting to area civic leaders, club presidents and other groups.

CO-SPONSORS OF the Hilliard appearance are the leagues of women voters of Barrington, Palatine and Arlington Heights.

First arrangements for the talk were made by Mrs. Moore, with Mrs. Harold A. Brown, president of the Palatine LWV, and Mrs. W. C. Meyer, president of the Barrington LWV.

In charge of the program are the three league's development of human resources chairmen, Mrs. Dwight Walton of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Donald MacLeod of Palatine and Mrs. Frank Holper of Cary. (B 10

Radiologist To Address Association

Dr. Constantine S. Soter, radiologist for Northwest Community Hospital, will be guest speaker at the October 6 meeting of the Northwest Branch of the Chicago Medical Assistants Association.

Dr. Soter's subject will be: "Cancer of the Breast." The program will be held in the meeting room of the Bank of Rolling Meadows at 8 p.m.

A graduate of the University of Athens School of Medicine, he interned and had his residence training at Illinois Masonic Hospital, where he served as associate radiologist before coming to Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Dr. Soter is editor of the Northwest Hospital Medical Journal and a member of the American Medical Association, Illinois State Medical Society, Radiological Society of North America, Chicago Roentgen Society, Society of Nuclear Medicine and consultant to the United States Public Health Service. (B10 OBSERVING ONE of the many fine fire prevention posters which were submitted by Mount Prospect school children are Lt. Jerry Fox; Richard B. McCarthy, assistant promotion manager for Randhurst; and Fire Chief Edwin Haberkamp. The posters will be on display at Randhurst through Sunday. Fire Prevention Week reaches a climax at 11:30 a.m. Saturday when Mount Prospect firemen stage a demonstration in the Randhurst parking lot. (Rh

Space Film Is Offered Public

"The Four Days of Gemini IV," a full color, 16 mm film which records the drama of a man's walk in space, is now available through the Winnetka office of Congressman Donald Rumsfeld, R-13th.

"This 30-minute film is ideal for meetings and programs of service clubs, Boy and Girl Scout units, churches, schools, and other organizations," Rumsfeld explained. It may be reserved — free of charge — by calling the Winnetka office, 446-7470.

Astronauts James McDivitt and Edward White were rocketed aloft in Gemini IV in June and successufly executed the first excursion into space outside the spacecraft by an American. (B10

Announce Program Themes for Scouts

Boy Scouts in northwest suburbs will learn about mapping and the use of the compass as 138 troops follow the October theme, "Map It."

The training as a part of the weekly troop meetings will qualify the scouts in the use of compass and map and will lead to the month's highlight, the mappers' field day.

"This kind of a program theme for Boy Scouts adds interest to scouting activities," said Robert Gillilan, commissioner of the Northwest Suburban Council, "and it helps to develop self-reliance and confidence."

AMONG SUGGESTED events for the mappers' field day are a cross-country orienteering course and a contest that teaches scouts how to recognize topographical map symbols.

Eight-, nine-, and ten-year-old Cub Scouts in the council will be practicing "Magic Words" during October — "please, thank you, pardon me, you're welcome" — and will perform skits, play games, make costumes, and have special activities related to the "language of human relations," Gillilan said.

Many of the 154 Cub Scout packs will hold a space derby with boy made rockets, tie in their monthly pack meeting with Halloween, and participate in Fire Prevention Wek.

Fire safety will also be a feature of the October program for high-school-age Explorers as they give fire prevention and suppression demonstrations before Boy Scout troops and adult organizations. Other October program activities suggested for Explorers include the Good Will — Good Turn in cooperation with Goodwill Industries and local fire departments, a Roundup barbecue, and a Keep America Beautiful event. ## Lessons in English

Do not say, "I should of waited on her a little longer." Say, "I should HAVE waited FOR her a little longer."

Avoid the use of SOME for SOMEWHAT. Say, "They are SOMEWHAT better today (not "some better"), and, "He has changed SOMEWHAT (not "changed some")."

Do not say, "I have a bad pain in my back." It is better to say, "I have a SEVERE (or, an ACUTE) pain in my back."

Book Distributor Plans Open House

Teachers and PTA members from public and parochial schools are invited to attend an open house to be held Oct. 13-14 from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. at Affiliated Book Distributors Inc., 415 N. Wolf Road, Wheeling.

There will be educational directors of several major publishing houses and representatives from every publisher participating. They will be happy to assist guests in locating any special book they may desire. Also they will be able to point out the merits of pocket-sized books in regard to educational possibilities.

The growth of pocket-sized books in schools in Southern Wisconsin and Northern Illinois is again amazing. Well over 225 schools have "stores" to stock the books and are using them for classes.

There will be coffee and sweets for the guests to enjoy while looking over the huge display of books, embracing educational levels from grade school through college. (B10

Doctors to Talk On Brain Disease

"Early Diagnosis of Organic Brain Disease" will be discussed by neurologist and a professor of psychiatry at 8 p.m., Oct. 13 at Forest Hospital, Des Plaines.

Dr. Frederic A. Gibbs, professor of neurology at the University of Illinois College of Medicine and director of Forest Hospital's out-patient EEG clinic, will discuss th use of electroencephalography (EEG) in the detection and early diagnosis of organic brain disease in both adults and children.

Dr. Martimer Gross, Clinical Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry, University of Illinois College of Medicine, will discuss the various symptoms of organic brain disease, particularly in school-age children. Dr. Gross is vice chairman of Forest Hospital's medical staff executive committee.

DR. GIBBS' presentation will be illustrated with examples of both normal and disturbed brain wave patterns. He will describe the specificity of disturbed patterns in diagnosing various types of organic brain disease.

In his discussion Dr. Gross will indicate how symptoms in irritability and problems in behavior which are often thought to be psychiatric may actually indicate organic brain disease. EEG studies may help determine if such problems in children are truly emotional or if they may result from what he has termed "subconvulsive cerebral dysrythmia."

The program is sponsored by Forest Hospital's treatment committee, Dr. Truman Esau, chairman. (B10

The auditor licenses nearly 1,000 cemeteries to handle nearly $40 million in care funds. The responsibility was transferred to the auditor from the Department of Financial Institutions in 1963 by the Illinois General Assembly. (B10

Poverty Study Group Okayed by County Board

The North Cook County Economic Opportunity steering committee was officially recognized last week by the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

Official recognition now allows the 35-member nonpartisan steering committee to obtain federal funds through the Chicago office of the Economic Opportunity program.

The 10 Democratic members of the county board voted for recognition. The four of the five Republican commissioners present abstained from voting.

Recognition was also given to the West Cook County Economic Opportunity steering committee.

Voting followed a parade of witnesses who were proponents of extending the war on poverty into north and west Cook County.

REPUBLICANS opposed immediate recognition of the committees.

They attempted to have the resolution recognizing the commitees tabled until further study on poverty needs was accomplished.

Their abstentions were an indication that while they opposed recognition, they preferred not to be on record as having voted against the program.

Commissioner William N. Erickson, the GOP leader, labeled the program as being little more than a chance for the Democratic Party to obtain more public jobs.

Regarding the north Cook County steering committee, Erickson maintained its membership "represented one party. This thing is stacked against us."

WILLIAM Brackett, temporary chairman of the north Cook County steering committee, maintained that the 35-member committee is completely a - political and has membership from both major parties. be instituted.

Erickson also mused, "I wonder if this program is not part of the metropolitan takeover?"

Erickson and Commissioner Floyd Fulle repeated several times that they were uninformed about what programs will be instituted.

Replies from witnesses were that programs would be taoilored on the local level to local needs but further study must be made.

Recognition provides the local representatives with the federal aid needed to carry out definitive program planning, Brackett said.

This position was given support by Democratic Commissioner George Dunne.

REPUBLICANS expressed dissatisfaction because they maintained steering committee members had never tried to contact them or provide them with background on their activities.

Witnesses ranged from officials of the steeering committees of the north and west, a destitute housewife with 10 children, township supervisors (administrators of public assistance) and an official of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago.

Preliminary studies have been made on the needs of north Cook County, Chicago Economic Opportunity chief Frederick McLendon said after the public hearing.

Financing of these studies will come from a $125,000 federal grant.

McLENDON SAID that with recognition, the north Cook County steering committee will be able to receive funds to help his office carry on definitive studies of area needs and programs.

Only with cooperation of local groups can McLendon obtain federal funds for the war on poverty in north Cook County.

Among the programs which could be developed under the Economic Opportunity Act are the following:

—Special and remedial education.

—After - school centers, tutoring and summer, weekend classes.

—Adult literacy classes.

—Health examinations for children of poverty stricken families.

—Child-care centers and activity centers.

—Housing and living facilities improvement.

WITNESSES said that two main programs likely to be developed in north Cook County are health services and special educational programs.

North Cook County, according to 1960 census statistics, has 25 per cent of the county's poverty stricken families. (Largest share is in south Cook County where a poverty program has been in existence since February.)

The federal government is expected to provide 90 per cent of the funds for the program.

The remaining 10 per cent will come from local communities and possibly the county, McLendon said.

TONIGHT (THURSDAY) the Wheeling Township Young Republican Club will hold a forum entitled "The War on Poverty—Battleground: Wheeling Township."

The forum will be at 8 p.m. at Miner Junior High School in Arlington Heights. (B10

MOUNT EMBLEM

"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"

Site of the
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Autumn brings a glorious burst of color to the superb landscape of Mount Emblem. This is one of Nature's most impressive moments which we invite you to enjoy.

You will see acre upon acre of multi-colored effects from our great variety of trees and shrubs each lending its particular hue to the scene.

For such extensive landscaping you could reasonably expect to pay more. Yet our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

Elk Grove's Largest School Bond Issue Before Voters

Elk Grove School District 59 voters will go to the polls from noon to 7 p.m. Saturday to vote on the largest bond issue in the district's history.

The $5,450,000 bond issue for school construction is considered the last major building referendum. Future building needs will come at a slower pace and not require a referendum of this size.

THE BOND ISSUE would provide for a three year building program:

—A new junior high school in Elk Grove Village in the area west of Arlington Heights Road on land to be purchased from Centex.

—A new junior high school to be built near the Forest View School site, 1901 Estates Drive, Mount Prospect.

—A new elementary school near the Forest View High School.

A new elementary school west of Salt Creek.

—Additions to Grove Junior High School, six classrooms and additional physical education facilities; Ridge School, two kindergarten rooms, two special education rooms, and a library study center; Salt Creek School, six classrooms and two special education rooms; Brentwood School, three classrooms and a study center; Devonshire School, four classrooms and library enlargement; Albert Einstein School, three classrooms, two kindergartens, and one special education room; Robert Frost School, eight classrooms, two special education rooms, study center, library, teachers' room, and storage space.

—Library study development will be made at Brentwood, Clearmont, Mark Hopkins, Dempster Junior High School, Devonshire, Albert Einstein, the elementary school near Forest View High School, elementary school west of Salt Creek, Salt Creek School, Robert Frost, Grove, the "South" junior high school in Elk Grove Village; the "North" junior high school near Forest View elementary school; High Ridge Knolls, Ridge School, Forest View Elementary, and Rupley School. Improvement will be in the form of equipping the library study centers with books, programmed learning materials and audio visual aids.

—Site acquisition south of Biesterfield Road and west of Arlington Heights Road; five acres for school west of Salt Creek; six acres adjacent to Forest View Elementary; and 20 acres west of Arlington Heights Road.

—Site development at Brentwood, Clearmont, Dempster, Devonshire, Einstein, Forest View, Elementary, Robert Frost, Grove Junior High, High Ridge Knolls, Mark Hopkins, Ridge, Rupley, Salt Creek, junior high near Forest View elementary; and "South" junior high in Elk Grove.

—Additional office space and remodeling for the administration office.

—Payment to Centex for Grove site.

THE BOND ISSUE adds up to 93 classrooms for elementary children, $2,445,000; 46 classrooms for junior high, $2,095,000; library improvement, $250,000; playgrounds and landscaping, $160,000; land purchases, $330,000; and office space and remodeling, $170,000.

The District 59 administration and school board has appeared at every school in the district to explain the bond issue. All the schools have registered a "quiet" response to the presentation of the building plans. However, school officials have been "running scared" and plan to continue their informational drive throughout this week.

Workers have been organized to conduct a telephone campaign to get out the vote Saturday. In the past this has proved highly effective.

District 59 has not lost a bond issue since 1960. In April voters approved a tax rate increase in the educational rate.

SCHOOL INSIDERS predict success for this referendum but many believe it will be passed by less than the 2 to 1 margin given the tax rate referendum in April.

Traditionally the strongest opposition to the District 59 referenda has come from the Des Plaines area of the district. This area is building a reputation of opposition to any referenda regardless of whether it would raise taxes.

School officials also fear a backlash in the form of no votes from the people who opposed the dual enrollment program allowing Queen of the Rosary Catholic students to attend Grove Junior High School for mathematics, science, physical education, and the fine arts. District 59's precedent shattering step in hiring its first two Negro teachers also may produce opposition votes, some school people worry.

District 59 school officials believe the fact the bond issue will not raise taxes is a major point in their favor in achieving bond issue passage. Their presentations have concentrated on explaining why this is possible.

Auditors Refer Assessor's Pay Request to Committee

The Wheeling Township assessor's request for a salary increase was referred to a committee for further study by the township board of auditors Tuesday.

Assessor John T. Peters had asked the board to raise the salary from the present $7,500 per year to $11,000, the state legal maximum for townships with a population between 50,000 and 70,000 persons. The salary must be set at least 30 days before his new four-year term begins Jan. 1.

Township Supervisor Albert C. Peters noted that board members had not yet gotten together to speak on the matter and suggested that there might be more unanimity if a committee of three of the elected officers excluding himself and the township clerk were formed to discuss the request.

IN RESPONSE to an objection by a citizen in the audience that the board would only follow the committee's recommendations without hearing views of the electorate, Peters pointed out that it would be a fact - finding committee and would not make recommendations. He said that after the committee's report, the members of the board would act according to their consciences.

A motion was offered by Auditor Robert Cagann of Arlington Heights to refer the request for a salary increase to a committee to be named by Supervisor Peters.

Auditor Ethel Kolerus of Mount Prospect opposed setting up a separate committee which would, she said, "split the board." Her subsequent motion that a committee of the board as a whole study the matter and report at the next regular meeting passed unanimously.

THE NEW COMMITTEE will meet Tuesday evening, Oct. 12 at the home of Mrs. Kolerus. She said the time will probably be around 8 p.m.

In an open discussion, Assessor Peters answered questions by citizens attending the meeting. Herbert Andersen, a Wheeling resident, questioned whether the assessor's salary should be raised as much as $3,500 a year — almost a 50 per cent increase. He said it should be more gradual — perhaps $50 to $100 which would be comparable to salary increases in industry.

Andersen also said that he doubted that the assessor was doing a good job. "I have never received a statement from the township assessor," he stated.

Post 'We Gave Metro' To Speed Fund Drive

Arlington Heights residents who give to the Metropolitan Crusade of Mercy at work can help speed the residential fund collection by promptly displaying their "We Gave Metro" sticker in their window.

According to John Gillen, residential chairman of the Arlington Heights United Fund, solicitors will not call on homes displaying the Metro sticker.

"IF RESIDENTS will cooperate by putting up their stickers early, our volunteer callers will be able to concentrate on families who have not yet had an opportunity to give."

The Arlington Heights United Fund is one of 55 suburban community fund drives participating in the new Metro Crusade. Budget of the local fund, which supports the work of 12 agencies in this area, is $52,500. If Metro meets its budget, all participating funds will also.

"The key to this year's drive," commented General Chairman Paul E. Collins, "is to urge everyone to give where he works."

The goal for all solicitations is one day's pay. The local United Fund office will accept pledges to allow residential givers, like those who give at their place of employment, to spread their contributions.

KICK OFF day for the residential solicitation is Oct. 16; the Metro campaign began Sept. 30.

Instructional sessions for residential volunteers will be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 15 and 10 a.m. Oct. 16, both meetings at Miner Junior High School. Residents who wish to help should call Gillen at CL 9-2933. (A

Q. Is it really improper, as I've been told, for a bride to take an active part in her wedding rehearsal?

A. This is not a question of propriety, but a custom or superstition. It has always been customary for some good friend of the bride to assume her role in the rehearsal proceedings, while the bride sits on the sidelines and directs.

New Equipment Used in Eye, Ear Tests for Pupils

District 25 health authorities are in the midst of an expanded eye and ear testing program for 8,200 public elementary and junior high pupils in Arlington Heights.

The district-wide survey will be completed for most students late this month, according to Mrs. Thelma M. Carroll, director of health services. New testing equipment has been acquired to uncover a broader range of defects.

The district normally tests every child for acuity — sharpness of vision — once a year. The test, involving the standard eye chart, is relatively simple.

BUT A NEW machine is being used for some students this year. It is designed to test acuity, farsightedness, image fuion and eye coordination.

The machine will be used on all fifth grade pupils, all students regardless of grade who have experienced reading problems and as requested by teachers — for example when a teacher suspects a behavioral problem may be related to vision.

"We are testing all fifth graders," Mrs. Carroll explained, "because there is a sharp increase in the occurrence of defects in that group. We hope to uncover the defects when they occur."

The equipment requires roughly three times the amount of staff time for testing as the eye charts, the health nurse noted. To supplement the time of three regular nurses, the board of education authorized hiring of an additional nurse during the eye survey period.

Mrs. Carroll also expects more sure hearing test results with the acquisition of better earphone equipment this year. "We will be able to give a much more accurate hearing test without worrying about outside distortions."

INDIVIDUAL hearing tests are administered routinely to all kindergarteners and first graders and to students in other grades who do not do well in group tests.

Both sight and hearing tests will be given to kindergarten students later in the school year, after they have become acclimated to school.

"We don't diagnose in our testing program," Mrs. Carroll emphasized. "We simply refer the children to their family doctor."

Besides eye and ear testing, the school health department supervises a dental health program, provides inoculation through a physician hired by the district, keeps school first aid lockers stocked and does followup work with parents and children.

MAIN WORK of her department, the nurse indicated, is to prevent accidents and the spread of communicable diseases and to detect remedial defects early.

"We spend about one third of our time just talking with people. Followup is quite important, and it pays. We get extremely heavy response, for example, from our dental program."

Students are given a card at the end of the school year, to be returned by the dentist after he has competed work on the child. When the dental program started a decade ago, 63 per cent of the cards were returned indicating dental work was completed.

Response has grown to 89 per cent this year. (A

Vandals Hit New School Buildings

Extensive damage was done over the weekend at two District 25 schools under construction, according to Arlington Heights police.

William Kirchoff, a supervisor for Four Contractors Inc., general contractors for an addition to Patton School and the new Ivy Hill School, reported a shed had been broken into at Ivy Hill and tools had been scattered. Most were recovered.

At Patton School, he said, two stacks of face brick and one of concrete block were damaged, reinforcing rods were dumped into the excavation, 150 feet of drain tiles were broken and a tarpaulin was stolen. (A

From Sept. 20 - 24 these physicians engaged in a thorough review of recent advances in pediatrics which are important to either family physicians or practicing pediatricians. ## Subdivision Action Is Postponed

Approval for the resubdivision of property on the west side of Waterman Avenue, between Euclid and Miner, was postponed by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday.

Trustees asked for more information on the previous subdivider's commitment to provide paving of Waterman. Formerly known as the Wolff resubdivision, the parcel is owned by John Minardi, who is seeking the new resubdivision.

The plan commission had recommended approval, with a 28-foot-wide half street for Waterman. The Minardi resubdivision involves 15 lots. (A

Road Equipment In Good Shape, Township Told

Wheeling Township Road Commissioner William W. Luehring reported to township auditors Tuesday that his department's equipment is in good condition for the winter.

"We have five trucks and one grader, all radio equipped," siad Luehring. "We believe we will be able to cope with the winter with our own equipment this year."

Luehring also said that the township is through seal coating roads for the year and that repairs will be limited to some black top patching because of budget considerations.

Township Leases Copy Machine

The Wheeling Township Board of Auditors Tuesday voted to lease a copying machine from Thermo-Fax Sales Co.

The machine, a No. 3M Photo-Copier made by the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., will be leased for a three year period. The cost will be $12.16 per month, including service and repairs, plus four cents for each copy made.

The board chose the 3M Photo-Copier because it can make dry copies of book pages and other documents, suiting it for use by Arlington Heights Wheeling Township Cemetery trustees who must copy their records. (A C M

THE GOLDEN YEARS

RETIRED WIDOW FINDS KEY TO GOOD LIFE IN SUBURBIA

"My husband passed away with a heart attack six years after he retired. It was pretty hard. I felt like walking the floor and wringing my hands. Instead I decided to paint the inside of my house.

"That surely is a good way to keep from crying—just try to cry with a brush full of paint splattering in your face from the ceiling.

"The ceiling needs doing again now. But I'll save it for some blue day next winter . . . ."

Thus does a wonderful lady, Mrs. Walter Leach, keynote an attitude toward life that has brought her happiness in a neighborhood of children, dogs, and noise.

Retired people moving into the suburbs, then complaining about what their neighbors do, she said, have lost one of the greatest gifts a person can have — "an understanding heart."

"They should stop trying to find out what is the matter with everybody else, and ask themselves 'What's the matter with me?' And when they are disturbed by neighborhood noises it's a shame their hearing is so good."

Mrs. Leach's adjustment to a neighborhood of young people started when her husband began holding open house in his garage work shop for the small boys of the neighborhood. He taught them how to use tools, to work with lumber and electricity. "He always had boards that needed sawing, and scrap lumber for the kids to build things with. One boy was quite a problem. He didn't have anybody who was interested in him. My husband got interested. And the boy now is headed for a career in electronics . . . ."

While this was going on Mrs. Leach threw her home open to the neighborhood children. And she always had a candy jar waiting.

As a result of all this, young parents of the neighborhood came running to help when the ambulance drove up for Mr. Leach. They watched the house for her. "Two of my neighbors now have keys to my front door, and if I should turn on an outside light one of them would be over to see if I needed help.

"So I am able to stay in my home, which would have been impossible except for the good neighbors.

Mrs. Leach tries to call on all new people moving into the neighborhood, both young and old, to welcome them and let them know she will be of any help she can. "I especially try to help people with younger children to repay in some small way the older people who smoothed the path for me when my children were small. I remember I said to one such neighbor at that time that I could never do anything in return for her because she was so efficient. She said, 'Along the way you will see some young neighbor you can help, and then you will be paying me back.'

Mrs. Leach has little patience with unhappy retired people.

"They can have good neighbors if they will try being one themselves for a change. They can have happiness if they'll stop chasing around trying to find it and come to understand it's in their own hearts."

Mid-Suburban Race to Open Saturday

Forest View Is At Conant

Falcons Are Explosive, Cougars Big But Young

by KEN KNOX

When a team on the rebound meets a team with nothing to lose, spectacular football may be the result.

That brand of ball may be in crunching array on Conant High School's gridiron this Saturday, as the Cougars host Forest View's Falcons in the Mid-Suburban League opener for both.

The Falcons, one of the early favorites for the MSL title, lost a few feathers at Glenbrook North last Friday night. They were, in fact, shot down 14-6, their first loss after two non-league wins. So Bob Scott's eleven—if Bob Scott has anything to say about ti—will be primed for attack against Conant.

The Cougars also met misfortune on Glenbrook North's field over the weekend, though their foe was Glenbrook South, a unit that the Falcons had beaten the week before. South, after getting a scare for half the game, poured it on in the second half to win 32-6.

For the Cougars, it was the third loss in as many starts this autumn. Lake Park had scored 14 points on them in the first quarter and hung on to win 14-0 in the season beginner; Maine South broke a 6-6 tie in the fourth quarter to win 27-6.

IN BOTH THOSE games—and the Glenbrook South contest—there is a lesson for the Falcons, and Scott knows it. The Cougars can play good football. Their inability to win is a product of their youth and their short football background. They're in the game now mostly to learn, and they're learning considerably. That makes them dangerous, and the fact that their only route is up makes them dangerous.

On the physical side, Scott is respectful of Conant's size, which is superior to Forest View's. Among the big Cougars are 235-pound tackle Duane Smeryage, 200-pound guard David Koning and 215-pound center Dennis Reynolds, all cited by Conant head coach Ron Smith for superior play against Glenbrook.

Conant's defense, which Smith says is toughening, should be strengthened by the addition of Jim Anderson, a 260-pounder who missed all but part of the Glenbrook game with injuries.

Interception Stops Riverside Drive

A PASS INTERCEPTION by Arlington's Steve Conley (35) stopped a Riverside-Brookfield drive in the second period last Friday evening. Riverside had penetrated to the 10 when Conley picked off Greg Lillig's pass. Arlington went on to score an impressive 35-0 Homecoming victory. ## Battle York Saturday

Cards in Road Contest

by BOB FRISK

York wants revenge and a fresh start in the West Suburban Conference race.

Arlington wants to maintain its lofty position in the league struggle with a fourth straight victory.

Something's gotta give Saturday afternoon in Elmhurst when York and Arlington collide before a homecoming crowd.

A Cardinal victory could shatter York's season. The Dukes, one of the pre-season favorites for the league crown, were leveled by Downers Grove last week, 27-7, and would fall two games off the pace with another setback.

A victory could "make" Arlington's season.

Coach Al Allen's outfit stands 2-0 in league firing right now but the victories have been over two winless outfits, Glenbard West and Riverside-Brookfield.

WHETHER OR not Arlington belongs in the upper echelon of West Suburban football this fall should be determined Saturday in the visit to Elmhurst. A victory could be just what the doctor ordered to give the Cards the confidence they'll need for the demanding schedule ahead.

"We're concerned about 's one," Arlington's Allen admits. "York has a good ball club and will be out to rebound after that first loss last weekend. And you know they'll be out for revenge."

Arlington surprised the Dukes last fall, 8-7, when York was riding high and a popular choice to make a strong run for the league flag. The Dukes never seemed to recover from that one and went on to a 4-3 conference season.

YORK HAS compiled a thorough scouting report on the Cards, and head man Alex Naidenovich expects a rugged battle Saturday. "We know we're in for a rough game," the York coach says. "Arlington has a diversified attack and can run or pass. We're hoping our kids will bounce back after that loss to Downers but they just may go the other way."

Naidenovich feels the Dukes' "didn't play any defense at all" in the 27-7 loss to Downers. "We weren't hitting. We made too many defensive mistakes, and they were able to co.. .l the ball on us. Actually, our offense didn't do a bad job."

York has a quick team again with halfback Ted Mosier (150) and fullback Pete Mastro (185) the key running backs. George Dean (185), the leading West Suburban scorer with four touchdowns, quarterbacks the Duke entry with Eric Neumann (145) at the other halfback.

LOU DRINKA, a 215-pound tackle-linebacker, is the key man up front for York and is called "one of the finest lineman the school has ever had."

York blasted Willowbrook, 39-14, and Maine East, 25-7, before falling to Downers.

Arlington's Allen, still looking for "more consistency" in the Cardinal performance, doesn't plan any major changes on a team that has won its first three starts.

THE FLU bug has been making an appearance in the Arlington camp to create some concern among the coaching staff, but Allen was hoping the squad would be intact Saturday. Halfback Steve Ewart remains a question-mark with a leg injury.

Brad Somers, the promising junior who appeared to be lost for the season with a back injury, has been working out and may be ready Saturday "if he's in condition." "He didn't have any activity for three weeks so

Prospect Will Host Wildcats

Homecoming Tilt Pits '64 Champs vs. Wheeling

by MICHAEL HESS

Successful season hopes will disappear for the loser in Saturday's Wheeling-Prospect grid game.

Both 'Cats and Knights have ended their pre-conference competition. Their encounter will start the Mid-Suburban League schedule.

Neither eleven has had great success in its opening 1965 contests. Wheeling carries a 1-2 record while Prospect has slipped to a victory-less 0-2-1 mark.

Improvement, top campaigns or high M-SL slots may be the goals of either team. However, a defeat this week would nearly eliminate the betterment aims of one.

PROSPECT, THE defending Mid-Suburban champ, will host the struggle. For coach Don Williams crew it will be homecoming and, after 20-7 and 3-0 setbacks and a scoreless tie, the Knights' problem is still offense.

"After looking at game films," said headman Williams, "I think we've finally established what our trouble is. Our down-field blocking has been non-existent. We'll work on that this week."

Another aspect of offense bothering Williams has been the passing of quarterback Gary Guerin. Guerin hit on only two of nine tries in the Knights 0-0 game against Maine South last Friday.

"Guerin has been following the prime receiver too much and not looking over the field," Williams said. "We're going to remove the number one receiver and make him look at everyone."

THE RUNNING of Prospect backs Bob Grady, Nick Rutigliano, Fred Wesley and Bob Destafanis was improved against Maine. With Rutigliano's 49 yards leading the way, that quintet gained 107 yards. "But," their coach stated, "they still need work."

Of course defense for the Knights isn't any problem at all. With guard Dan Agard leading, Prospect defenders have given up just three points in their last eight quarters of action. Agard has been in on 86 tackles during this season's first three games.

In the Wheeling camp there is still rejoicing over last Saturday's 7-3 triumph against Deerfield. That was the first varsity football win in 'Cats history.

"Our offense came to life for the first time in that game," told coach Daletski. "Our running helped open up the defense and then our passing became the saving factor."

THAT WILDCATS passing was done by signal caller Mark Newman. Newman was last year's field general but was playing his initial game of the new season at his old slot. He completed five of 11 attempts for 84 yards and the TD which brought victory plus getting 10 yards running.

"He looked like a completely different ball player," Daletski said in comparing Newman with his performance in '64.

Other ground yardage for the Wildcats was accrued by Tom Manderscheid, Bill Niemeyer and Jon Hitman. They got 62 yards in 26 attempts against Deerfield.

"A lot of credit for our first victory should go to the line," stated Daletski. "Ted Armstrong was excellent both ways and Tony Stoik, Steve Zasadny and Jim Whittington were especially good on defense."

What about the opposition in Saturday's contest? Daletski answered first:

"IT SHOULD BE a defensive game. Our defense has held up and Prospect has a very good defensive team. The deciding factor may be which team has the best offense. We may have a slight advantage there. Of course our kids remember last year when Prospect gave us our most humiliating defeat 48-0."

Said Williams:

"One of these days I know the gates will open and our offense will begin to score. I hope it will be this week. With this being our homecoming makes it a natural time for us to get started."

KICKIN' IT AROUND

BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

WHAT PERCENTAGE OF high school boys smoke cigarettes? What percentage of high school athletes smoke?

We don't know, we're asking. The percentage of athletes who get caught smoking is low yet coaches suspect the reason some of their pupils puff on the practice field is because they're puffing cigarettes on their own time.

Teenage smoking has become a subject of widespread discussion, and a new Illinois state law makes it illegal for anyone under 18 years old to buy cigarettes and smoke in public places.

Athletes are told not to smoke. It's been that way for as long as we can remember. First you heard that smoking cut down your wind, but today the reasons are a great deal more sophisticated and the consequences admittedly more terrifying.

Science can prove that smoking really does cut your wind. It causes a decrease in breathing capacity.

After reviewing reports on scientific studies of breathing capacity, the American Medical Association recommended that athletes should be strongly advised against smoking.

Ten inhalations of a cigarette have been shown to materially reduce airway conductance to the lungs. The decrease is as much as 50 per cent and lasts as long as an hour. The ability of an athlete to build endurance is related to his capacity to take in and utilize oxygen.

One effecto fsmoking on breathing is to slow down the rate at which stale air can be expelled from the lungs. The heavy smoker has trouble breathing quickly and easily under heavy exertions and there comes a time in most team and individual activities when an absolute effort is required in a brief moment.

"The smoker, even though he may be a fine natural athlete, may find that his capacity for that all-important finish is slightly less than it might have been," an AMA report states.

"In a close finish between well-matched athletes, the nonsmoker has the edge. There is no longer any room for doubt that athletes should not smoke."

When an athlete flaunts training rules to the extent of smoking in public, most coaches face up to the problem. If they don't, they leave themselves wide open to criticism.

Overlooking rule violations, offering team stars a "second chance," or making the punishment light are ways of keeping a team intact, but this would only emphasize that when it comes to rules, it matters most how important you are.

For the boys, keeping the rules is part of citizenship. Once that is no longer so, championships become hollow and more than that, athletics are not worthwhile.

When a boy goes out for a team, he is, perhaps unknowingly, signing a contract that he will put forth his best in practice and actual competition. He has a responsibility to fulfill.

Tackles Holy Cross

St. Viator Launches League Play Friday

by BOB FRISK

On paper it looks like a mismatch.

Holy Cross sports a glistening 3-0 record. St. Viator has only a tie and two losses in three exhibition outings.

But when these two schoolboy football teams square off Friday evening at the Arlington High field in the Chicagoland Prep League opener, past performances will be insignificant.

Fans only have to look back one year to a brisk fall Sunday in 1964 to realize that when St. Viator and Holy Cross get together in football, season records mean very little.

Last fall the Lions of Arlington Heights had a 5-2 record and Homecoming atmosphere working for them in a bout with a Holy Cross team that had struggled to one victory in four Chicagoland outings. Holy Cross won, 13-7.

ST. VIATOR IS hungry for that first victory of 1965, and head man Joe Gliwa is confident his Lions will be ready for a solid effort Friday in the loop lidlifter.

"We have to minimize our mistakes because Holy Cross is a strong team," Gliwa says, "but it should be a good game. Our record could just as well be 3-0 this year. We've scored first in every game and the two losses were by six and four points."

A bright spot in the 20-20 deadlock last Sunday with Carmel of Mundelein was the overall work of John Helmer, the 6-1, 191-pound senior tackle. "It was Helmer's best game of the year," Gliwa praised. "He's been going both ways for us and doing a great job."

Helmer was an all-conference

Spartans Triumph

Forest View Suffers First Setback, 14-6

by MARV PRELLBERG, JR.

The setting was ideal. It was a clear, crisp Friday evening. No noticeable wind was blowing and the football field was hard and fast. The Glenbrook North stadium was almost filled to capacity with the Spartan and Forest View rooters.

They had come out to witness a battle between the Spartan and Falcon varsity elevens, both teams so far undefeated and, on paper, evenly matched non-conference foes.

These loyal gridiron fans were richly rewarded, for the Bob Scott-coached Forest View aggregation and Harold Samorian's Glenbrook North eleven put on a 48 minute show of real rock-um-sock-um type football under the Spartan lights.

THE FINAL tally was Glenbrook North 14 — Forest View 6, a sweet third straight victory for the Spartans and a tough first loss of the season for the Falcons.

These two fired-up squads battled evenly throughout this hard-hitting encounter, and a quick glance at the game statistics will verify this analysis. Only a few yards separated the teams in total yards gained from scrimmage. Forest View was one up on the Spartans in the first down department, and right on down the line of statistics there was very little difference.

If you tried to pin-point a factor which led to Glenbrook North coming out the victor, you would have to give much emphasis to the penalty calls.

TWICE DURING the contest, when it appeared that Glenbrook North would have to give up the football, they were given new life by a 15 yard Forest View penalty infraction. After both of these penalty calls the Spartans regained their momentum and drove in for touchdowns.

The first half of play consisted primarily of an exchange of punts. Neither team could develop a real serious scoring threat. Glenbrook North's deepest penetration into Falcon territory came via a 15 yard Forest View penalty, that gave the Spartans a first-and-ten on Forest View's 35 yard line. The Falcon defense stopped Glenbrook North cold on the next four downs to end that Spartan threat.

Forest View made it as far as Glenbrook North's 21 yard line in the closing seconds of the first half, but a fourth down incomplete pass ended that drive with only a few seconds left on the game clock.

This scoreless first half set the stage for an exciting 24 minutes in the second half of play.

PAT DUNNIGAN, the highly regarded Falcon back, started the excitement by taking the opening kick-off and running 29 yards to his own 45 yard line. Dunnigan and Spencer Dreischarf took turns in lugging the ball from that point, but the Falcon drive ended on Glenbrook North's 40 yard stripe.

The Spartans came right back and featured by a 15 yard jaunt by halfback Robb Rennix, they moved down to Forest View's 36 yard line. However, it appeared that the Falcons would hold here, as on a third down and six situation, the Falcons defensive back, Steve Mueller, stopped fullback Craig Campo behind the line of scrimmage.

An official, however, claimed a "grabbing the face mask" penalty against Mueller, and Glenbrook North now had a first down on the Falcons' 21 yard line.

THREE PLAYS later Rennix pranced through a hole opened up in the left side of the Forest View line and ran the 14 yards for a score. Bill Werhane kicked the extra point and Glenbrook North led 7-0.

Coach Scott's Falcons came right back after the kick-off and moved 61 yards for a score of their own.

It took Forest View 12 running plays to move from its own 41 yard line down to Glenbrook North's one. Dunnigan was the real workhorse in this drive as he carried the ball 10 times, seven times in a row in one streak. Quarterback Chuck Boesenberg sneaked for the TD from the one.

Boesenberg's extra point try was blocked, and with 10:46 left in the game Glenbrook North led 7-6.

AFTER THE kick-off it appeared that the Falcons would get back possession of the football, as a Spartan third down pass fell incomplete. However, once again Glenbrook North got new life when a "roughing-the-passer" penalty was called.

This gave the Spartans a first down on Forest View's 45, and a few minutes later Ken Kozil smashed two yards for a Glenbrook North touchdown. Werhane's extra point kick made the count 14-6.

Forest View never could get a drive going in the last four minutes of play, and the end result was a hard-earned 14-6 Glenbrook North victory.

Scoring: Glenbrook North, Robb Rennix (14 yd. run), Kozil (2 yd. run); Forest View, Bosenberg (1 yd. sneak). PAT: Glenbrook North, Wehane - 2 (kicks).

Falcon Eleven

He'll be aided by light but tough linebacker Red Wicker, and some more 200-pounders in the line, including Steve Deutschmann, Dave Sander and Glen Volkening.

OFFENSIVELY, CONANT'S chief problem has been developing any kind of momentum. There'll be some more changes there, with three sophomores perhaps playing key roles.

The surest of the lot is Ernie Drummond, the 180-pound fullback who's running harder each game. Chris Shadwell, a 6-3, 185-pounder, may get the call at right end. And Paul Witkowski may again see a lot of action at quarterback.

Mike Kennedy impressed Smith in his debut as signal-caller at Glenbrook, particularly for his scrambling running. But Witkowski is valued for his passing, and both may play.

Otherwise, Smith is satisfied with his lineup and his team's development. Not so satisfied is Scott, who was rankled by his team's play against Glenbrook North, at least for the first half.

"We looked terrible in the first half," he said. "We just didn't play ball. We missed assignments, made mental mistakes, made errors in the fundamentals."

SCOTT PROMISED a return to the fundamentals this week, heavy drilling to get ready for the Cougars. His team had played even statistically with the Spartans, but the mistakes—and some key penalties—hurt.

Forest View has shown an explosive offense, particularly in its opener with new Downers Grove South, a team vanquished 52-0. That offense will be a principle concern for Conant, for it's hard to stop.

It's led, of course, by speedster Pat Dunnigan, who racked up 134 yards against North. He took on a new role in the second half of that game, and will continue it against Conant. He's been switched to fullback, apparently to give the defense less time to key on him and to give him more time to see what's developing in front of him. Conant has nothing like him, and stopping Dunniga is a must.

SCOTT CAN—if Dunnigan is hampered—counter with Spencer Dreischarf, a surprising sophomore who has shown fleet feet at halfback. He gives Forest View a good double threat.

Quarterback is also something of a question with the Falcons. Regular signal-caller Chuck Boesenberg may be yielding many of his duties to Bob Arnold, who up to now has been mostly one of Scott's prizes as a defensive linebacker. He'll be given a more thorough try on offense.

Scott also has a good pair of ends in Jim Baumgardt and Howard Brasch. They're both tall and heavy, Baumgardt at 6-4, 200 and Brasch at 6-2, 185.

Defensively, the Falcons are swift though not especially heavy. Arnold and 180-pound Ron Wayda are keys to the defense at linebacker. Dunnigan plays a defensive back position, and gets good support from 6-1, 170 pound Bill King. The Falcons will not give up many big gainers, through the air or on the ground.

Carmel Rallies to Gain 20-20 Deadlock

by FRED BOEDEKER

St. Viator's varsity football team wound up their exhibition schedule with a 20-20 tie with Carmel of Mundelein last Sunday afternoon in a game played at Warren High School.

The Lions got on the scoreboard first early in the first quarter when 190-pound senior tackle and Co-Captain, John Helmer, tackled Carmel's quarterback Tom Steiegler in the end zone for a safety. Helmer played a fine game and was one of few bright spots in the Lions defense which was unable to contain the Corsairs' running game.

After an exchange of punts the Lions launched a 62 yard drive that was climaxed by Larry Snyder's two yard touchdown run. This gave coach Joe Gliwa's boys an 8-0 edge at the end of the first period.

CARMEL GOT their first score in the second period, when with 8:43 left, St. Viator was forced to punt from its own 35 yard line. The Corsairs' senior halfback, Bob Potter, broke through the line and blocked the punt. The ball bounced high into the air off his helmet and when the dust settled Potter was on top of the ball in the end zone for the score that sent the Lions off the field at intermission with a slim 8-6 lead.

The home team got their running game moving in high gear at the start of the second half with senior fullback John McGill and sophomore halfback Ken Autry spearheading the attack.

McGill went on to score two touchdowns in the second half and Autry continually slipped through the grasp of would be tacklers to keep Carmel's drives alive.

McGill put the home team in the lead in the third period when he capped a long Corsair drive with a four yard run. The extra point gave the home team the lead as the third period ended 13-8.

ST. VIATOR took advantage of a short Carmel punt and moved downfield on several fine runs by junior halfback Larry Snyder and senior halfback Bill Roser. With second down and ten yards to go, Roser skirted right end and raced in to the end zone to give the locals a 14-13 lead with 6:53 showing on the clock.

DENNY WILKINSON
Pass Theft

Just one minute later, Co-Captain Denny Wilkinson intercepted a Carmel pass and raced 50 yards down the sideline for the touchdown that looked like it would put the game on ice. But once again St. Viator was unable to make good on the extra point attempt and the score stood at 20-13.

After an exchange of punts Carmel got possession of the ball with 2:34 left on the clock and Autry and McGill began their onslaught on the Lion defense.

ALTERNATING carries the two fine running backs moved the ball to the 11 yard line where McGill took a handoff, broke off tackle and raced into the end zone with just 42 seconds remaining in the game. Jim Finnessy split the uprights with the extra point attempt to effect the 20-20 deadlock.

'Cats Frosh Win Twice

Wheeling's freshman gridders had a pleasant time at Niles North last Saturday. They picked up two victories.

The Wildcats' frosh A unit gained a 6-0 triumph. Scoring for the winners was done by Glenn Roth, who gained paydirt on a two yard, fourth quarter line plunge.

Frosh coach Larry Pohlman credited linebackers Marty Crain and Donald Cashmore with having played fine defensive games in the shutout. Pohlman also mentioned Keith Lewis and Jim Lesniak for their standout defensive work.

THERE WAS also a shutout at the frosh B level. There the 'Cats ran to a 19-0 victory.

Scoring for the B's was done by Greg Craighead and Israel Lopez. Craighead tallied twice on TD runs of two and 20 yards while Lopez gained the endzone on a five yard sweep. Craighead also ran for one extra point.

FV Soph Eleven Stops Prospect

Forest View's sophomores gained a come-from-behind 12-7 victory over Prospect last Saturday.

Going into the final period the Knights were ahead 7-6. Then Frank Wasilewski swept left end from 12 yards out to put the Falcons ahead.

Scoring earlier for Prospect was Gary Andrews on a 20 yard run. Jim Gumz kicked the extra point. The initial FV score on a four yard run was also registered by Wasilewski, who gained 70 yards on 11 carries in the game.

"EVERY MEMBER of the team deserves credit for our win," stated Falcons' coach Keith North. "I was proud of the way they came from behind."

In losing, coach Dick Mudge's Prospect eleven had several "breaks" go against them. They had a 70 yard pass play called back due to penalty and fumbled once within the Forest View 10 yard line.

Prospect Frosh Win 2 From FV

Prospect freshmen registered two one touchdown, shutout wins over Forest View last Saturday.

The Knights took the frosh A contest 7-0 and the frosh B game 6-0. Fuller ran two yards for the A tally while Scottie Crawford used a 12 yard sweep of right end for his TD for the B team.

In the A battle Bruce Rose, Rick Soduski and Tim Hamann were tabbed for their fine play by coach Earl Benoche of Prospect. Rose had eight tackles in the game while Soduski intercepted a pass and Hamann did the Knights' punting.

Falcons' headman Bob Adams credited defensive ends Ted Kubinski and Tom Wasilewski along with interior linemen Chuck Smith and Dan Pierie with good defensive efforts. "Otherwise," said Adams, "our boys had a below average performance."

it's questionable just how much he'll be able to help us right away," Allen said.

Allen praised the running of Steve Conley (139 yards in 12 cracks) and the play of defensive end Kirk Wolter ("he's been looking very good for us"), Thad Woodard ("our leading tackler"), Bruce Weber, and Mark Frase in the win over Riverside.

WEBER TOOK over as middle linebacker, and the 191-pound junior turned in a strong game, particularly in the first half.

Frase, the 5-11, 220-pound senior who goes both ways, showed anoother steady performance and will be a leading candidate for post-season honors. He's Mr. Reliable up front.

Although Arlington's ground game picked up 265 yards against R-B, the passing attack still clicked eight times for 122 yards. Junior Steve Allen, enjoying another fine game, now has 35 completions in 71 attempts for 472 yards and five touchdowns.

Bruce Hubbard regained the pass receiving lead with three grabs against Riverside for 86 yards. Hubbard has pulled in 14 passes in three games for 264 yards.

selection on defense as a junior.

GLIWA DOESN'T anticipate any major changes in his alignment for the league opener. Bob Stevens, the 6-0, 163-pound junior quarterback, was bothered by a jammed thumb last week but should be okay for Holy Cross.

"Carmel was a good football team," Gliwa said. "They had some fine running backs and they liked to throw. They seemed to fire up after they blocked a punt and scored. We were on top 8-0 then."

Carmel scored the tying touchdown with only 42 seconds remaining.

HOLY CROSS, guided by Frank Mariani, a former St. Viator coach, belted Lamont last weekend 41-7 for its third straight victory. The Crusaders also own decisions over St. Charles (34-6) and Ridgewood (12-6).

"We haven't come close to our potential yet," Mariani says. "We should get a good indication of just what we can do Friday against St. Viator."

Mariani has experience and size on his outfit and comes in with one of the biggest defensive platoons in Illinois high school ranks.

ON DEFENSE Mariani trots out tackles Mario Oliva (270) and Rich Stachon (265), middle guard Phil Ziesinski (248), and ends Bernie Botheroyd (228) and Bob Lahey (205). Jim Sukala, a 265-pound tackle, is also available.

"It's been a team effort so far," Mariani points out. "It's hard to single out one or two boys who have been particularly outstanding. They've all done a good job. We played our second unit most of the way last week against Lamont."

Mariani has experience in his backfield. Bill Best, a 6-1, 200-pounder, is the quarterback and was a regular in 1964. Fullback Bob Suvada (195) was the regular halfback as a junior. Best passed for one score and tallied the second on a quarterback sneak in the 13-7 win over St. Viator last fall.

Manning the Crusader halfback slots are Tom Wise (160) and Nick Schmitz (170), both juniors. Schmitz was an offensive guard as a soph.

Holy Cross will be favored Friday evening, but St. Viator was favored last year when these two teams got together. And you know what happened.

Cards Top Varsity, Pirates Top Sophs

Arlington and Palatine registered a split Tuesday afternoon in cross country competition at the Pirate course.

The visiting Cardinals won the varsity meet, 26-29, but Palatine topped the frosh-soph action, 19-36.

Arlington's Bob Yeazel was the individual varsity winner with a 9:03 clocking over the 1.85 miles Pirate layout. He topped Palatine's Rodger Lawrence by ten seconds with a sprint over the final 200 yards.

Also scoring for the Cards on a varsity level were Greg Busch in fourth, Dave Schimpf in fifth, Tom Thornton in sixth, and Brian Anderson in tenth.

Following Lawrence for Palatine were Bill Bahnfleth in third, Bill Hoffman in seventh, Mike Ferguson in eighth, and Dennis Denton in ninth.

Palatine's Mark Aggerbeck won the frosh-soph meet with a 9:41 clocking.

The Pirates' top five were Aggerbeck, Dave Kehe in second, Mark Visk in fourth, Noel Eggebraaten in fifth, and Mike Anderson in seventh.

Leading Arlington were Jim Pamp in third, Jim Bergstrom in sixth, Brian Marcussen in eighth, Al McKay in ninth, and Chuck Anger in tenth.

Arlington coach Bruce Samoore had special praise for Marcussen's performance, indicating that the boy was in his first year of cross country and had made "excellent progress."

Maine South Beats Prospect Harriers

A 24-37 defeat was handed Prospect's cross country team last Friday by Maine South.

Jeff Pollard was the highest finisher for the losing Knights. He came in second behind Maine's winning runner who had a time of 10:07.9.

Others who gained points for Prospect were Bruce Braunschweig, Dennis Breen, John Jacobsen and Leroy Ratieke. They were in 4th, 8th, 11th and 12th respectively.

THERE WAS an entirely different story at the frosh-soph level. There the Knights gained a 15-50 shutout and took the first eight places.

Winning for Prospect was Baker with a time of 11:09.9. He was followed by teammates Joe Mohlman, Bob Bartley, Steve Holmes and Bruce Oswald in second through fifth.

Next cross country action for Prospect will be this Saturday when the Knights host Wheeling at 12:30 p.m.

St. Viator Sophs Tie Carmel, 12-12

Quarterback Ken Palubicki's two touchdown passes paced St. Viator's sophomore football team to a 12-12 tie with Carmel of Mundelein last Sunday afternoon in a game played at Warren high school's field in Gurnee.

The deadlock enabled the young Lions to remain undefeated through their non-conference play.

In a contest dominated by fine defensive play, the home team was able to score first on a three yard plunge by George Eberhart that capped a 54 yard drive.

Viator took the ensuing kickoff and marched downfield. Eleven plays later Palubicki spotted Ken Sophie in the end zone and his perfect pass knotted the score at 6-6.

Coach Tom Hansen's boys scored again in the second quarter when Kevin Coulter gathered in a Palubicki aerial and raced 45 yards down the sideline to give the Lions a 12-6 edge at intermission.

After a scoreless third period, Carmel launched a drive that carried them to St. Viator's five yard line with a first and goal situation. However, the Lion defense tightened and Carmel was forced to give up the ball on downs.

The Corsairs came right back when on the first play they intercepted a pass and three plays later punched across the goal line to tie the score. Their bid for the game winning extra point failed and the game ended in a 12-12 tie.

Prospect-Maine South Wage 0-0 Grid Battle

by MICHAEL HESS

Only genuine grid aficionados could appreciate a football battle minus touchdowns.

Such a contest was last Friday's dual between Prospect and Maine South. That game ended in a non-win, non-lose 0-0 tie.

Casually observing the goose-egg struggle would have produced pointless boredom. Ardent pigskin students however, would have found much to hold their interest.

With both elevens lacking an endzone thrust, defense was an obvious key to the outcome. Among defensemen, causing and recovering fumbles was of prime importance to the end result.

THERE WERE 10 fumbles in the Knights - Hawks battle, five on each side. An ability to hold the ball in the cool night air cost the coach Don Williams and coach Marvin Nyren teams potential scores.

Prospect received the opening kick-off, drove for one first down, was forced to punt, held Maine and took the returning punt on its own 44. The Knights then began their best offensive drive of the season.

Halfback Nick Rutigliano burst through the line for eight yards to the Hawks' 48. An ensuing offside penalty gave the Knights a first and ten on the 43.

The following play found halfback Bob Grady charging for five yards to the 38. Rutigliano took over at that point, carried three straight times, picked up 24 yards and another first down which put Prospect only 14 yards from Maine paydirt.

DAN AGARD
Another Big Day

KNIGHTS' signal caller Gary Guerin designated a running chore for Grady as the next move from scrimmage. Grady responded with a four yard leap to the 10, but he fumbled.

"That fumble was what killed us," commented Prospect headman Williams. "Grady was held by one leg and hit by two defensive backs at the same time."

Williams' forces never advanced inside the MS 45 yard line after that. Their only other sustained drive came near the end of period three.

With 35 seconds remaining in that third quarter, the Knights gained pigskin possession on their own nine. Two runs by Bob Destafanis garnered 11 yards and the 20 yard line. Rutigliano and Guerin each carried to get another first down at the 30.

After fullback Fred Wesley ran for three more, Guerin faded back for his seventh pass of the contest. He spotted Grady and heaved. Grady wasn't pulled down until he reached the mid-field stripe.

AGAIN A fumble entered the picture. Wesley let the ball slip on the next play and Gordon Williams made his second recovery for Maine. The Knights played inside their 20 for the rest of the game.

For the Hawks the offensive situation was a bit brighter. After a first half when they couldn't dent Prospect territory, they had drives stopped on the opponents 20, 11, 25, and 14 yard lines.

Those first two deep penetrations were halted after fourth down situations when Maine could advance no further. The last two, to the 25 and 14, were broken up by Grady, who recovered a fumble and then intercepted a pass in his own endzone.

Leading the thwarted Hawks offense was quarterback Tom Dewar. His running and passing accounted for 123 yards of the MS total. Lending able support were Maine backs Ed Walsh and Ray Matthies, who ran for 79 yards between them.

Keeping the Hawks from scoring was a Prospect defense which was led, for the third game in a row, by Dan Agard. He made 12 solo and 16 assisted tackles to bring his season totals to 40 tackles made alone and 46 others in which he has assisted.

"HE PLAYED another excellent game," commented Williams. "He was making many of his tackles on the outside which is unusual for an interior line-backer."

Host Maine won the battle of statistics in the deadlocked game. The Hawks had 12 first downs and 230 yards to the Knights 10 first downs and 122 yards gained. Prospect, however, won a battle of a more important sort.

MS had gone into the game on the crest of a two game winning streak. The tie then must be counted as a defeat of sorts for the Maine aggregation.

Prospect, on the other hand, had lost its opening contests. Even a non-aficionado could understand that the tie, at least, was not a third straight for the Knights.

Cards' Ground Game Erupts in 35-0 Loop Win Over Riverside

by BOB FRISK

That running game you didn't see in Arlington's first two outings this fall erupted before a delighted Homecoming crowd Friday evening as the Cardinals ripped Riverside-Brookfield, 35-0, for their third straight victory.

Sparked by the darting maneuvers of junior Steve Conley, a 185-pound speedster, Arlington's ground game blasted the Bulldog defenses for 265 yards and perfectly supplemented the passing attack in the effortless decision.

Conley galloped for 139 yards in only 12 carries for the best single game total by an Arlington back since Charley Hood hit Riverside for 160 in a mud battle last fall.

The junior halfback had 97 yards in nine carries at halftime. Arlington had fashioned only 90 yards on the ground in its first two contests of 1965.

JUNIOR quarterback Steve Allen steered the Cards to three first half touchdowns and two more in the third quarter before retiring in favor of reserves Vaughn Strong and Herb Irlbacker.

Allen was a busy young man while he was in there. The 165-pounder scored two touchdowns, passed for a pair, collected 29 yards in 10 carries, completed seven passes for 111 yards, and kicked five extra points.

He engineered a 64-yard scoring march in only nine plays early in the opening quarter and the rest was easy.

Allen crashed over from the two with 6:22 remaining in the first period to give the Cards a lead they never relinquished. The drive was highlighted by first down passes of 19 and six yards to Bruce Hubbard and Dave Lockwood and a 12-yard first down dash by Allen.

THE QUARTERBACK then kicked the first of five successful extra points.

Riverside threatened early in the second period, but Conley picked off a Greg Lillig pass at the Cardinal three. Arlington scored again 11 plays later with Conley eating up 64 of the 97 yards in one burst.

On a second and eight situation at the Arlington five Conley shot through the line and wasn't hauled down until he reached the Riverside 31. Allen carried on five of the next nine plays and drove into the end zone from the one with 4:05 remaining before halftime.

RON THOMPSON, 218-pound senior tackle, recovered a Bulldog fumble at the R-B 39 yard line to set up the next Arlington score.

On the Cards' first play Allen found Hubbard with a perfect strike in the southwest corner of the field and the 6-6 end, only inches from the sidelines, stepped across for the six points.

Arlington didn't let up in the third period, hitting for six more points in the opening minutes.

RON THOMPSON
Finds Two Fumbles

A DAZZLING 53-yard kickoff return by Lockwood put the Cards on the Riverside 34, and they tallied in five plays. Tom LeStarge carried twice to the 25 and a penalty gave Arlington a first down at the 20.

Conley drove for nine more yards and picked up a first down with a two-yard blast to the nine. With 9:10 remaining in the quarter Allen rifled a nine-yard scoring pass to Lockwood.

Jim Huegerich recovered a Bulldog fumble and Arlington was at the Riverside nine only minutes later, but the drive stalled on downs. A diving catch by Hubbard of a 28-yard Allen pass was the big play in this thrust.

ARLINGTON SCORED its final touchdown with 2:13 remaining in the third quarter. Conley showed a shifty maneuver in dashing 31 yards to the R-B 10 and senior Tom Reid shot through a big hole in the middle of the line for the final yards.

The Cardinal reserves took over in the final quarter and although they didn't score they moved the ball well with Bill Schell, Jim Swanezy, and Mick Wadzita leading the advance. Quarterback Strong completed one pass for 11 yards.

Riverside's final threats were checked when Thompson recovered his second fumble at the Arlington 28 and Thad Woodard stacked up a fourth down play at the 11.

Pass Brings 7-3 Triumph

'Cats Top Warriors For First Grid Win

by MICHAEL HESS

Football bondage has ended at Wheeling

Shackles accumulated in 10 straight defeats were discarded by the 'Cats last Saturday. They whipped Deerfield 7-3.

The initial win in school history resulted from a fourth quarter, 33 yard, touchdown pass. Mark Newman was the thrower; Al Gibbon was the receiver.

PRIOR TO THAT key play, Deerfield had taken a 3-0 third period lead. The Warriors' tally came on a 23 yard field goal off the foot of Jack Benson.

Following an exchange of punts, Wheeling took over on its own 20. Only 1:31 remained in quarter three as coach Bill Daletski's eleven began its historic march to victory.

Halfback Tom Manderscheid began the drive with a four yard run and carried again for five more on the next play. Bill Neimeyer then ran for six more and a first down at the 35.

A three yard trot by Jim Bowker put the pigskin at the 38, but 15 yards assessed for clipping forced the Wildcats back to their own 25. Quarterback Newman then completed the first of three passes he would use to keep the push going.

RECEIVING Newman's five yard toss was end Ken Traversone. Switched to that post from fullback, Traversone snared four passes during the game for 51 yards. Wheeing had reached its own 30.

Sub-signal-caller Rich Haddock ran for five yards before a personal four call advanced the 'Cats to mid-field. The foul was signaled against Deerfield coach Doug Kay on the sidelines.

At the 50 Neimeyer jumped for two yards and Newman made an incomplete throw. On the next play the Newman to Traversone combination clicked for 12 yards and a first down on Deerfield's 36. John Hittman moved the ball to the 33.

Then came the decision clinching effort.

Newman took the ball from center and back pedaled to the 43. Wheeling's forward wall kept the charging defenders away and gave the field general time to observe the pattern of his receivers.

MEANWHILE Gibbon had broken straight downfield and flaired toward the far sidelines. He ended up all alone on the nine as Newman cocked his arm and fired. The ball sailed at least 60 yards in the air before nestling into Gibbon's grasp. He tip-toed untouched to paydirt.

Jim Whittington added a perfectly placed extra point, the first one made this season by Wheeling, and the final 7-3 margin was established.

The Wildcats' only other deep thrust into Warriors' territory came early in the game. With seven minutes gone in quarter one, Wheeling took over on Deerfield's 37.

Three runs by Neimeyer and two Newman-Traversone passes put the 'Cats to the 17. But, on the next play, Manderscheid fumbled and the scoring threat was ended.

A threat by Deerfield was also halted by a fumble. That was just before intermisson when the Warriors were on the Wildcats' 4 yard line. Doug Davis let the ball squirt away and Steve Zasadny pounced to nail the ball and keep the opponents from scoring.

EXCEPT FOR their advance to the 23 for the field goal, the Warriors never threatened again.

Perhaps the most surprising aspect of the contest, aside from the result, was Wheeling's pass defense. Always strong, the 'Cats defenders outdid themselves against Deerfield quarterback John Lindquist.

Lindquist has been touted as potential all-state material. In his first two games he completed 25 of 37 passes for 415 yards. When facing the Wildcats however, he connected on just eight of 21 attempts for only 92 yards.

Hampering Lindquist was the four-man rush applied by Wheeling. Tony Stoik, Whittington, Zasadny and Ted Armstrong keeping the pressure on the opponent passer, not allowing him to get set, and forcing him to rush many aerial tries.

ARMSTRONG especially was outstanding. He made many key tackles and generally covered the field on offense as well as defense. "He played the best game of his career both ways," commented 'Cats coach Daletski.

In trying to explain his team's performance, Daletski stated:

"The kids remembered last year when Deerfield beat us 33 to seven. That loss was humiliating and we paid them back. Our defense was good and our offense came to life for the first time."

No matter what the explanagion, the Wildcats grid aggregation need bend its head no longer. The weight, the burden, the slavery of defeat have been removed.

JV Knights Get 7-6 Win Over Maine

A first period extra point kick made the difference as Prospect's junior varsity eleven defeated Maine South 7-6 last Friday.

The crucial one point margin was provided by Steve Niehbor, who booted home the PAT. Niehbor's kick followed a 45 yard scoring pass from Tom Lundstedt to Bob Anderson.

Those seven points just offset a 67 yard scoring run by Maine's Tom Lynch. The run for an extra point and a tie was stopped one yard short.

EARLIER IN the contest the Knights had had one TD called back on penalty and were within the MS 20 two other times. Defensively Prospect was very tough, holding Maine to no first downs in the game.

Niehbor, for his kick and work in the line, was credited by Prospect coach Chuck Aldrich with being the game's outstanding player.

Wheeling provides the next competition for the JV Knights. Prospect hosts the 'Cats this Saturday at 12 noon.

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Think Twice . . .

Every so often someone brings up the subject of "attack" training and when they do it makes me shudder. The increase in vandalism and larceny in cities and towns throughout the country has prompted many people to consider having a dog for protection. Many of these people think in terms of having a dog that will be a guard or "attack" dog, however, they had better think twice about such a thing. In certain cases that may be very well, provided that the person who trains the dog and the prospective owner knows exactly how to handle such a dog, under what circumstances and to what extent the dog will act and how to care for a dog in general.

There are professionals who are experienced in training guard and sentry dogs. They know that to be developed in this kind of work, a dog must have a certain temperament and stability and that he must be well advanced in standard obedience training before he is given any specialized training. They know, too, that after the dog is successfully trained, the person who is to handle him must have about 12 weeks of instruction . . . and that the animal, so trained, must always be under the supervision of a responsible person. He cannot be permitted free running of the neighborhood where he may misinterpret some gesture or action of a child or other innocent person.

Because of the current interest in watch dogs, it is likely that there will be other so-called trainers or agencies, not so expert or even qualified, who profess to train guard dogs and then sell them to the public. It is easy enough to make a dog "mean" by teasing, but it is not the function of a guard dog to have a bad disposition. For the inexperienced and unknowledgeable owner to attempt training his own dog for "attack" work is only asking for trouble.

For the average family, the best watch dog is one that has good reason to be devoted to his home and the members of the family; one not permitted to become a neighborhood wanderer nor encouraged to accept food offered by other people and which barks to alert the household that something seems amiss.

International Judges . . .

A panel of 25 judges will officiate at the 26th International Dog Show to be held in the International Amphitheatre, April 2 and 3, 1966.

The "Best in Show" judge will be William W. Brainard Jr. of Marshall, Va. The group judges will be Alva Rosenberg of Wilton, Conn., who will judge the sporting group; Major Godsol of Dixon, Calif., to judge best hound; Mrs. Augustus Riggs IV of Woodbine, Md., judging the working breeds.

William Kendrick, Devon, Pa., will select the best terrier among the 20 breeds in this group; top toy from among the 16 toy winners will be picked by Louis J. Murr, Spring Valley, N. Y., and Mrs. Beatrice Godsol, Dixon, Calif., will name the winning dog of the non-sporting group.

Of the three judges from outside the United States, W. A. Wheatland of Victoria, Australia, will travel the greatest distance. He will judge English Cocker Spaniels, Yorkshire Terriers and Pugs. Mrs. E. H. Drummond of Carnforth, Lancashire, England, will judge West Highland White Terriers and R. G. Sparkes, Thornhill, Ontario, will judge a Bulldog Club of America Specialty show to be held with the 1966 International.

Barks & Bays . . .

Pets are living longer than 10 years ago. Dogs are now living to an average age of 14 years and cats to 12 years . . . an increase of two years above the 1954 life expectancy, according to the Gaines Dog Research Center.

Four Unbeaten Clubs In Arlington Action

The list of unbeatens now stands at four in the Arlington Heights Boys Football league.

After firing last week the 49ers, Eagles, Cardinals, and Bears were still without that first setback in league action.

The 49ers rolled to their third straight win with a 7-0 conquest of the Redskins. The Eagles tripped up the Vikings 13-7, the Cardinals stopped the Packers 14-6, and the Bears fashioned a 14-0 win over the Colts.

A 25-yard run by Dennis Foreman and extra point by Peter Harth gave the 49ers the points they needed to knock off the Redskins in Senior League activity.

Defensive standouts for the winners were Bob Massey, Tom Barrett, Berry Monsheim, Mike DeZonna, and Jeff Selleck.

BRUCE FRASE intercepted a pass and ran 80 yards for a touchdown for the Redskins but it was nullified by a penalty. Defensive standouts were John Pritchard, Charles Anderson, Frase, Gary Swanson, and Gregg Harbough.

The Rams ripped the Lions 27-0 with three touchdowns in the second half. Tim Loeffel scored the only first half touchdown on a seven-yard jaunt, and Churck Norton counted a pair in the third period on runs of 35 and 12 yards. A pass from Norton to Steve Aylward from the 15 accounted for the final safety.

Defensive star for the winners was Tim McGrath although the entire team turned in a strong effort.

RICH DELANEY and Gary Bratko paced the losers on offense while Bob DeMeyer, Mike Shanahan, Terry Pierce, and Paul Gorman sparked the defense.

In Varsity League play the Eagles nipped the Vikings 13-7 on touchdowns by Gregg Conley (four yards) and Gene Elsberg (50 yards with interception). Mike Pettenuzzo and Mike Locascio also sparkled on offense.

Strong defensive play enabled the Eagles to control the play. Leaders were Dan Carty, Locascio, John Kulla, Elsberg, and Conley.

Standouts for the losers were Terry Ormsbee and Scott Swanezy. Ormsbee scored on a quarterback sneak.

THE GINATS BURIED the Steelers 33-0 with Tom Sayre, Todd Morong, and Randy Roeing doing the scoring. Sayre counted on runs of 49 and five yards and Morong covered 11 and 83 yards. Todd also scored two extra points and tallied the first four times he handled the football.

Roeing scored the final touchdown on a 12 yard pass from Bob Williams.

Bob Hughes blocked two punts for the Giants.

Pace-setters for the Steelers were Steve Grabowski, Terry Hawley, Peter Hogan, Mark Pritchard, and Kurt Manning.

THE CARDINALS turned in a 14-6 victory over the Packers in Junior League play as Mike White and Ken Peters scored the touchdowns. White also starred on defense with 14 tackles as center linebacker.

John Gibbel scored for the Packers on a 45-yard run. Rick Clemens and Greg Fink were other offensive standouts. Gary Lockwood and Marty Friel sparkled on defense.

The Bears blanked the Colts 14-0 on touchdowns by Chuck Fill and Tim Will. Tom Berger threw to Will for the second score in the final period. (Sp

Cardinals Move Into Senior League Lead

by PHILIP LEONE

The Cardinals of Mount Prospect's Midget Football league took over undisputed first place in the Senior Division with a 24-7 victory over the Colts.

Tom Anderson broke the game wide open with spectacular open field running. He skirted end for a 40 and 50 yard scores. He intercepted a Colt pass and ran 80 yards to the end zone.

Mike Gaffney plucked a Colt pass and dashed 75 yards for the other Cardinal tally. Solid blocking by Reid, Pauluzzi and Crowell opened the way for these new scores. French, Consentino and Pitts stopped the Bears' running game.

The Colts' only points came via a three yard plunge by Ed Klingberg. Kochler added the point. Drake, Ayres and Peterson fought hard on defense for the Colts.

The Bears finally mustered up an offensive scoring threat. Mark Ennes, John Gatto and Mike Morgan reached paydirt for the Bears. Ennes drove through guard for 25 and 12 yard touchdowns. Gatto ran 30 yards for his tally. Morgan went around end for a six yard score. Bill Costello added one extra point as the Bears beat the Packers 25-0. Price, Sennett and Ballottie fought hard on defense.

JOHN TRANDEL sparked the Vikings to a 19-7 triumph over the Browns. He ran 40 yards for one score and threw two 30 yard passes for others. Brian Reedy and Randy Jesperson were the pass receivers. Bill Grady, Doug Hardy and Mike McMahon gave excellent offensive performances. Reedy, Underwood and Frasch stopped the Browns with fine tackling.

Keith Mundt took a reverse for 20 yards and the lone Browns' tally. Craig Gewartowski connected on passes to Jeff Pollard and Dean Ennis. Mundt, Pollard, Layer and Braddish played strong defensive games.

The Eagles unleashed a superb offense and strong defense to beat the Steelers 22-7. John Ulman dashed around end for 20 and 35 yard scores. Don Divito raced a kickoff back 60 yards for a touchdown. Dick Solley added two extra points. Tueber and Cowan tackled a Steeler behind the goal for two more points. Johanneson, Schmal and Matter kept the pressure on the Steeler offense.

THE WILDCATS and Hawkeyes continued on their winning ways to lead the Bantam division. The Wildcats came from behind to defeat the Lions 14-7. Tom Trandel and Jim Hamann scored the touchdowns on an end run and a reverse. Cherwin and Trandel added the points. Crnich, Swanson, Kranz, Heidorn and Appleton opened up the Lions' defense with effective blocking.

The Hawkeyes defeated the Spartans 14-0. Jay Creekmore and Norm Smith went on 15 yard and 40 yard scoring jaunts. Herold, Bregar and Rossi made good blocks on offense. Rod Kiolbassa intercepted a pass. Marc Lenzen and Jim King came through with sharp tackling.

Todd Buikema, Gary Helfenbein, Mark Hempel, Phil Leone and John Stavropoulos fought hard on offense and defense for the Spartans. Jim Miller intercepted a pass to stop a late rally by the Hawkeyes.

The Buckeyes rolled over the Badgers 20-0. Robb went over twice on two yard plunges. Bob Italia carried through the middle for the other touchdown. Wegerer added two extra points on runs and recovered some Badger fumbles. Greg Casciaro and Don Grasso were tough on defense.

The Badgers were pleased with the performances of Richard Hall, Tom Moore, Don Crowell, Bob Stephens, Steve Dyon and Mike Dyon .

MIKE FISHER led the Panthers to a 28-13 victory over the Wolverines. He scored three touchdowns on end runs. Tom Memzel added one more on an end run. Kennedy, Murdock and Teichert took care of the extra points. The running of Mike Fisher and Jim Teichert was outstanding. Pat Touhy made fine blocks at guard. # Arlington's Sophs Tie Riverside, 6-6

Arlington's sophomore Cardinals, still looking for that first victory of the season, will journey to York in Elmhurst Saturday for a contest at 12 noon.

Coach Tom Pitchford's outfit has posted two ties and a loss in three outings this fall.

The Cards scored with 4:19 remaining last Friday evening to pull out a 6-6 tie with visiting Riverside-Brookfield.

Larry Wadzita, a 5-11, 155-pounder, skirted the right side for 14 yards and the six points. The try for the extra point by Bob Von Boeckmann was blocked.

Wadzita's touchdown was set up on a 10-yard pitch from Bob Graham to Von Boeckmann.

Riverside penetrated to the Arlington 15 in the closing minutes but was pushed back to the 25 and yielded the football with 57 seconds left.

The first half was scoreless although Arlington did march to the Riverside 15 in the second period before losing the ball on a fumble. The Cards were at the R-B 36 as the half ended.

The visitors scored their only touchdown with 8:37 remaining in the game on a five-yard run by quarterback Steve Hummel. The run for the extra point fell short.

Wheeling Harriers Get 23-32 Triumph

Come from behind running gave Wheeling a 23-32 cross country victory over Deerfield last Saturday.

Going into the final 300 yards of the race, Wildcats harriers were in first, third and fifth places. When the race ended they had moved up to first, second and fourth.

PAUL FIEGEN pulled all the way from third to first near the race's end while Bill Lytle jumped from fifth to fourth. Doug Steinman, who had set the early pace, finished second.

Others to count for Wheeling were Lenny Eaton, who came in seventh, and Andy Black, who was ninth. Winning time in the race by Fiegen was 11:06.

The win moved the Wildcats record to 4-2 for the year under coach Ken Carter. During the week Carter appointed Lytle and Steinman as co-captains for the 1965 season.

At the frosh-soph level there was a defeat for Wheeling. The younger 'Cats lost 17-44 to Deerfield to even their record at 3-3.

SCORING for the F-S losers were Bill Martin, 5th; Steve Mylytiuk, 6th; Scott Poklen, 10th; Phil Smith, 11th; and Terry Kniep, 12th.

Next cross country opponent for Wheeling will be Prospect. The two harrier teams will meet this Saturday at Prospect at 12:30 p.m.

Cardinal Jayvees Triumph

Arlington scored two first half touchdowns and added a third tally in the final period in fashioning a 19-6 jayvee victory over Riverside Monday afternoon.

The victory was the second straight for the Cardinals. They also have a tie this season.

Herb Irlbacker ran two yards for a touchdown in the first period, and Vaughn Strong blasted over from the same spot in the second quarter. Bill Schell covered 42 yards on an end sweep for the final six points.

A 95-yard kickoff return by Jerry Enright was nullified by a clipping penalty.

"We had a good team effort the first half but seemed to relax in the final half," coach Brendan Flynn reported. "Schell's running and the pass receiving of Jim Swanezy were two bright spots. Cary Annen, Charlie Krueger, and Brad Philo paced the defense."

Arlington will journey to York next Monday for a contest at 4:15 p.m.

Auld Captures Harrier Meet

Robin Auld, an Arlington High School graduate, finished first Saturday as American University of Washington, D. C., topped Roanoke (Va.) College in a cross country meet.

Auld is attending American University for one semester as an exchange student in political science. He is a student at Knox College in Galesburg, Ill.

Auld, who has the one mile and three-mile records at Knox, placed second last Sunday in a Pre-Olympic meet which includes colleges in the Washington area.

Falcons' Harriers Register 24-32 Win

Craig Brown gained a fourth straight first to lead Forest View's cross country team to a 24-32 victory over Glenbrook North last Saturday.

Coming in ahead with a time of 9:55 over the 1.9 mile course, Brown paced teammates Dick Appleton and Ken GaNung, who were in second and third. Ted Lambert, in seventh, and Bucky Jones, eleventh, were others who counted for FV.

At the frosh-soph level there was also a victory for the Falcons. The score there was 15-47 as the winning FV harriers took the top six places.

Dennis Meacham scored two touchdowns and Bob Kelly, Todd Somers, Jim Baumgartner, and Wilber Heinemann also counted six-pointers in the "A" victory.

Mike McCann tackled a Riverside ball carrier in the end zone in the third period for a safety.

"Our line did a great job," head coach Ted Wissen said. "Riverside never came close to scoring."

In the "B" contest Dick Ehlers scored two touchdowns for Arlington. Gary Drake, Wally Bednarz, and Rich Trahan also counted.

Arlington held a 13-0 lead at the intermission.

"Our defense was exceptional this week," coach Tom Walthouse praised. "Riverside never threatened. Tim Shannon, defensive end, played well in his first game. He was injured before the season started.

Pioneer Wins 7-0, Takes PCTL Lead

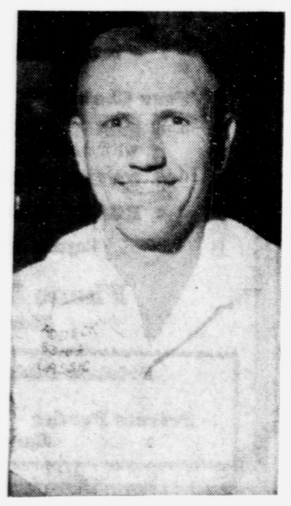
The four-way jam for the top turned into a solo act in Saturday's action in the Paddock Classic Traveling League.

Brim's Pioneer Lanes, part of the quartet clustered at the top the week before, broke loose dramatically with a 7-0 blanking of Karlsen Pharmacy, another of the teams which had been tied for the lead.

Jeffery Lanes made the other big move, taking everything from Morton Pontiac, and dislodging Morton from its portion of first.



TED ZIMMERMAN

In other action — on a night when the scoring was notoriously low for the league — Bill Cook Buick stayed close with a 5-2 final over Concourse Sports Chalet, and Brass Rail hung an identical loss on City Welding Sales & Service.

Pioneer, hosting Karlsen at its Addison house, had enough to whitewash the losers with team games of 861, 952 and 897. Mike Dinschel was far and away the best for Pioneer, and he had a bad third game. Dinschel checked in with 205-242-169-616.

PAT PETERSON was next best for Pioneer with 549. George Schmidt, the league's defending high-average bowler, had a disastrous 515. Best for Karlsen's was Jim Runkle with 548. The pharmacy fivesome was hurt by the absence of Joe Simonis. Scores of 160 were entered for him in the first two games, and Earl Nichols showed up to get 177 for the third game.

Jeffery took fairly close margins from Morton in all three of their games at Jeffery's home alleys, but it was enough to claim all seven points. Bill Harris and Hec Healey led for Jeffery, Harris getting 180-207-219—606 and Healey 181-233-189—603.

Morton, whose George White was tops for the match with 229-202-187—618, was hurt by the absence of Les Zikes Jr. and Bob Glaser. Zikes, in fact, had a 203 average for nine games in the young PCTL season. After White's 618, best was John Miller's 572.

BILL COOK BUICK picked up five points against Sports Chalet at its home Rolling Meadows Bowl to remain just two back of Pioneer. No one in the series on either team cracked 600. The best was a 177-203-201—581 by Tom Kouros of Sports Chalet. Teammate Bob Gill had 578.

Ted Geiersbach had 572 in his three games to lead Bill Cook, with Norb Leja's 554 second best. Both teams had men below 500, but the Buick scores didn't dip quite so low and it made the difference.

AN EXCEPTION TO the evening's rule was Ted Zimmerman. He led the Brass Rail to its home victory over City Welding by stringing together a consistent 206-206-225—637, best series of the night. John Giovannelli contributed 593 to the Brass Rail total, as the team had the best series of the evening — 2863 — and the best single game, 1003.

City Welding had consistency, but not high enough, as its scores ranged from Bill Smith's 533 to Bob Hurwitz' 564.

Brim's Pioneer and Jeffery will settle their dispute for the lead this Saturday night, when they roll in the PCTL's headliner at Jeffery. The Brass Rail and Bill Cook Buick will have it out at Rolling Meadows Bowl in another clash of first division teams; Karlsen Pharmacy and Morton Pontiac will both seek to rebound from shutouts at Beverly Lanes; and City Welding will run into Sports Chalet at Jack Gunnell's.

Lattof Lead Intact

Peggy Harris Collects 633

Peggy Harris went wild on a night when most of the ladies in the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League were toppling pins at a modest clip.

For Peggy, 633 pins fell. For her team, Lattof Motors, first place remained intact. The Lattof ladies squelched Rolling Meadows Bowl, 3-1, missing a 4-0 blanking by a matter of two pins.

Steve's Restaurant hung on, taking care of River Rand Bowl 3-1. And Morton Pontiac gripped third, running the same score against Striking Lanes.

Lattof's was an exception to what happened around the PWCTL Saturday night, getting the best team game with 921 and the best team series with 2641. They were far and away the best, as was Peggy's 255 third game total and 633 series, first 600 series in the women's play this season.

THE SECOND best series of the night was rolled by Harriet Fuchs of Rolling Meadows Bowl. She had 548, while teammate Jean Ladd had 545. Rolling Meadows got its point from Lattof in the second game, which it won narrowly 863-861.

Steve's and River Rand Bowl both had off nights in their match, but fortunately for Steve's, River Rand was off the most. It kept Steve's three points back of Lattof in the loop chase.

The best bowling in the series was achieved by Bonnie Kuhn, who had a 529 series. Lu Lass had 522 for Steve's, while Marge Lindenberg and Ethel Juenver were tops for the losers with 525 and 521.

MORTON Pontiac and Striking Lanes were even cooler, so cool that Morton needed only 765 pins to win the first game, and 2323 to win the point for total pins.

Jo Lindahl was tops for Morton, putting together 159-189-171—519. Nancy Dietz had 519. For Striking, Eunice Whitmore had 483 for tops on her squad.

Striking will host this Saturday's action, which will see league-leading Lattof taking on River Rand Bowl; Steve's facing challenging Morton Pontiac; and Rolling Meadows Bowl and Striking struggling to stay clear of the cellar.

Touchdowns for the Falcons were registered by Jeff Jacoby on an 80 yard kick-off return and Denny Lynch on a 40 yard pass from Rich Gillespie. A kick and a run for extra points both failed.

JV coach Paul Jordan singled out Bob Savage, Phil Redder and Gillespie for their rugged defensive play. Their efforts, however, could not kep the FV record from slipping to 1-1-1.

Next game for Forest View's JV eleven is this Saturday at Conant. Game time is 12 noon.

9 Young Dancers Audition For 'Nutcracker' Ballet

Nine very excited young ladies, ages nine to twelve, traveled down to McCormick Place one recent Sunday afternoon to take part in auditions for the ance of "The Nutcracker" ballet.

Accompanied by their dancing teachers, Marny Monro and Delores Eiler of the Delores dance studios, they hoped to win dancing roles in the Christmas party scene of the ballet that will be presented in 10 performances in the Arie Crown Theater.

Entering the theater where the auditions were being conducted, the girls and their teachers found nearly 500 other young hopefuls, all with the same wish—that they would be among the lucky 40 to be picked.

"WE HAD the opportunity to watch others audition before our turn," said Miss Eiler, "and it didn't take long for us to realize that dance ability alone was not enough to become 'a chosen one.' Judges also were looking for certain types and good stage personalities."

Although the tryouts began at 2:30 p.m., it was about 4:45 that the local ballerinas were summoned to the stage along with 41 other children. The teachers sent them off with a love pat and a reassuring smile.

Miss Monro and Miss Eiler sat down at the back of the theater, telling one another to "relax."

"I HAD A sudden urge to do something," laughed Miss Monro, "so I whacked Delores on the knee and said, 'Wish us luck.' "

When the auditions were over at 6:30, the two teachers and their nine pupils left the auditorium in high spirits. Three of their number had been told to come back for the final auditions, and all shared in their joy.

The ballerinas picked to try again were Annette Kubajak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kubajak, 1725 Bonita Ave., Mount Prospect; Laurie Pedersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pedersen, 804 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights, and Julie Sipal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oldrich Sipal, Route 2, Palatine.

AT THE FINAL auditions Oct. 1, Julie was selected as one of eight dolls, and Laurie was chosen to be an understudy.

A number of boys also went down for the finals, and Luke Bugler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bugler, 420 N. Drury Lane, Arlington Heights, was among those picked to be in the ballet.

Stage Roles Akin to Life

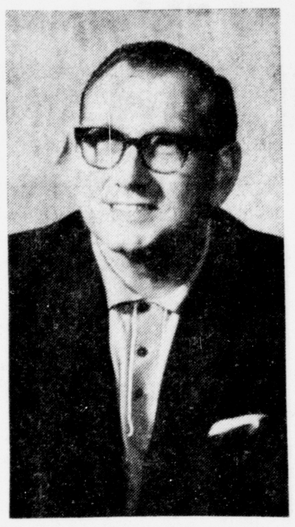
BRUCE DRAKE



RUDY KANDLBINDER

"Getting into character" may be a problem for some actors, but the men in Winston Little Theatre's "Third Best Sport" should have no trouble. In most cases, their daily jobs are very much like those they will be portraying on the stage.

The play, which will be presented Friday and Saturday, Oct. 15 and 16, in Palatine High School's Cutting Hall, deals with business conventions and the unpredictable things that can happen. Trying to outbid the competitor and land that "big one" sometimes makes for very precarious situations, especially when the general manager's wife refuses to conform to the accepted behaviour standards of a lady befitting her position.

Already familiar with the perils of big business deals in his job as sales manager is Chuck Cole of Rolling Meadows, director of "Third Best Sport."

BRUCE DRAKE OF Mount Prospect, in real life an insurance writer, will be seen on stage as the leading man, Doug Sayre, young general manager. Rudy Kandlbinder leaves his job in sales management to become the president of the Norse-Wagner Co., John Wagner.

Dan Yelovich, sales engineer, will get the opportunity to sit on the other side of the desk and be that all important man, the customer, when he portrays Spencer McHenry.

The role of Dr. Lockwood, the philosopher, will be played by Harry Brown, who in real life is president of his own company. Playing Art Underhill, a sales manager, will be Herb Hegenhuber, who is in sales also.

MARTY MARTIN, who during the day is an assistant sales manager, will be an assistant general manager in the part of Chuck Robbins.

As the saying goes, "behind every successful man there is a woman." In "Third Best Sport," the women are driving, ambitious females, eager to climb the social ladder. All except Helen Sayre, played by Betty Kandlbinder of Palatine, who has her own ideas about how a wife should act. Other females in the play are Liz Dumler as Myra McHenry, Barbara Wickline as Amy Underhill and Patti Clark as Marge

Tickets may be obtained by contacting Barbara Wickline, FL 8-1278, or any member of the cast or crew. (Bill

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

TEEN PROMENADERS

Kind of a sad little note came to the desk last week. It was from the Teen Promenaders and read, "The Teen Promenaders club is disbanding. With some of the kids going off to college and some just quitting, there is hardly enough left to be called a club anymore. The money in our treasury we are giving to Wally and Mary Jane Paulsen, who helped us so much but received no pay. If we could get the few remaining members to meet at one of the homes, Harry Glass has said he'd like to call."

Just before deadline time came news that a new club will be forming, and interested teens should call Cindy, 392-3320. The club will have a new name, as yet unannounced, and will meet at 208 N. Wilshire for the time being. Harry Glass will call, and the kids will be meeting every Wednesday night. As further information comes in, we'll spread the word. Until then, Cindy is the gal to contact.

PLAIDS AND CALICOS

Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg dancers have hopped on the "first" bandwagon, reporting that their banner was stolen at the first dance of their new season late last month. They thus join other area clubs boasting (?) the loss of a pennant.

P & C's banner was lifted by Elgin's Lords and Ladies, one of four area clubs whose members accepted the host club's open invitation to "join us for an evening of fun and fine dancing." Three visiting callers were also among guest dancers, but they didn't snitch anything — except a good time.

Despite the thieving ways of their guests to date, Plaids and Calicos again invite all dance enthusiasts to join them for the next session, coming up this Saturday night, when special guest caller will be Jimmy Stewart. Jim will square 'em up at 8:30 in Schaumburg School, located on E. Schaumburg Road. Be there?

Compliments about the unusual decorations at the last dance and credit for all decorations to come go to club presidents, Roger and Anita Folino. They're doing a fine job as club execs too.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

There will be dancing tomorrow night for Arlington Squares and all of their always-welcome guests, meeting for the second time in St. Simon's Episcopal Church, 717 Kirchhoff Rd., Arlington Heights. Reports from those who danced in the church recreation hall for the first time were enthusiastic. Acoustics are fine and so's the floor. Try 'em.

Jim Smith will be at the mike tomorrow night, squaring 'em up at 8:30. Jerry and Dot Daniels will again have a round dance workshop, starting at 7:30. Time for small talk and refreshments will wind up the evening's program.

Beginners' classes, co-sponsored by Arlington Squares, Meadowsquares and the Arlington Heights Park District, begin next Monday. Full information is to be found in the brochure sent last week to all park district residents. Others may call the park district office, CL 3-0620. (A-15

'Birthday Bonus' Prize Rule Changed

"Birthday Bonus has mushroomed so fast, we're going to have to regroup our forces," stated Robert Y. Paddock, promotion director of Paddock Publications. "Almost 6,000 persons have registered their birth dates with us for the Birthday Bonus game in our Sunday Suburbanite, thus decimating our $25 prize fund," he noted.

"As more and more persons joined in on the game, we established a minimum prize of $5 for each check. Last two weeks we handed out $35 each week in this manner," continued Paddock. "This time 13 individuals will be receiving checks. An additional two persons were eligible, but did not drop in to identify themselves."

NEW PRIZE arrangement, effective this Sunday, Oct. 10, will make each of the eligible persons coming in to the office to identify themselves eligible to win "the grand prize" of $25. Cards of those eligible reporting in by Tuesday noon will be shuffled, with one person's name selected to take the entire $25.

Thirteen winners in the Birthday Bonus game for Oct. 3 included:

Mrs. DeLee McNeil, Mount Prospect

Mrs. Helen Wetendorf, Mount Prospect

Yvonne Schulze, Mount Prospect

R. A. Solheim, Jr., Rolling Meadows

Mrs. Elsie K. Weidner, Arlington Heights

Lois Limong, Mount Prospect

Debbie Korcek, Mount Prospect

Mrs. R. Juhre, Arlington Heights

Kimberly Obara, Palatine

Susan McDade, Mount Prospect

Mary Deger, Mount Prospect

Julie Ann Tacchi, Mount Prospect

Nancy Walberg, Rolling Meadows

Two others were eligible but did not come in to claim their prize money.* (B10

Crews at Work on 'Anastasia'

The success of any theatrical production depends not only on those in front of the footlights, but also on the people behind the scenes.

Village Theatre chose its crews for "Anastasia" with extra care for exactly this reason. Production manager Doris Paterson and resident director Richard Tyler selected the heads of crews, then Doris had the job of holding the whole operation together in coherent form, and of seeing that all crews had their jobs done on time.

Stage manager Pat Breitsprecher and her assistant, Judy Owen, take over where Doris Paterson leaves off. They have attended rehearsals from the beginning to learn the play and prompt the actors and will supervise all crews once the production is out of the basketball court at Recreation Park and on stage at Arlington High School.

PAT BREITSPRECHER of Palatine, center, stage manager for "Anastasia," and Judy Owen, also of Palatine, left, her assistant, supervise a rehearsal of Village Theatre's October production as cast member Nan Prince of Arlington Heights observes.

ALL CREWS are dependent on set designer Betty Grayson of Arlington Heights. She informs all crew heads of the dimensions of the set, the period of the play, which for "Anastasia" is the 1920's to 1930's, and the type of decor reminiscent of the Berlin of that era.

The construction crew, headed by Mel Freeman and Jim Paterson, with Dave Breitsprecher, Dave Dove, Jim Smith, Charlie Linde, Marshall Meshberg, and Bruce Meyer, build the set to her specifications.

The set painting crew, headed by Joyce Zeller with Carol O'Dea, Beverly Holden, Marian Malcolmson and Anne Hume, will paint the assembled flats "in a pale pastel color," says Joyce, "with French Provincial mouldings — if the weather clears and we can get to work, that is."

THE SET IS decorated, an operation involving a mad scramble to locate such esoteric items as two icons, a picture of Nicolas II of Russia and a full-length poster of a lady without a face. Beverly Holden has charge of the set decoration, assisted by Betty Brooks, Mary Estrella and Lois Drum.

Furniture, white French Provincial, refinished and recovered in bright colors, is the province of Sheila Baker with Carolyn Burkett and Carol O'Dea, with aid in moving by the father and son team of Arnold and Hank Silver and Dave Breitsprecher.

All properties will be handled by Polly Johnson assisted by Shirley Freeman, Dot Watkins, and Barbara Theil.

COSTUMES FOR "Anastasia" are made to be representative of the 1920-30 era in Europe.

"Skirst in those days were eight to 10 inches off the floor," says Helen Aagaard, head of costumes. "But we're using lots of evening dress — full-length ball gowns, some with trains, and tails and morning coats for the men, which we're renting."

She is assisted by Mary Spellman, Anita Wilkins, Betty Weber, Randy Moses and Shirley Scott.

Make-up poses a special problem, says Janet Hausler, head of the crew.

"WE MUST BUILD beards—beards were very popular in the Europe of the 1920's and 1930's — and we must age some of our characters, as well as keeping everyone looking rosy and healthy under the strong lights." Her assistants are Doris Silver, Binky Wilson, Lee Sechrist, Tom Grisell and Dave Dove.

Al Estrella is in charge of sound.

"Anastasia" production dates: Oct. 15, 16, 17, 22, 23, and 24. For ticket sales call Alice Linde, CL 9-3200, 9-noon weekdays, 7-9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday; block ticket sales, Herb Braden, 259-3790; patron sales, Mary Estrella, 537-1636. (Bill

Afternoon Operalogue Scheduled by Lyric

The Northwest Chapter of Lyric Opera has planned a special Sunday afternoon program at Inverness Country Club Oct. 10.

The chapter will present "Madame Butterfly" at 4 p.m., to be followed by cocktails and dinner for members and their guests who wish to stay.

"This program is in keeping with the tradition of the local chapter to make one program during the season available to opera enthusiasts who are unable to attend the mid-afternoon programs held on week days," said Mrs. Richard Impey, of Arlington Heights, chapter president. "We particularly wish to extend the invitation to husbands and their friends."

MRS. IMPEY has invited as her guest of honor Mrs. Edward Corey, president of the Lyric Opera Guild of Chicago, who will be introduced to local members during the afternoon.

"Madame Butterfly" was chosen for this particular occasion, not only because it is on the repertoire for the Chicago opera season, but because few operas have more universal appeal through its exotic atmosphere and rapturous music, explained Mrs. Impey.

The operalogue weaves, through the use of narration and "live" presentation of certain scenes, the poignant love story of Cho-Cho-San, the geisha who marries Lt. B. F. Pinkerton of the U. S. Navy. It reaches a climax in the third act, which will be sung almost in its entirety in the operalogue.

THE CAST includes Erma Bartling of Barrington, soloist at the Church of the Atonement, who will be Butterfly, and Betty Stroh, also of Barrington and soloist at Salem Evangelical Church, will be the faithful maid, Suzuki. Kay Nighorn, Lorraine Spiller and Ann Gross are Butterfly's girl friends.

The narrator and director is Lois Palermo, who recieved operatic training under Kurt Adler, impressario of the San Francisco Opera Company. The piano transcription of the orchestral score will be played by Helen Shockley, who also worked out the orchestral continuity for the opera.

The sets and costumes were designed and made by the cast. Fujiama was painted by Beryl Zaroslinski of Palatine.

ALTHOUGH "Madame Butterfly" is not thought of as an opera featuring a chorus, Puccini has used a "humming" chorus to delineate the hope and despair of Butterfly during her all night vigil as she awaits Pinkerton's return. The Barrington Women's Chorus and Men's Choral Group will sing this chorus.

Mrs. Frank Seery, co-social chairman of the local chapter, made the arrangement with the Inverness Country Club for the afternoon.

All reservations for the program and for dinner must be made with Mrs. Henry Howland of Inverness by Friday, Oct. 8. There is no guest fee for the musical part of the program. (Bill

Guild Ticket Sales Double Last Year

Two weeks prior to their first production of the season, the Guild Players announced they have sold more than twice as many season tickets as in any previous season.

Several factors apparently have contributed to the increased ticket sales, according to the publicity director Al Bollyn.

"A great stimulus to the sales efforts of Guild members is surely the beautiful new theater facilities of the Lake Park High School auditorium where we will present our plays this season," Bollyn stated.

"EVEN THOSE people in the northwest suburbs who may be only mildly interested in amateur theater productions will enjoy an evening of entertainment in such a well designed theater," he added.

The Guild Players feel their well-balanced selection of plays to be presented this season is another important contributing factor in their successful season ticket sales.

Two performances of the Guild's first play this season, "The Desperate Hours," a melodrama, will be presented Thursday and Friday, Oct. 15 and 16, at the auditorium located on Medinah Road just south of Irving Park Road.

"THE GIRLS in 509," a comedy, will be presented in February and, a light drama, "The Great Sebastians," is to be performed in April.

"As our group matures in amateur theater, our play-reading committees become increasingly critical in selecting plays which they feel have the best entertainment potential for our audiences," Bollyn commented.

Guild Players, originally called the Hoffman Estates Theater Guild, was organized in 1957.

TO ENCOURAGE maximum effort toward the sale of season tickets this year, the guild will award an all-expense weekend for two at a nearby country lodge to the member who has sold the most tickets.

Season tickets can be obtained by calling the Guild Players box office at 894-5044 or 894-3735 or by sending a check for $3.50 to 300 Highland Blvd., Hoffman Estates. Tickets for individual plays are $1.75 each if non-patron seating is available. (Bill

Alexian Auxiliary to Stage Ball Saturday

Itasca Country Club will be the scene for Alexian Brothers Hospital Auxiliary's fund-raising ball, "Hawaiian Holiday," this Saturday night.

A cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. will precede the sit-down dinner to be followed by an evening of dancing to the music of the Chuck Cavallo Orchestra.

Cavallo is the featured accompanist for the weekly fashion shows in the Pump Room of the Ambassador East Hotel.

PROCEEDS FROM the dance will be applied to the $55,000 pledge made by Alexian Brothers Hospital Auxiliary to cover furnishing of the hospital's gift and snack shop, the day nursery and the fourth floor foyer.

Mrs. Edward Lewis' ball chairman, reported response so far has been "gratifying." Reservations are limited. Anyone wishing to attend should contact Mrs. Lewis, 439-1291, or the reservations chairman, Mrs. Robert Fleming, 437-0134.

In less than three years, the hospital auxiliary has raised $15,000 through a variety of activities that has included operation of a canteen on the hospital construction site, selling a home laundry detergent, card parties and dances.

THE AUXILIARY'S volunteer service program is now in the planning stage. An orientation course for anyone who will serve as a volunteer is mandatory.

These courses will be offered during the early winter months, and those interested in this community service may contact Mrs. John Mecking, 773-1396, or area membership chairmen in the Elk Grove Village area, Mrs. Heinicke, 439-1574, or Mrs. Toledo, 439-0588.

New Illinois Law Aimed At Reducing Child Abuse

by DON HEINE
Staff Writer

The physician examines an 18-month-old baby; its bones are broken, its body bruised.

Another accident? No, the doctor believes, some one has beaten the child!

But what should be done to protect the child in the future? It used to be that there was little the doctor could do. If he complained to authorities, he might be open to a law suit from parents.

This is supposed to have changed in Illinois on July 1, when an abused child law went into effect. It requires that a report be made to the state within 24 hours if a physician, or other type of practitioner, knows or suspects that a patient under 16 years of age has been injured or disabled by physical mistreatment.

The law was intended to protect doctors. It says they are presumed to be acting in good faith and are immune from legal action by a parent or other person.

STATEWIDE complaints have been coming in at the rate of one a day. Between July 1 and Sept. 27 reports of abused children numbered 90.

The count appears to include one from Arlington Heights at Northwest Community Hospital. Assistant Administrator Leonard Genung says "it was resolved to every one's satisfaction."

Comments Genung: "It's a good law. . .it freed doctors to report these cases."

All Cook County reports under the abused child law are supposed to be made to the Chicago regional office of the Department of Children and Family Services.

RALPH BAUR, deputy regional director, said he has no breakdown of the number of cases from the suburbs, but there is a report on the first 68 cases in the state.

Forty of these occurred in Cook County. Four of the children died, although doctors declined to say positively that the abuse was the cause of death.

Baur notes that a major portion of the reports are coming from hospitals — 55 out of the 68. Another 11 came from private physicians.

Of the other two, one was reported by a policeman and one by a public aid worker. Baur says including these two in the count was a mistake because the law applies only to specifically named practitioners. Besides physicians and surgeons, the list includes dentists, osteopaths, chiropractors, podiatrists and Christian Scientist practitioners.

OTHER PERSONS still may report if they know of an abused child, although it goes through different channels.

Beatings are the most frequent cause of injury, listed in 37 out of the 68 cases studied.

In other instances children suffered broken bones, varying from cracked ribs to crushed skulls, were deliberately burned, stabbed or molested. They suffered from malnutrition. A report also may be made if a child is denied proper medication.

"Victims were predominantly under two years of age," says Baur.

Children as young as six months have been severely beaten, he adds.

BAUR SAYS IN some instances his agency intervened immediately. Children may be placed in temporary or permanent custody outside the home.

But, he adds, "In a far greater number of cases, children are returned to their parents. Most parents are sorry after it has happened. Most of these are impulsive actions. Not thought out."

Frequently, the abuse comes from emotionally immature parents. Behavior patterns are difficult to change, but the agency does follow up with professional guidance.

How do physicians feel about the new law which adds to the list of legal obligations already on them?

Generally the reaction appears favorable.

ONE DOCTOR ON the staff at Northwest Community Hospital recalled that a lecture on the law was given there a few weeks ago.

He said the law seems to be a good one and it was designed to protect the medical profession, but there has been so little experience with the new law in the suburbs that he is withholding judgment for the present.

In contrast, an enthusiastic endorsement of the law came from Dr. Michael Limosani, head of the pediatrics department at Lutheran General Hospital.

"The law is a good one," he commented. "In the past there was no way for a proper agency to investigate these complaints."

THIS ISN'T intended as a punitive measure, he emphasized. Rather it is intended to help parents, as well as children, and to deal with each case separately. Some parents need education. Others are mentally ill and need care.

Dr. Limosani says that child abuse in the suburbs is uncommon, although far from unknown. The hope is that some day it will be abolished altogether.

An Arlington Heights police officer of eight years experience recalled three serious cases of child abuse. Sgt. Maurice English said that one was a murder by a father, which occurred outside the village limits; another was a beating suffered by a child about seven years old; the third involved an 18-year-old girl, whose eye was blackened.

English notes that most of the cases under the new law don't come directly to attention of the police.

Travel Picture Party Relives Vacation Fun

by DOLORES HAUGH

The weatherman has really been storming it up, and now is the time for a good fire in the fireplace, and party planning that will start the crisp fall season off with a friendly get-together.

Use the lovely items that nature has provided for a theme for your get-togethers, namely the great out-of-doors. Often you have been on a wonderful vacation and have taken pictures, slides or movies of the scenery around to keep your memories fresh and alive, and it is a shame not to share them with your friends.

You will note that it states "share," not "bore." A rule of thumb is a time limit on any type of lecture, small or large, and so with your Indoor-Outdoor Get-Together do just that.

INVITATIONS

The invitations may be a travel folder of the part of the country you have been in, or it may be simply a map cut to fit a standard envelope. After mounting the map on paper, using a bright blue write the following:

Welcome back and glad to see you,
Come on over ——— night.
Bring some pictures, slides or movies,
Surely this summer you've seen the sights.
The fire's bright — a party's due—
Won't be complete without you two. (too)

State time, place and ask that only a certain number of choice slides be shown. Any souvenirs may be brought along, too. Have guests respond so you can time the program.

PREPARATIONS

Be sure you have a screen and a movie projector, and if you do not have all of this equipment, have your friends tote theirs over. They won't mind running a few slides that belong to someone else.

The next thing to see to is a buzzer, bell or timer as you will want this to be fun and not a bore. Six slides each, one roll of movie film or 20 stills (pictures, that is) would be about right for six couples.

DECORATIONS

The buffet will be the center of attraction, although you may wish to get your fall decorations out. Start with the front door and decorate it with a straw mat, basket top or any type of wicker circle. With leaves, plastic mums, a waterproof velvet ribbon and a few ears of Indian corn, all of which are wired together, pull wire through the wicker and loop it for a hanger for your front door.

Make new arrangements for the house with leaves, wheat, corn, polished nuts and bright apples. It gives the house and the housewife a lift, and a party sets a deadline so that she "gets at it."

Use dark brown pottery, if you have it, and a bright orange tablecloth or buy paper ones — they are so pretty and so coordinated right down to the coasters. Pick up the colors in the napkins, then buy a 4-foot length of velvet ribbon in brown, cutting the ends so that you will have two points. About 6 inches up from each end, wire on a group of oak leaves and acorns, and for the centerpiece use the same items in a bright copper or wooden container.

If you are serving a late supper, keep it simple with quick, hot broiled sandwiches, pumpkin pie and coffee. If you want to be clever, fix refreshments typical of your guests' vacation spots and name the dishes for each place visited.

When you have the slides and descriptions, award a small token gift to each couple—something for their next trip, perhaps. Make it a car visor, map holder, compass, etc.

So look around and take a deep breath of Autumn, then share it with your friends and/or your family. Fall is a happy time when nature plants the seeds of Spring. (S

Carole Kleindienst Weds Robert E. Lee on Aug. 28

Pink crepe empire gowns were worn by the attendants of Carole Ann Kleindienst of Mount Prospect for her Aug. 28 marriage to Robert Erwin Lee of Downers Grove, and the two girls carried pink glamellias with lemon leaves. Pink and white glads, mums and carnations adorned the altar of St. Mark Lutheran Church for the 7:30 p.m. ceremony, performed by Rev. David J. Quill in a candlelight setting.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Kleindienst, chose her roommate from nursing school, Bonita Bistolfo of Melrose Park, as maid of honor and the groom's sister, Barbara E. Lee, as her bridesmaid.

THE GROOM, son of Erwin G. Lee and the late Mrs. Lee of Downers Grove, had Rolfe Sick of Downers Grove as best man, while Thomas Hillard of LaGrange Park seated the guests, along with Mr. Sick.

A light ivory silk linen dress with an A-line skirt and fitted bodice was worn by the birde, the neckline, waist and sleeves banded in an imported three-dimensional venice lace. The skirt ended in a watteau train.

In her hair, the bride wore a tiny matching headpiece to hold her 3-tiered veil of silk illusion. She competed her attire with a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis, stephanotis and ivy.

WITNESSING her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kleindienst wore a pale turquoise draped sheath of silk organza with matching accessories and a cymbidium and stephanotis corsage. The groom's stepmother wore a light green avocado 3-piece suit with gold accessories and had a corsage similar to Mrs. Kleindienst's.

The newlyweds greeted 175 guests in the Fireside Room of St. Mark Church after the ceremony. They then left for a 2-week honeymoon in Florida.

NOW AT HOME at 450 Rogers, Downers Grove, they are both employed by area hospitals. The bride was graduated from Prospect High School and Lutheran General and Deaconess Hospital's nursing school and she is now working at Community Memorial Hospital, LaGrange.

The groom attended Northern Illinois University, North Central College and the American Academy of Medical Technology before going to work for Edwards Hospital, Naperville.

Two Big Antique Shows Offer October Bargains

Antique buffs will have their day this week and next in the two shows and sales being held in Barrington and at O'Hare Inn. The Barrington sale, now in progress, Oct. 6, 7 and 8, is being held in the Knights of Columbus Barn on Highway 14 and Kelsey Road, three miles northwest of Barrington.

Sponsored by the Barrington Auxiliary of the Chicago Maternity Center, 20 dealers are exhibiting authentic Federal, Early American and Victorian pieces in the "Rustic Barn." The exhibit includes guns, silver, china and glass.

Next week, Oct. 14 through 17, the second annual O'Hare Inn Antique Exposition and Sale will be held in the motel's convention hall. Under the sponsorship of the Northern Illinois Antique Dealers Association, the collectors from northern Illinois and Chicago. Formed in 1945, the association has been sponsoring shows since 1962.

Dan Jacks, executive director says, "Such shows make it convenient for the public to see a million dollars worth of antiques all under one roof instead of driving the countryside to see them." Jacks said that the demand for antiques is increasing each year as "even the modern-minded" now prefer to include an antique or two in their decorating schemes.

Pat Logans Mark 50th Anniversary

Fifty years ago in Motherwell, Scotland, 24-year-old Patrick Logan took as his bride a young lady he had met at a dance, Mary Anne Kelly, and last month the couple marked their golden wedding anniversary.

It wasn't too many years following their marriage that the young Logans packed up bag and baggage and their first three children and moved to the United States. They settled in Chicago in 1923 and it was in Chicago that their fourth child was born.

The couple moved to Arlington Heights in 1952 where they make their home at 831 S. Evergreen. Now retired from the Santa Fe Railroad and School District 214, Mr. Logan spends his time "farming" in the back yard and his huge cabbages are the envy of his neighbors.

The couple's anniversary day began with a renewal of their vows in an 11 a.m. jubilee mass celebrated by Rev. John J. Robinson W.F. in Our Lady of the Wayside Church, Arlington Heights. That evening, 130 guests greeted the couple at a reception at the Diplomat in Chicago. Among the well-wishers were the couple's daughter, Mrs. Susan Knoll of Bellwood, and their three sons, Terrence and Steven of Arlington Heights and Michael, a Chicago police sergeant. The Logans also have nine grandchildren. (S

Cook Creates Own Chicken Cacciatore Recipe

TEMPTING AND TASTY is the elegant Chicken Cacciatore prepared by Mrs. William J. Staiger of Arlington Heights. This good cook has been making this recipe for 20 years and it continues to be a family favorite.

Chocolate Eclairs An Elegant Dessert

By LOIS SEILER

A few inquiries from Mrs. William J. Staiger of an Italian girl regarding the ingredients in Chicken Cacciatore led her to devise her own recipe for this appealing dish.

"That was some 20 years ago," said Mrs. Staiger, "and we've liked it so well I still make the same recipe."

"It is an excellent dinner for guests," said Mrs. Staiger, "as the recipe can easily be doubled or tripled and there is no watching or last minute fuss."

In her recipe browned chicken is simmered in a tomato sauce that is seasoned with oregano, garlic and sherry wine. Mushrooms and ripe olives give additional flavor and texture.

For an average size family, the chicken can be cooked on top of the stove; for a large group it can be baked in a large roasting pan in the oven.

BECAUSE Chicken Cacciatore has such a savory gravy, Mrs. Staiger recommends serving it with noodles or spaghetti.

"A combination salad with an oil and wine vinegar dressing and hot buttered French Bread are also nice accompaniments," she added.

For dessert, we suggest this good cook's elegant Chocolate Eclairs.

She makes the eclairs with a basic cream puff recipe which is easy to prepare and almost failure-proof. They are filled with a vanilla custard made from a packaged pudding mix, and for extra special occasions Demetra Staiger folds whipped cream into the custard.

A CHOCOLATE icing that is not too sweet, yet smooth and glossy, is spread over the tops of the eclairs.

Refrigerated until served, these eclairs are a delicious afternoon, evening or dinner dessert. And any left-overs even taste good the next day.

In addition to her homemaking duties, Mrs. Staiger works in the accounting department of the Pure Oil Co. She is also a member of the Women's Society of the First Methodist Church.

The Staigers live at 323 S. Donald in Arlington Heights. They have three children: Ricky, 16, a junior at Prospect High; Bill, 11, who is in sixth grade at Miner Junior High, and a married daughter, Nancy Haywood (Mrs. G. Eugene), who lives with her husband and baby daughter, Debra, in Minot, N. D.

CHICKEN CACCIATORE

1 2½-pound frying chicken, cut in pieces
4 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon Accent
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon oregano
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can tomato paste
¼ cup water
1 4-ounce can mushrooms, drained
1 4-ounce can sliced ripe olives
¼ cup sherry

Brown chicken lightly in hot oil. Sprinkle with Accent, salt, oregano and garlic.

Combine tomato paste and water. Pour over chicken. Cover and cook until tender, about one hour, adding mushrooms, olives and wine the last 15 minutes. Serves 4 to 5.

CHOCOLATE ECLAIRS

½ cup butter
1 cup boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
4 eggs

Add butter to boiling water in a saucepan over direct heat. Add sifted flour and salt all at once and stir vigorously until mixture leaves the sides of pan in a compact mass.

Remove from heat; add eggs one at a time, beating vigorously after each addition. Continue beating (with plenty of elbow grease) until batter is smooth and free of lumps. Batter should be stiff enough to hold shape when dropped from a spoon.

Drop by tablespoonful on greased baking sheeet. Pop into hot oven, 450 degrees F, and bake for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 375 degrees and continue baking 25 minutes longer. Cool the baked puffs, cut off tops and remove any batter from inside the puffs that is not fully baked. Makes one dozen. Fill with cream filling; replace tops and ice with chocolate icing.

To make the filling, prepare two packages vanilla custard pudding according to package directions. This will fill 12 puffs. For special occasions, use only 3 cups milk when preparing the pudding. When pudding is cool, fold in ½ pint whipping cream, whipped.

Frost with the following chocolate icing:

1 tablespoon melted butter
¾ cup sifted confectioners sugar
1½ tablespoons water
1 teaspoon corn syrup
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 ounce unsweetened chocolate, melted

Blend butter, sugar and water together. Add corn syrup, vanilla and chocolate. Mix well. Ice top of eclairs and refrigerate until served.

Week's Best Food Buys

Retail meat prices are holding with featured food discounts mostly on beef and poultry. Pork slipping too.

Eggs are lower, fryers are cheap but butter continues higher trend. Few values in fresh produce. Weather conditions now are boosting prices of canned tomato products.

Fresh fruit and vegetable bargains are scarce compared with a year ago even for relative values noted on October's calendar of produce values.

HERE ARE best buys in produce:

Melons: casaba, Crenshaw, Persian, honeydew.

Fruit: apples, bananas, coconuts, cranberries, figs, grapefruit, grapes, oranges, pears, persimmons, and pomegranates.

Vegetables: beans, beets broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery cabbage, eggplant, endive, kohlrabi, mushrooms, okra, onions, parsnips, peppers, potatoes, pumpkins, squash, sweetpotatoes, turnips, and rutabagas.

Meats: stew beef, ground beef, chuck roasts, beef steaks; pork loin roasts, pork steaks, chops, ham.

Poultry: fryers, large eggs, roasting chickens, turkey.

Garnish Plus

Radishes are mostly used as a garnish, yet they have a good amount of vitamin C, which is always available since, it is not diminished by cooking. Four small radishes, 40 grams, provide a seventh of the recommended daily allowance of vitamin C.

Radishes also have a good quota of iron, one milligram to 3½ onces, a tenth of the recommended daily allowance.

Give New Twist to 'Burgers

Cheeseburgers are a traditional favorite with most families so here's a recipe to glamorize the popular sandwich.

These hamburgers are unique because "the works" are all combined right with the hearty beef, sweet onions ketchup, mustard and tangy American blue cheese are cooked with the beef on the bun. They are simple to make and even can be frozen for last minute treats.

THE WORKS

1 pound ground beef
1 onion, coarsely grated
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon mustard
¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese (about 1¼ ounces)
4 hamburger buns, split and buttered

Combine the beef with onion, catsup, Worcestershire sauce, mustard and American blue cheese. Divide the beef mixture into 8 equal portions and mound on each bun half. Place the buns on a cookie sheet or shallow pan and broil about 4-5 inches from heat until done. Serves 4.

Junior Volunteers Cited for Service

Junior volunteers contributed a total of 19,499 hours of service to Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, during the past year.

The 60 Candystripers and Handystripers serving 100 hours or more received awards recently. They contributed a total of 8,350 hours, with one girl, Joanne Rank, 706 Glenshire Road, Glenview, receiving the gold pin for 500 hours.

"Young boy and girl volunteers bring to the hospital a warmth and enthusiasm that is needed," said Mudge Burrows, director of volunteers.

"In offering their service, they not only help their community and the patients in the hospital," she continued, "but they also help themselves by learning to assume community responsibilities and to care for the welfare of their fellow man."

DURING THE YEAR girls served in such areas as the control and reception desks, gift shop, central service, admitting, outpatient, research library, cardiology, physical therapy and hematology. Boys installed television sets and worked in central service, hematology and heart research.

"One hundred Candystripers and Handystripers will continue to aid Lutheran General during the school year. They'll work after school and on weekends in nine different areas," commented the director. (S

GOP Women Launch Membership Teas

Wheeling Township Women's Republican Club will hold a series of teas during the month of October in place of one annual membership tea. Chairman Mrs. Donald Marquis explains that the neighborhood teas on different dates enable guests and prospective members to meet in smaller groups and become acquainted with board and club members in their own neighborhoods.

This arrangement will give the board a better opportunity to explain the functions of the organization and to tell of the club's accomplishments and aspirations.

THE FIRST TEA was held in the home of Mrs. Albert Miller, 501 S. Patton, Arlington Heights, yesterday (Wednesday).

State Senator John A. Graham of Barrington will be an honored guest at each of the teas. Until re-apportionment, Wheeling Township was not in Senator Graham's district, so those in attendance will have an opportunity to meet him.

OTHER CLUB members who will host teas are Mrs. William Andrews, Prospect Heights, Mrs. Daniel Congreve, Mount Prospect; Mrs. Harry J. Jenkins, Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. Fred Leydig, all of Arlington Heights.

Attendance is by invitation only. Republican women interested in membership may call the membership chairman, Mrs. Roger Wilson, 392-6321.(S

Soft-Type Margarine Makes Pop-Ins Light

Merry Pop-Ins, a modern version of popovers, can't fly —but they are so fluffy they seem lighter than air. These jet-age popovers owe their lightness and flavor to the new soft-type margarine.

The soft texture is possible because it is so high in liquid safflower oil. Thanks to the high percentage of liquid safflower oil, this soft-type margarine is the lowest in saturated fat of any spead—even the corn oil ones.

For baking, soft-type margarine is a natural; it can be spooned out and measured without requiring softening at room temperature. Used in popovers, it blends readily with the eggs. And soft-type margarine makes it simple to coat the custard cups, too.

MERRY POP-INS

4 tablespoons soft-type margarine
6 or 7 eggs (1½ cups)
2 cups milk
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt

With electric mixer or rotary beater, beat together soft-type margarine and eggs in large bowl until margarine is well dispersed and eggs are foamy. Add milk. Gradually beat in flour and salt until smooth. Lightly but evenly coat the inside of 10 to 12 popover cups with soft margarine; fill with batter to within ½ inch of tops.

Place cups in shallow baking pan. Bake in 375 degree F. oven 1 hour and 10 minutes until tops are firm, crisp and brown. Remove immediately from cups and place on rack or across top of cups so that the bottoms will not steam and become soft. Serve immediately or keep piping hot and crisp in a warm oven. Yield: 10 to 12 giant popovers. (SH

Avocados Plentiful

Avocado lovers, alarmed at the prospect of being deprived of their favorite fruit as a result of Hurricane Betsy's destruction of this year's Florida crop, can put away their fears.

A bountiful California harvest will more than meet demands not only of all normal markets for California fruit, but also for those markets usually supplied by Florida, according to the manager of the California Avocado Advisory Board.

At prices expected to remain firm, the California fruit will start moving in volume by mid-November, including shipments to markets usually supplied by Florida growers.

The combined volume produced by California and Florida in the 1964-65 crop year was approximately 77 million pounds. For 1965-66, California alone expects to produce in excess of 100 million pounds of avocados.

How to Wrap Fresh Chicken For Freezing

To freeze fresh chicken, package halves together as a whole bird or package each half separately, advises the National Broiler Council. If halves are packed together, place a double piece of freezer paper between them.

It is best to freeze giblets separately, but they may be frozen with halves if the halves are to be used within three months. To freeze giblets with halves, wrap them in moisture-vapor-resistant material and place them in body cavity. Place halves in freezer bag or wrap in moisture vapor-resistant material.

To store a whole fresh bird, wrap in moisture vapor-resistant material and press wrappings close to bird to force air out.

When you freeze chicken pieces, they will thaw more quickly if each piece is placed in a fold of the freezer wrapping material. (SH

Hush Puppies Good With Fried Fish

Serving crispy corn meal balls with fried fish is a southern custom. These crisp balls, called "hush puppies," got their name from hunters and fishermen in the deep South who used to quiet their barking dogs at meal time by throwing scraps of corn meal batter to them and shouting, "Hush, puppy, hush!"

Here is today's version using two modern convenience foods—corn muffin mix and frozen fish fillets.

SOUTHERN FRIED FISH WITH HUSH PUPPIES

2 lbs. fresh or frozen fish fillets (ocean perch, cod, haddock, sole or flounder)
2 packages (12 oz.) corn muffin mix
4 eggs
1 cup chopped sweet onion
2/3 cup milk
1 quart (about) fat for deep frying

If fish is frozen, let thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Open package of corn muffin mix and measure 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons of mix onto a piece of waxed paper. Break one egg onto a flat dish and beat it lightly. Dip fillets (dust them with flour first, if you like) into egg, then into corn muffin mix and set aside. Put remaining mix into bowl. Add onion, remaining egg, and milk. Stir just long enough to blend. Batter should drop in "dollops" from spoon.

Heat fat in a Dutch oven or deep skillet :it should be at least two - thirds of an inch deep). When it is very hot, but still not smoking, drop corn-meal mixture in by spoonfuls to make six hush puppies. Fry about four minutes per side, turning carefully with slotted spoon or turner, until deep golden brown and done through. Remove and drain on paper toweling. (Keep warm in very low oven if desired.) Remove any bits of batter from fat before proceeding. Next, add corn muffin-coated fillets to fat and cook three minutes per side. (You will probably need two fryings.) Drain on paper toweling and serve to eight.

Sour Cream Used to Season Pot Roast

There are more than 10 meat cuts that can be used for pot roast, but the most common ones are the arm or blade cuts which come from the shoulder (chuck) section.

Arm pot roast can be identified by the small "o" shaped bone, while blade cuts have a long slender bone.

Cook covered tightly and simmer slowly to tenderness.

POT ROAST HUNGARIAN STYLE

3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot roast
¼ cup flour
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 clove garlic, minced
1 large onion, sliced
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup water
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup dairy sour cream
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
Cooked noodles, if desired

Combine ¼ cup flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add garlic, onion, celery, water and tomato sauce. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 to 3½ hours or until meat is tender.

Remove pot roast to heated platter. Thicken cooking liquid with 2 tablespoons flour. Stir in sour cream and parsley. Cook just until heated through. Serve as gravy, with cooked noodles, if desired. 8 to 10 servings.

Try These Sandwich Fillings

Filling space in the packed lunch day after day calls for variety and ingenuity. Here are two new fillings for sandwiches that go to school.

TUNA DILLIES

1 (7 ounce) can tuna, flaked
½ cup finely chopped cabbage
¼ cup grated carrots
¼ cup creamy slaw dressing
¼ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon dill seeds

Combine flaked tuna, cabbage, carrots, slaw dressing, salt, celery salt, Worcestershire sauce and dill seeds.

Yield: 1-1/3 cups, or filling for 6 sandwiches.

EGG 'N NUTS

1 cup chopped hard-cooked eggs
¼ cup chopped walnuts or pecans
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
3 tablespoons creamy slaw dressing

Combine eggs, nuts, salt, celery salt and slaw dressing.

Yield: 1 cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches. (SH

Liven Meals With Relish

As a lively accompaniment to fall and winter meals, try this relish made from tomatoes and green peppers.

FRESH PEPPER RELISH

6 lbs. firm ripe tomatoes
1½ cups cider vinegar
2 tablespoons mixed pickling spice
1½ lbs. (6) medium-size green peppers, finely chopped
1 cup finely chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped celery
2 cups light brown sugar
¼ cup salt

Wash, peel, quarter and seed tomatoes. Put through food chopper using coarse blade. Place in a colander and let stand until all liquid is removed. In the meantime, heat vinegar to boiling; add mixed pickling spice; cool and strain.

Place tomato pulp in a 4-quart saucepan, add strained spiced vinegar, stir in remaining ingredients. Cook over low heat until mixture has thickened, about 1 hour 30 minutes. Pack in hot sterilized jars; seal at once. Allow to stand 24 hours before using for flavor to develop. Approximately 2 quarts.

Appetite Reducer

When starch, as in potatoes, is substituted for sugar in the diet, appetite is reduced, according to nutrition research studies. For this and other reasons, potatoes are valuable in a reducing diet. They also provide a lot of vitamins and minerals.

Valerie Page Becomes Mrs. John A. Phillips

A romance which began on the campus of Southern Illinois University culminated in the Sept. 11 marriage of an Arlington Heights girl, Valerie Kay Page, and John A. Phillips of Benton, Ill. The bride, daughter of the Robert Pages, 901 N. Dunton, recently received an associate degree as legal secretary at SIU, and her bridegroom has completed his junior year there.

Their wedding was planned for 4 o'clock in the afternoon in St. John United Church of Christ, Arlington Heights, with a reception immediately following in Palatine Fireman's Hall for 125 guests.

TWO COLLEGE roommates of the bride took part in the wedding festivities, Miss Roseann Parrillo of Melrose Park as a bridesmaid and Miss Barbara Heidel of St. Louis as soloist. The bride's sister, Diane Page, was maid of honor, and the second bridesmaid was Miss Judy Stryker of Deerfield, her cousin.

A college roommate of the groom, Arthur Price of Grant Park, Ill., was his best man for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Robert McDonald. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Phillips, came from their Benton home for the wedding, Mrs. Phillips attired in a beige 2-piece brocade dress with matching accessories. She and Mrs. Page, who wore aqua chiffon and aqua accessories, had white glamellia corsages.

FOR HER WEDDING day, the bride made her white chantilly lace and silk on satin gown with detachable chapel train. The bodice of lace had a scooped neckline and long sleeves and was complemented by a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. The skirt of silk on satin was bell-shaped and floor-length.

A crown of pearls set with crystal teardrops held her silk illusion veil in place, and her crescent bouquet was composed of white orchids with miniature white roses and ivy.

THE BRIDAL attendants all wore coral chiffon empire-styled gowns, floor-length, with matching bow headpieces centered with a chiffon rose. Their bouquets were sprays of coral fuji mums with smilax trim.

Seating the guests were Gary Stryker of Deerfield and David Majewski of Palatine, both cousins of the bride.

After a week's honeymoon in the Black Hills of South Dakota, the couple are living in Herrin, Ill. (S

Honeymoon in Florida For Mt. Prospect Pair

A 3-week honeymoon in Miami Beach followed the Sept. 4 wedding of a Mount Prospect couple, Jennifer Lynn Joern and James John Spinello. The ceremony took place at 5 o'clock in the First Methodist Church, Arlington Heights, with a reception later for 300 at Golden Acres Country Club. The couple returned from Florida in time for the groom to begin his senior year at Northwestern University.

Both are Prospect High School graduates, and the bride is now employed locally as a secretary for Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. They are residing at 9052 Federal Court, Des Plaines.

DAUGHTER OF Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Joern, 522 S. Emerson St., the bride was given in marriage by her father. As she approached the altar for the double ring ceremony, she stopped at the front pew to present her mother with a white rose and a kiss.

After the ceremony, she stopped again, this time at the front pew occupied by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Spinello, 424 S. Wa-Pella, to present her new mother-in-law with a white rose and a kiss.

She wore a gown of white ottoman faille, princess styled with cabucci sleeves edged in lace, bell shaped skirt and a chapel train. Three bows accented the back waistline. Her 3-tiered veil was attached to an open crown of pearls and rosebuds, and she carried a bouquet of white plumaria with ivy.

HER ATTENDANTS, all gowned alike in floor-length riviera pink shantastic, were Sandra Joern, her sister, as maid of honor and Barbara Jones of Des Plaines and Nancy Abels of Marengo as bridesmaids. Their dresses were edged at the waistline and on the sleeves with embossed roses, and they carried deep red roses, pink and white carnations with ivy in their bouquets.

Flower girl LaJaun Gregory, 3, of Palatine, wore a dress similar to the adult attendants, in pink shantastic, and carried a basket of roses and carnations.

The mothers of the bridal pair chose blue and beige for their attire. Mrs. Joern's 2-piece dress was of blue silk, hand-beaded on the bodice, and with it she wore a white hat and had a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Spinello chose a 2-piece beige silk organza sheath dress embroidered in white, a green hat and a corsage of green cymbidiums.

REV. GERALD Robinson united the couple in marriage, and the bridal party was then escorted out of the sanctuary by Joseph Peluso as best man and Calvin Pierson and Dennis Daniels as ushers. All are from Mount Prospect.

Robert Bowker, a close friend of the couple, was wedding soloist, also appearing at the reception to sing their favorite song, "More," as the newlyweds began the first dance. (Jenart(S

Mary Mockenhaupt Returns To College as Mrs. Daly

The former Mary Barbara Mockenhaupt of 420 S. Belmont Ave., Arlington Heights, timed her late summer marriage so that she returned to classes at Western Illinois University in Macomb as Mrs. Brian Eugene Daly. The couple's wedding on Aug. 28 was followed by a week's honeymoon at Mackinac Island before their return to school as newlyweds.

The bride, daughter of the Jerome Mockenhaupts, is a junior at Western Illinois, and the groom, son of Mrs. E. F. Daly of Chicago, is a senior there.

THE RITES were performed at noon in Our Lady of the Wayside Church, Arlington Heights, by Rev. Harold O'Hara. The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Connie Mockenhaupt, was soloist for the double ring nuptials.

A white silk organza dress was the bride's choice for her wedding attire. The simply styled dress had a pearl applique motif on the bodice, and the skirt fell into a chapel train. A headpiece of miniature white orchids set with seed pearls held her illusion veil in place.

Her bouquet was a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and lilies of the valley.

MOSS GREEN chiffon dresses tied at the waistline with narrow dark green velvet ribbon were worn by the bridal attendants. Their bouquets were composed of yellow shasta daisies with pink rosebuds in the center of each nosegay.

Lynn Mockenhaupt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Karen Daly, the groom's sister, and Donna Cunningham and Susan Lepinski, both of Arlington Heights.

THEIR ESCORTS were James Weaver, who was also best man; John Mockenhaupt, the bride's brother, John Ockert of Roseville, Ill., and John Van Kirk of Des Plaines. The latter three also seated the guests.

For the wedding and buffet luncheon which followed, the bride's mother wore a pink lace sheath dress with a matching orchid corsage. Mrs. Daly wore a brown and gold brocade dress and a brown orchid corsage.

The luncheon reception took place at Arlington Carousel, where 100 guests congratulated the newlyweds. (S

College Chapel Is Scene Of Land-Miller Nuptials

Beck Chapel on the campus of Indiana University was the scene Sept. 5 of a double ring wedding service in which Raymond Frederick Miller, son of the Delbert L. Millers, 411 E. Fairview, Arlington Heights, took as his bride, Miss Nancy Elizabeth Land, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maurice Kivett of Clinton, Ind. The couple met on the campus, and both are now in their senior year at the University.

Rev. Kenneth Spilman officiated at the 2:30 ceremony which was attended only by family members and a few close friends. The reception followed in the Federal Room of Indiana Memorial Union Building.

Dr. Kivett escorted his daughter to the mum-decorated altar. Ivory spun satin was used for the bride's costume suit; her matching pillbox hat was trimmed in lace and pearls with a circular veil, and she carried an Edwardian bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

IN HER SHOE, the bride wore the same sixpence worn by her sister-in-law, Nancy Miller Tippy, at her wedding last November. She also wore a blue ring worn by the groom's mother and sister at their weddings.

Miss Beth Price, cousin of the bride from Terre Haute, was the bride's only attendant. Her ensemble was of moss green velvet, styled in empire lines, with matching headpiece and shoes. She carried green fuji mums.

The bride's mother chose a beige lace suit with matching accessories and a purse corsage of cymbidium. Mrs. Miller was in a turquoise lace suit with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of cymbidium.

The groom's brother-in-law, James Tippy of North Aurora, was best man and ushers were Frank Kivett, brother of the bride, Richard Daeschner of Arlington Heights and James Hendricks, a fraternity brother of the groom, also from Arlington Heights.

The newlyweds honeymooned for a week in Virginia, and they are now at home in Apt. 1008, Tulip Tree House, Bloomington, Ind.

The bride, a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, is majoring in social service, while the groom, a member of Phi Delta Theta, is majoring in the School of Business. Mr. Miller was graduated from Arlington High School. (S

David Baughman Claims Vocalist as His Bride

Dance tunes became romantic tunes for Sue Ellen Izor and David B. Baughman whose marriage Sept. 4 culminated a courtship that began in a dance band. The bride, daughter of the J. W. Izors of Princeton, Ind., is the vocalist for her bridegroom's band, the Aragons of Evansville, Ind. Mr. Baughman, son of the M. Eugene Baughmans, 517 Banbury Road, Arlington Heights, is a graduate of Arlington High School, and in March will be graduated from Evansville College.

The couple's wedding took place at 11 a.m. in St. Joseph Catholic Church in Princeton where ferns, pink carnations and red roses decorated the altar. Officiating at the double ring service was Fr. Adolph Egloff.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza over taffeta gown. Fashioned sheath style, the dress featured a monk's cape with chapel train bordered in embroidered silk organdy falling from the shoulders. Her waterfall veil of silk illusion was attached to a organza petal headpiece edged with seed pearls. Her bouquet was of white roses and ivy.

MISS Janet Abbott of Princeton served as the bride's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Janet Baughman and Janet Izor, sisters of the bridal couple. All wore identical empire gowns fashioned with pink organza bodices and crepe skirts of cranberry. For headpieces they wore crownless pillboxes with veils and clusters of berries and they carried bouquets of pink carnations and red roses.

Serving the groom as best man was James Hansen of Arlington Heights. Ushers were Randy Fleischhauer, also of Arlington Heights, Jess Bohler, Pat Ziemer and John Fickas, all of Evansville, Ind.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlors and a buffet was served to out-of-town guests in the Princeton Country Club. Mrs. Izor chose a pale pink brocade suit dress with cocoa accessories and a large bronze mum corsage. Mrs. Baughman was in an emerald green silk twill sheath and green sequinned pillbox. Her corsage was of white rosebuds.

The newlyweds are now at home at 1907 Lincoln Ave. in Evansville. The bride, a 1965 graduate of Princeton High School, will attend Evansville College this fall. Her bridegroom is member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity and serves as manager for the Aragon Dance Band. (S

Pi Beta Phi Adds Style Show To Oct. 12 Arrowcraft Sale

ARROWCRAFT ARTICLES, handmade by mountain folk in Gatlinburg, Tenn., are examined by Mrs. Nat T. Burfeind and Mrs. Edward H. Clay, members of the Arlington Heights Pi Phi alumnae group, and 20-month-old Laura Kennicott. The Arrowcraft will be for sale Tuesday, Oct. 12, in Arlington Heights VFW Hall. The affair will also include a fashion showing from the Hope Chest in Arlington Heights.

PI BETA PHI

Unusual handmade gifts and items for the home will be offered to the public with the annual selling of Arrowcraft for Pi Beta Phi's philanthropic project in the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee. The sale will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 12, in the VFW Hall in Arlington Heights.

As an added attraction this year the fraternity in conjunction with the Hope Chest of Arlington Heights, is presenting a style show. These new fall and winter fashions are to be modeled at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the downstairs hall of the VFW. Refreshments will be served at all times.

FORTY-EIGHT years ago Pi Beta Phi established the first fraternal philanthropic project, a one room school, in Gatlinburg, Tenn. The public school grew to include all grades, an accredited high school and a major arts and crafts school. Having filled the educational needs, the fraternity found the native crafts with which it could further help the mountain people. These homecrafts, called Arrowcraft, are sold through the members of the fraternity. "In this way Pi Beta Phi has helped to improve and preserve a way of life and at the same time bring to national acclaim the beauty of their weaving, pottery, woodcarving, basketry, and other crafts," commented members of the sorority.

Pi Phi's of this area invite the public to see and purchase from their display of American culture and attend the style show. A small donation will be asked at the door.

"INVESTING AND YOU" will be the topic of the program given by Robert Dugene at the regular monthly meeting of the Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club. The meeting begins at 8 p.m. Wednesday Oct. 13, in the home of Mrs. Lawrence H. Brown, 7 N. Forrest Ave., Arlington Heights.

New members in the area who have not been contacted are welcome and are asked to contact Mrs. Brown, 259-4039, for further information.

PANHELLENIC

There will be no need for a fortune teller to predict a day of coffee, cards, and congeniality for Northwest suburban Panhellenic women and friends, according to Ways and Means Chairman Mrs. Robert Green, a Gamma Phi Beta alumna, who this week announced the Continental Breakfast and Cards Benefit. The party is planned for Thursday, Oct. 28 at the Arlington Carousel restaurant, Euclid Avenue at Rohlwing Road in Arlington Heights.

The Continental Breakfast buffet will be served from 9:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. "Cards" and "congeniality" will continue through the morning until noon.

Proceeds from the benefit will be used by the Ways and Means Committee to finance an annual information tea for high school girls and their mothers, and to start a Panhellenic Scholarship Fund.

TICKETS ARE available through each of Panhellenic member sororities or through Mrs. Green, FL 8-1022, and her assistant Mrs. Richard Batts, FL 8-5036. All women in the Northwest suburban area are invited. This is the second annual benefit planned by the Northwest Suburban Area Panhellenic sorority alumnae chapter in this area.

Next meeting of the group will be held Thursday, Oct. 14, in Old Orchard Country Club. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m., and delegates and their alternates may call Mrs. Verne Whitnell, CL 3-1150 for their reservations by Tuesday, Oct. 12.

DELTA GAMMA

Lemon bisque, crabmeat casserole and snowflake salad will be among favorite recipes used at the 1 p.m. luncheon meeting of Northwest Suburban Delta Gamma alumnae Monday, Oct. 11, in the Park Ridge home of Mrs. Leslie L. Chandler. Alumnae have been asked to bring two copies of their culinary effort as a possible addition to the National Foundation Cookbook. Proceeds from this compilation will be used to aid the blind.

Alumnae from Park Ridge and Des Plaines will bring casserole or hamburg dishes while Arlington Heights and Palatine women will contribute salads. Mount Prospect and Barrington members will supply desserts.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Mrs. John Holmes, 392-6640, may be called for further information.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

Plans for a Thanksgiving coffee for collegians and other activities will be included on the agenda Monday, Oct. 11, when Northwest Suburban Alumnae of Sigma Sigma Sigma meet in the Hoffman Estates home of Mrs. Wade Harris. Co-hostess Mrs. Edward Spacapan, CL 3-8227, may be called by those wishing to attend. (S

Northwest suburban Alpha Phi Alumnae will celebrate their founding at a luncheon Wednesday, Oct. 13, at the home of Mrs. John Bannister, 821 Dresser Drive, Mt. Prospect.

The first Alpha Phi chapter was established in 1872 at Syracuse University in New York. Today Alpha Phi's have 85 collegiate chapters in the United States and Canada. There are 232 alumnae groups actively supporting the collegiate chapters and more than 100 alumnae live in this area.

Meetings are regularly held the third Wednesday evening of the month. Those unable to attend the evening meetings are invited to join the group for the 1 o'clock potluck luncheon. Mrs. Larry Dickerson, CL 9-0844, is taking reservations. (S

"T'S IN THE CARDS" comments Mrs. Verne Whitnell of Arlington Heights to Mrs. Joseph Meyer of Rolling Meadows as they plan Northwest Suburban Panhellenic's Thursday, Oct. 28, continental breakfast and cards benefit. Mrs. Whitnell of Chi Omega is program chairman of the group and Mrs. Meyer of Alpha Delta Pi is president. The benefit will be held in the Arlington Carousel Restaurant.

Inverness Gardeners Name Top Flower Show Winners

Despite cloudy skies and inclement weather last Thursday, a large crowd was reported at the "Travels with Charley" flower show sponsored by the Garden Club of Inverness. Those who had luncheon at Inverness Golf Club were greeted by Charley, the French poodle who wagged a cheery "hello" from the window of his camper parked in front of the club.

Flower arrangements were featured in the homes of Mrs. Robert Koenig, Mrs. R. B. McManus, Mrs. J. E. Templeton, Mrs. O. B. Smith and the Four Silos.

Blue ribbon winners in the artistic section of the show were Mrs. Robert Means, Mrs. Kenneth Jenks, Mrs. James Burns, Mrs. Walter Maloney, Mrs. Ford McGibbeny, Mrs. Thomas Short, Mrs. Alex McConachie, Mrs. Robert Elrick, Mrs. Richard Hough and Mrs. John Devol.

The award of distinction for the show went to Mrs. Walter Maloney and the tri-color ribbon went for the second consecutive year to Mrs. John Devol.

Mrs. Russell Christensen of Skokie earned the blue ribbon in the judge's invitational class, and Arlington Heights Garden Club won the blue ribbon for table settings entered by garden clubs. Mrs. Charles Mosser was in charge of this exhibit.

A DISPLAY OF horticulture entries boasted 98 blue ribbons, 53 red ribbons, 40 yellow ribbons and 10 white ribbons. Two awards of merit for outstanding horticulture were given this year, ofr garden grown plants to Mrs. William Melum for her Saratoga rose and for greenhouse grown plants to Mrs. Fred Channer for her orchids.

In the junior division, 12 blue ribbons, 6 reds, 7 yellows and 12 whites were given. Gary Gunderson won the junior achievement award for his decorated pumpkin.

The skies cleared somewhat during the afternoon, making a more enjoyable setting for the tour of the Japanese garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hicks, which was the educational exhibit of the show.

Large Wedding Party Attends Judith Triebull, John Olsen

A Roselle couple, Judith Mildred Triebull and Einar John Olsen, were married in their hometown Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church on Aug. 28 and are making their home in the nearby suburb of Mount Prospect.

The parents of the newlyweds are the Herbert T. Triebulls of 20 W. Rosemont and the Einar O. Olsens of 316 E. Berkshire. Several members of both families served in the large wedding procession which came down the church aisle at 5 o'clock in the evening for the double ring ceremony.

THE BRIDE'S sister, Ruth Triebull, was her maid of honor and another sister, Lois Triebull, was among the three bridesmaids. Mrs. Geri Zimmerman of Royal Oak, Mich., the groom's sister, and Bev Droegemueller of Itasca were the other two attendants.

On the groom's side, a cousin, Bill Cammelot of Roselle, was best man and another cousin, Ted Semerau of Chicago, ushered along with Chuck Zimmerman of Royal Oak and Jerry Leslie of Bedford, Ind.

First down the aisle were two flower girls and a ring bearer. Carrying baskets of yellow carnations and mums were cousins of the bride, Kimberly and Sherry Hitzke, 5 and 3 respectively, who reside in Hinsdale. They wore mint green dresses, styled similarly to the adult bridal attendants but with short skirts.

Carrying the two rings was 6-year-old Arne Olsen, the groom's brother.

THE MAID of honor and bridesmaids wore mint green silk organza, empire styled with a bow accent at the high waistline. The bodice had an overlay of white lace, and the full-length skirt was bell-shaped, Each wore white gloves, mint green shoes and headpiece and carried yellow carnations and pompon mums.

As Rev. Eugene Trieglaff united the couple in marriage, the bride was attired in a white silk organza floor-length dress with long sleeves, scooped neckline and bell skirt. The gown was trimmed with Schiffli embroidery, set with sequins and pearls, on the bodice, sleeves and hem of the skirt and chapel train.

The bride's elbow-length veil flowed from a pearl crown headpiece. Her bouquet was composed of white roses and carnations.

SEATED IN THE front pews, the bride's mother wore a light blue sheath dress with matching accessories and the groom's mother wore a gold 3-piece suit with gold accessories.

Following the nuptials, a reception for 230 guests took place in Tioga Home, Bensenville. Dinner was served, and there was dancing to music by the Windy City Hot Shots.

The couple spent five days at Niagara Falls and are making their first home at 1201 Cottonwood Lane, Mount Prospect. Both are Lake Park High School graduates and are employed in the local area. The bride works for Allen Aircraft Radio, Inc. in Elk Grove Village and the groom for the U.S. Post Office in Roselle. (SSD

FOR THE FAMILY MANAGER

ITEM: If you'd like a shiny-leafed climbing plant to enrich corners or empty wall space, try the Hoya or wax plant grown in a sturdy red clay pot with a totem pole embedded in the soil to accomodate the upward growth of the plant.

ITEM: Avoid too much seasoning in food prepared for freezing. Many seasonings fade during freezer storage, some grow stronger, and some are distorted in flavor.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMER

From Mrs. Leslie Hixon, Fresno, California: I remember when, as a young girl, I lived in a sod house on my father's homestead on the prairie country of Central Nebraska — with my father, mother, and four brothers. We had a very happy life.

When it rained, our house leaked everywhere. We used all of the tubs, the dishpans and even some cooking utensils, on beds and other places where it leaked the most. In those days there were no large sheets of plastic as we have today.

When my younger brothers were babies, father bought new horse collars. They were used to train the babies to learn to sit up and later were used on the horses in the fields.

Mother used to help father cut and rake wild prairie hay and we hauled it to the barn in big hay wagons — no hay bailers then. I remember when I was seven years old my father let me drive the big horses with a load of loose hay down the hillside. We turned over and had to crawl out from under the hay, but no one was hurt.

Sundays we went to the community church, also the one-room schoolhouse. We rode in a lumber wagon. It was only a mile, but it seemed much longer and we children always slept on the way home, comfortable on homemade quilts in the wagon bed.

Carole Rubash Is Married In Yellow, White Service

A yellow and white color scheme was chosen by Miss Carole Rubash, daughter of the junior Joseph Rubashes, 1102 Greenwood Drive, Mount Prospect, for her marriage Aug. 28 to David Palmer, son of Mrs. Helen Palmer of Chicago. The yellow was in the bridesmaids' gowns and also in their yellow tipped carnations and roses with lily of the valley. On the altar, in two bouquets, were white floral arrangements.

The service, double ring, was held in Christ United and Reformed Church, Des Plaines, with Rev. R. K. Wobbe officiating. Mr. Rubash gave his daughter in marriage during the 4 o'clock service, which was followed by a reception for 80 guests in the Reverie Room of the Maitre d' Restaurant in Elk Grove.

The bride's short-sleeved A-line gown with empire waist was of satin and lace with organza overlay and lace chapel train. A beaded lace pillbox held her triple tiered veil, and she carried carnations, stephanotis and roses.

MISS LYNN BLAHA of Prospect Heights was the bride's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Pat Santucci of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Andrea Foley of Waukegan. Their floor-length gowns were of chiffon over crepe with empire bodices and elbow-length sleeves.

Jerry Miller of Chicago was the groom's best man and ushers were the groom's brother, Dick Palmer of Rolling Meadows, and Al Reed of Wheeling.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rubash chose a light blue crepe and her glamellias were tipped in blue. Mrs. Palmer chose a light pink ribbon over lace dress with pink tipped carnations.

The bride was graduated from Prospect High School and is now employed by Jewel Tea Co., in Glenview. The groom is a graduate of Lane Tech and is now with the U.S. post office in Chicago. (S

Carol Klippert's Wedding Day Continues Family Traditions

The first weekend of September was filled with nostalgia for the entire R. W. Klippert family of Mount Prospect, as their daughter Carol chose that Saturday for her marriage to Roger G. Grimm, also of Mount Prospect. The ceremony was performed Sept. 4 in the First Congregational Church of Des Plaines, the church in which her parents, grandparents and uncles and aunts had been married through the years.

Her two uncles, Rev. David Held of Pasadena, Calif., and Dr. Wilbur Held of Columbus, Ohio, returned to their "home" church to take part in the nuptials and to participate in the worship service the following day. Rev. David Held, pastor of the First Congregational Church in Pasadena, performed the double ring rites, and his brother, Dr. Wilbur Held, who is head of the organ department at Ohio State University, was organist for his niece's 7:30 p.m. candlelight wedding.

REV. HELD HAD been ordained in the Des Plaines church, and Dr. Held had been organist there before moving to Ohio.

Parents of the bridal pair are the R. W. Klipperts of 12 N. Kenilworth and the Harry Grimms of 501 ShaBonee.

SEVERAL MEMBERS of the wedding party were children of those attending the bride's mother on her big day. Maid of honor Debbie Klippert of Arlington Heights, a cousin of the bride, served just as her mother did at Mrs. Klippert's wedding, and the flower girl and ring bearer are children of Mrs. Wesley Kentzei of Elk Grove Village, who was flower girl at that wedding.

The flower girl at last month's wedding was 3-year-old Dodie Kentzel, and ring bearer was 5-year-old Wayne Kentzel.

SHADES OF PINK were combined with the traditional white for the evening ceremony, the altar decked with glads, asters and pompons in white with touches of deep pink.

The bride's bouquet also contained a touch of the pink in the starburst mums which she carried along with white mums. For her wedding day she wore a silk organza gown embroidered with a panel of seed pearl motifs down the front to the floor-length hemline. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a double-tiered jeweled crown.

HER MAID OF honor and two bridesmaids, Kim Klippert and Linda Held, were gowned alike in shocking pink rayon faille empire-styled dresses. The maid of honor's bouquet had deep pink asters in the center with light pink starburst mums surrounding them. The bridesmaids carried bouquets with the light pink in the center and deep pink around it.

Bridesmaid Kim Klippert is a sister of the bride and Linda Held is their cousin, a resident of Columbus.

Flower girl Dodie Kentzel wore a short pink organdy dress and carried a basket of the pink asters and starburst mums.

RONALD WEIR OF Arlington Heights served his friend as best man, while the bride's brother, Cary Klippert, and Bill Maddox of Mount Prospect seated the guests.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception for 200 guests took place in the church's Webster Hall. In the receiving line, the bride's mother was attired in a topaz crepe floor-length dress and had a corsage of white orchids. The groom's mother wore a peacock blue satin dress with a matching coat and also wore a white orchid corsage.

The newlyweds are living at 1 S. Dryden in Arlington Heights, and the groom is attending Chicago Teacher's College, also working for the Lyric School of Music.

The bride is a Prospect High School graduate and attended Winona State College in Minnesota. (Jenart

Lee Phillip Promotes Cook Book

Christl Hansen, a local artist and Mrs. Ralph Adams of Mount Prospect recently appeared with Lee Phillip on her 12:15 p.m. WBBM-TV Show.

Featured on the TV program was "Calculated Risks," the cook book compiled and published by the Women's Auxiliary of Northwest Community Hospital. The book has sold 2,000 copies in eight months and is now in its second printing.

"Calculated Risks" contains unusually good recipes and not just desserts. Many meat and vegetable dishes will be found that you don't ordinarily find in a small cook book. Auxiliary members as well as doctors' families have contributed recipes," commented Mrs. Adams, originator of the book.

"Calculated Risks" makes an ideal Christmas gift and is available at the Pink Lady Gift Shop at the hospital," added Mrs. Adams. Mrs. Hansen, a local artist volunteered the art work on the inside of the cook book.

All proceeds are to be applied to the pledge of $150,000 the auxiliary recently made to the hospital. (S

District to Honor Creative Writers; Hold Workshops

Creative Writing Contest Winners will receive special recognition at the fall meeting of the Seventh District, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs to be held Wednesday, Oct. 13, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Edison Park Methodist Church.

Entries winning first place in the District Contest held last year will be read by their authors, except for the light verse category. Short story "Cemetery Angel" by Mrs. J. V. Murphy, Arlington Heights Woman's Club, will be one of the eight items read, announced Mrs. C. A. Benowicz, District Program Chairman. Categories covered in the afternoon program range from serious poetry winner "Hope for Peace" by Mrs. Laddie Poduska, Arlington Heights to radio script winner "Comments on Constitution Week" by Mrs. John Peters, Arlington Heights.

ARTICLE, "OUR Holiday Guest," by Mrs. Leroy Koelle, Prospect Heights and essay, "Obligation for Tomorrow," by Mrs. John Schaff, Arlington Heights, will also be read by authors while Mrs. Ronald Glaser's light verse winner, "What is a Boy?" will be read by Mrs. Albert Peters, president Arlington Heights Woman's Club.

Mrs. Warren Petersen, Palatine, new district literature chairman will be introduced. Mrs. Petersen will be in charge of the creative writing contst for the district in the spring of 1966. The contest is sponsored by the IFWC to stimulate creative writing among its members.

Seventh District Chairmen will hold workshops in the morning outlining departmental programs of work for the coming year. Workshops will follow the regular Seventh District business meeting.

Hostess clubs will be Edgebrook Woman's Club, Mrs. Richard T. Griffith, president, and Northwest Woman's Club, Mrs. Robert Brough, president.

Attending from the Northwest area will be the presidents and delegates of 36 clubs that form Seventh District.

"OBLIGATION FOR Tomorrow" was the theme of the address of Mrs. James Segraves, president, IFWC as she addressed the Northern Regional Conference attended by 50 Seventh District clubwomen Sept. 27 at the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel, Chicago.

Mrs. Segraves reported that during her week's stay in Washington, D. C. this summer she had personally called upon every United States Representative elected from Illinois. Mrs. Segraves stressed that the consideration given her by legislators was due in large part to the fact that she represents an organization of over 70,000 Illinois Clubwomen. As part of the largest women's organization in the world, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Woman's Clubs receive much of their strength from numbers.

Mrs. Segraves also announced that the board of directors of the General Federation, which held its annual fall meeting September 13-16 in San Antonio, unanimously expressed its strong opposition to the admission of Communist China. The General Federation believes that Communist penetration and aggression are a serious threat to the peace and security of the world and that it would be a mistake to permit the represenative of Communist China to sit in the United Nations and to vote on any question which bears on the security of freedom and peace-loving nations over which it is communism's main purpose to rule.

MRS. SEGRAVES announced that a telegram was sent to the Hon. Hubert H. Humphrey, president of the U. S. Senate, restating the opposition of the General Federation's Board of Directors to repeal of Section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. The telegram stated ". . . We believe that it is un-American for any person in the Unisted States to be forced to join a union, fraternal, political, religious or any organization to hold a job."

Another telegram was sent to the Hon. John W. McCormack, Speaker, House of Representatives and to the Hon. Hubert H. Humphrey stating that the General Federation's Board of Directors re-emphasises its strong opposition to any legislation giving home rule to our federal city, Washington, D. C. ". . .We believe any home rule in our Nation's Capitol clearly abrogates Article I, Section 8, Clause 17 of the Constitution and is definitely unconstitutional and that Congress cannot divest itself of authority or delegate its responsibility to govern the Federal City. Washington, D. C. belongs to all American people and any home rule for the District of Columbia is not in keeping with the fundamental purpose of the Nation's Capitol which is to serve as the seat of government for all the people of the United States," read the telegram in part.

Women must meet their "Obligation for Tomorrow" Mrs. Segraves stated. The days when the club secretary could write the minutes of a meeting in seven words, "We met, we set and we et" should be past. Methods of developing leadership among members were discussed. Today's leaders will not be available forever. "There must be someone to carry on when we are carried out," she said. (S

Miss Swarthout, Bride Of College Classmate

Wearing a sixpence in each of her shoes was meant to bring "double good luck" to Sharon Lee Swarthout of Arlington Heights as she became the Aug. 28 bride of Richard Michael Jelinek of LaGrange. The couple both attended Monmouth College, where the bride was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Two of her sorority sisters gave her the sixpences, and two were in her bridal party.

One was the maid of honor, Miss Jane Luce of Dayton, and the other a bridesmaid, Mrs. Robert Tucker of Monmouth.

ALSO ATTENDING the bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Swarthout, 741 S. Mitchell Ave., were Nancy Lips of Arlington Heights and Lynn Pooley of Chicago.

The ceremony took place in St. Simon's Episcopal Church at 7:30 in the evening, with Rev. Samuel Keys officiating. Seven-branch candelabra, palms and vases of white daisy pompons framed the altar of the church for the double ring rites, as Barbara Broadbent of Mount Prospect played appropriately at the organ.

THE GROOM is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Jelinek of La Grange and had his friend, Michael Dotson of Hinsdale, as best man.

Two other friends, William Best of Westmont and James Carlisle of La Grange, acted as ushers along with the bride's brother, William Swarthout.

Coming down the aisle of pews marked with huckleberry leaves and white satin bows, the bride wore an empire style gown of white peau de soie, the bodice and short sleeves of re-embroidered alencon lace accented with hand beading. The A-line skirt, with a bow and roses for back interest, flowed into a chapel train.

A MATCHING PEAU pillbox detailed with alencon lace and beading held her 3-tiered silk illusion veil in place, and her colonial bouquet was composed of white roses with ivy.

Her attendants were all gowned alike in azurine blue linen, with a white embroidered ribbon marking the high waistline and a bow of the blue linen at the back. They carried colonial bouquets of white daisy pompons edged with ivy.

TWO HUNDRED guests greeted the couple at a reception at Long Grove Country Club immediately after the ceremony. The bride's mother was attired in a pale pink jacket dress and hat and had two pink cymbidium orchids pinned to her matching purse.

Mrs. Jelinek chose a beige silk suit and hat and had two cocoa brown cymbidium orchids pinned to her beige purse.

Westmont, Ill., is the first home of the newlyweds, since they returned from a 2-week honeymoon at Lake Tahoe and San Francisco.

A graduate of Arlington High School and Monmouth, the bride is with American Savings & Loan Institute in Chicago. The groom attended Monmouth and IIT and works for Electro-Motive Division of General Motors Corp. in La Grange. (S (Jenart

Beth Paris Returns to Area For Wedding in South Church

The sunny but cool late-summer weather of Aug. 28 contributed to a happy occasion for the George Paris family of Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, who returned to their hometown of Mount Prospect to see their daughter, Beth Ann, married in South Church. The 2 o'clock ceremony was followed by a buffet reception on the church lawn for 150 guests.

The former Mount Prospect girl exchanged vows and rings with Gordon Gaecke, son of the F. C. Gaeckes of Chicago. Rev. Edwin I. Stevens united them in marriage.

THE PARIS family moved to Ottawa a year ago because of a business transfer but arranged the wedding for their former home so that relatives and close friends could attend.

The bride is a graduate of Prospect High School and just this year was graduated from the University of Michigan School of Nursing.

The groom is attending the University of Illinois, and the couple are living in Champaign at 402 N. Elm St. until he completes his education. The bride works in the pediatrics department of Burnham City Hospital, Champaign.

A FLOOR-LENGTH gown of white organza over taffeta was worn by the bride as she was given in marriage by her father. The dress was embroidered in alencon lace at the sleeves and on the A-line skirt which ended in a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil fell from an open pillbox of the lace, and she carried a cascade of daisies with ivy.

Her sister, Martha Paris, was maid of honor, wearing a floor-length dress of yellow linen and carrying a cascade of white and yellow shasta pompons with ivy.

There were three bridesmaids, Jean Gaecke of Boston, who is a sister of the groom; Mrs. Thomas Guldberg of Ann Arbor, a Delta Gamma sorority sister of the bride, and Arleen Baker of Streator.

All were attired exactly as the maid of honor.

PAUL GAECKE, the groom's brother, was his best man, while Scott Paris, brother of the bride; John Sherf, cousin of the groom, and Jack Eliason of Elmhurst seated the guests.

Receiving the friends and relatives outdoors after the ceremony, Mrs. Paris was attired in a champagne silk shantung dress with matching purse, shoes and gloves. She wore a tangerine hat and a corsage of orange tiger lilies. The groom's mother chose a tangerine dress, accented with a corsage of ivy and greens.

Before going to the U. of I. campus, the newlyweds spent a week at a cottage in Michigan. (Jenart (S

What Do You Do With Runaway Car?

It's the rush hour and the traffic on the expressway is heavy and moving at a fast, steady pace. You take your foot off the accelerator as your car approaches the exit lane crowded with vehicles, but your car does not slow down. Instead you speed forward — the gas pedal of your car is stuck.

What do you do?

It couldn't happen to me, you say, my car is in perfect condition and besides that it just doesn't happen.

"WELL, IT DOES happen," warns Edward R. Klamm, accident prevention director of the Allstate Motor Club. "It happens every year to experienced and inexperienced drivers in all models, makes and years of cars. And because they didn't know how to bring their car under control many of these drivers were killed or injured or killed and injured others."

If and when it happens to you —turn off the car's ignition and begin braking to a safe stop. Leave your car in gear, with both manual and automatic transmission cars, to take advantage of the braking help available from the engine.

"Keeping your car in gear is important for two other reasons," Klamm points out. "Firstly, time — which may be important in some situations—would be lost by the act of shifting into neutral. Secondly, if the transmission were shifted into neutral, the engine would 'race' and 'roar' which would only add to the confusion of the possible near-panic condition."

If your car is equipped with power steering or power brakes, they will be more difficult to operate when you turn off the motor. More strength will be required to hold the car on the road and to brake it, but this is much safer and easier than attempting to control a speeding, runaway auto.

SOME unfortunate motorists have unsuccesfully attempted to avoid accident and injury in a runaway car by blinking their car's lights, blowing the horn, slamming on the brakes, reaching down to pull back the gas pedal, jumping out of the car, aiming for a tree or signpost or pulling on the emergency brake. But in the end they were either innjured or killed.

Jamming on the brakes accomplishes little. Brakes will "fade" in a speeding car with the gas pedal jammed. At high speeds extreme amounts of heat are generated in the brakes and the linings only glaze and the brake drums expand, reducing the stopping power of your brakes.

If you kick the gas pedal in an attempt to unjam it, chances are you will only jam it down farther and increase your speed. Sometimes it is so tightly stuck that you would have to pull it off to free it, and even then it probably would do you no good.

Turning off the car's ignition key and braking carefully to a safe stop is the fastest and safest method of bringing a runaway car under control, says the Allstate Motor Club. Knowing this could save your life. (15BB

Autumn Season Brings Added Danger of Fire

Fire is still a very real threat around the home, even in this day of fireproof building materials and extensive fire prevention programs.

This is especially true in the fall, when dry leaves, grass and other foliage add to the threat.

If you haven't already, now is the time to take stock of the fire safety practices at your house. This list of tips might suggest ways to help you prevent fires or fight them, if they get started:

—DON'T BURN leaves or other refuse in an open fire when other ways are available.

If possible, burn these dry materials in a perforated galvanized steel rubbish burner with a close-fitting cover. That way, gusty autumn winds won't blow sparks and burning embers around.

—If you do start an open fire, make arrangements ahead of time to control it.

—ONE GOOD "stitch in time" is to fill several galvanized steel pails with water or sand before you strike the first match. With this precaution, you can douse a fire before it gets away from you.

—Store gasoline, turpentine, kerosene, cleaners and other flammable fluids in leak-proof metal containers, away from sources of heat or sparks.

You'll want to drain the power mower after the last grass cutting this fall. Use a galvanized steel fuel can to store the gas. Do the same with the cleaners and solvents you'll be using for fall painting and tool cleanup.

—GIVE THE basement, garage and other areas where refuse is apt to collect good fall cleaning—and make a resolution to keep them clean.

Discard or burn old newspapers, rags and other trash which might cause a fire. Home workshops, with their accumulations of scrap lumber, sawdust and other flammable materials, also should be cleaned. By keeping a galvanized steel trash can handy, you can store the waste safely until it can be hauled out. (15BB

FAMILY POT LUCK
BY HELEN HALE

Color Strategy

Having your first stew of the season? Make it as colorful as a fiesta with Italian green beans, tomatoes and whole kernel corn.

Twice-baked potatoes look twice as impressive when they're sprinkled with grated cheese and splashed with paprika.

Sliced, panfried eggplant slices take to a topping of sliced tomatoes with a crumb topping. Riding high on this could be a big, whole mushroom cap.

Mold a rainbow of melon balls in a clear, bright, fruit-flavored gelatin. Pass along with it golden custard sauce.

Green, kidney and waxed beans make a colorful salad trio. Add more color with ready-to-eat meats cut in julienne-style with Swiss cheese.

Helen's Favorite:

Chocolate Balls
(Makes 24)

- ¼ pound grated bitter chocolate
- ⅓ cup confectioners' sugar
- ⅓ cup almond paste
- 1 tablespoon strong coffee
- 1 teaspoon butter
- ¼ cup cocoa
- 1½ teaspoons cinnamon

Work chocolate, sugar, almond paste, coffee and butter into a smooth, well mixed paste. Shape in very small balls. Roll in cocoa and cinnamon, mixed together.

October has been designated as savings and loan month in Illinois by Gov. Otto Kerner.

In the official proclamation, the Governor noted the many contributions made by Illinois Savings and Loan Asosciations to the economic growth and life blood of the State.

He mentioned that the institutions not only lend more than one and a half billion dollars annually for purchasing homes, but in doing so they "have created 60,000 jobs," generated $250 million in home appliance sales and have paid Illinois citizens over one third billion dollars in earnings. (15BB

Problem With Father, Problem With Girl

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I have two problems. The first is that my Father acts like he is mad at me one day and the next day he is as friendly as he can be. I try to please him, but I cannot seem to do so. My second problem is that there is this girl I like very much. But, she is three years younger than I am and is not allowed to date. How can I talk her parents into letting her date? She is very mature for her age, both physically and mentally (she's 14) and I think she ought to be able to date. What can I do about this?"

OUR REPLY: Any explanation of why your father seems friendlier on certain days than at other times in merely conjecture. There are several possibilities. One is that on his "unfriendly" days he is really absorbed in some weighty problem and is not aware that he seems not so friendly as usual. If he is displeased with you for some reason, he would most likely tell you so — and why.

You will certainly not please your parents — or those of the girl — if you make too much of an effort to solve the problem of dating a girl three years younger than yourself (and only 14 at that) when her parents do not allow her to date. You'd be much wiser to accept things as they are. If you can't accept, then you have a problem.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

"I've just moved into a new home. Will you suggest a fast growing shade tree." This is perhaps the most common question heard in nurseries, garden centers, and University Extension Offices.

Our mobile population doesn't stay in one place long enough to enjoy the results of planting such slow growing trees as the Norway maple or the white oak.

In the search for rapidly growing trees many varieties of limited use have been planted in unsuitable locations. Heading the list of fast growing trees of limited usefulness is the tree of heaven. Not only does the vigorous growth produce a weedy tree, but the female tree produces thousands of seedlings that sprout in the lawn. The male trees, on the other hand, produce flowers that give off a highly disagreeable odor.

WILLOWS are another group of fast growing trees of limited usefulness. Because of their growth rate they produce brittle, easily splintered branches and limbs that do heavy damage in even the smallest wind storm. Because of its heavy demand for moisture, it has a wide ranging root system that rapidly fills sewer lines and drainage fields.

If you like the graceful weeping effect, consider the weeping forms of many standard trees such as the weeping cherry, the weeping Echtermeyer crab, and weeping forms of the beech and linden.

For a high quality fast growing shade tree, consider the weeping cut leaf birch. Its semi-upright shape and medium size is well suited to city lots. A mature tree will reach 40 feet with a 25 foot spread. This tree is much faster growing than the clump birch.

Of all the fast growing trees, the silver maple is most commonly used. This is unfortunate because it is a tree that no professional plantsman recommends. It, like the willow, has weak wood that shatters in every wind or rainstorm. You can prove this to yourself by driving in a wooded neighborhood after a storm. You will find a majority of the fallen brush and timber to be from silver maples. In addition, the tree is shallow rooted, making lawn care difficult among the large surface roots.

Another undesirable maple once used extensively is the box elder. It not only attracts the box elder bug, but is weedy and weak wooded.

For a fast growing high quality maple, use a red maple. Don't however, confuse it with its noble, slower growing cousins, the sugar and Norway maple. For fast growth the red maple is the tree to use. This, I might add, is a good week to select this tree in a nursery because you can determine the type and intensity of fall color that your tree will produce year after year.

Once one of the best fast growing shade trees was the American elm. With the incidence of Dutch elm disease, one must make a personal decision regarding its use. However, in the Netherlands, the tree is still being planted.

Another frequently planted tree of questionable value is the Lombardy poplar. Its narrow shape and fast growth have encouraged its use as a tall screening plant. Unfortunately when the tree reaches a useful height—usually in 12 years—it is attacked by a canker which soon destroys large sections of the tree. Rather, plant the narrow shaped, fast growing Bolleana poplar.

There are many other fast growing shade trees of good quality. The green ash will reach a 30 foot height in about 25 to 30 years. The colorful European mountain ash and the amur cork tree quickly reach a mature height of 25 to 30 feet. For large trees of fast growth that reach over 60 feet, there are the sycamore hackberry, pin oak, and thornless honey locust. The thornless honey locust comes in such varieties as morain, sunburst and shade master.

Don't be satisfied with an inferior type of tree because it's said to be fast growing. Many of our most highly prized varieties have a surprisingly fast growth rate. (15BB

Is Your Child A Potential Dropout?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

Education and society are facing what seems to be an increasing problem—the growing numbers of young people who drop out of school and, unarmed with skills or a profession, wander aimlessly about, often falling into trouble and squandering their talents. After extensive studies, these questions were devised as cues to the characteristics of potential dropouts.

| | YES | NO |
| 1. Has you child failed one or more school years? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 2. Is your child often absent and late for classes? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 3. Do you see that your boy or girl has a physical check-up at least once a year, either at school or with your own doctor? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 4. Does your son or daughter express a definite interest in some field of work, even if it may change from time to time? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 5. Does your child have a quiet study place of his own? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 6. Do you, at least yearly, have a conference with your child's teachers? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 7. Is your home life reasonably calm and without great emotional upheavals? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 8. Have you encouraged your child to select a school and courses that appeal to him? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 9. Does your boy or girl have difficulties with the basic skills of reading, spelling, and arithmetic? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 10. Do you and/or your child complain about his teachers? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 11. Does your boy or girl prefer to associate with younger children? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 12. Is your boy or girl addicted to television, movies, sports, etc. at the expense of his or her studies? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 13. Do you often compare your child negatively with his or her brothers or sisters, relatives or friends? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 14. Is your child careful about cleanliness and good-grooming? | ( ) | ( ) |
| 15. Does your child seem reluctant to spend time at home? | ( ) | ( ) |

DESIRABLE ANSWERS: Based on studies, you should have answered all questions YES except 1, 2, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15. If you have missed more than four points, you are in danger . . . more than eight, and your child may be on the downward road which will lead him to drop out of school and join the shiftless, potentially delinquent.

Strength

"Be watchful, stand firm in your faith, be courageous, be strong. Let all that you do be done in love."
— 1 Corinthians 16:13, 14

Self-preservation is an instinct that sometimes urges us to "do unto others before they do unto us." In business, oftimes, making the sale is the important thing; how it was made is something else again.

We should be watchful, not for what others might do, but for ways in which we might be helpful to others. We help ourselves when we help someone else. If we stand firm in our faith, we stand with the resolve to be right and to do right. We have the courage and the strength to resist temptation and to preserve our own integrity.

If we learn to love, we learn to live.

HELP! HELP! HELP!

WE NEED A NEW HOME!

We were models in a model home, and the builder "evicted" us when he sold the home. We are modern in style, beautifully built & bright & shiny, because we've never been used. There are four of us—living room, dining room, bedroom, & kitchen. We may be had separately, but if you'll take us all together, the four of us, we're only $500.00 (including carpet.) Our chauffeur will deliver us to your door and you may take two years to pay.

Third State Title Won by Arlingtones

The Arlingtones have done it gain.

For the third straight year, the chorus, representing the Arlington Heights Chapter, SPEBSQSA, has won the Illinois district chorus championship. The unprecedented third win came in competition at Bloomington's Scotish Rite Temple Saturday.

The win gives the Arlingtones the chance to represent Illinois in international competition next July in Chicago's McCormick Place. The chorus was in international competition at Boston this year and at San Antonio, Tex., last year.

IN WINNING, the Arlingtones beat two-time international champions of Pekin. The Pekin chorus returned to competition this year from a mandatory two-year retirement after winning barbershop chorus competition at Toronto, Ontario, in 1963.

Choral judging was based on facial expression, harmony accuracy, stage presence, arrangement and balance and blend.

Illinois district president Frank Vecchiola of Skokie presented the large trophy to Arlingtones director Earle Auge and president Tom Watts. The 50-man chorus appeared in a new variation of the gay nieties outfit designed by member Jack Musich.

Boy Scouts Aid 'Goodwill' Effort

Seventeen thousand Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers of the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, will begin their "Good Turn for Goodwill" drive Saturday, Oct. 9, with the distribution of Goodwill bags to northwest suburban residents.

The boys will return Saturday, Oct. 16, to pick up Goodwill bags filled with usable clothing and shoes.

Residents are asked to leave the bags on their front porches.

This year the Northwest Suburban Council decided to perform a dual service. In urging residents to clean our their attics, basements and closets of no-longer-used clothing and donating them to Goodwill Industries, they hope to perform a "safe turn" for fire prevention.

Letters to the Editor

Agrees with Only One Line of Township Government Critique

This is a reply to Mr. Dan Pribulski's article on Township Officials in Paddock Publications, issue Sept. 23.

I would like to ask if this reporter has ever been a town official? Has he ever been a village or school or park official? Or has he followed them around?

Since I doubt if he has, how would he know what they do or how much time they consume in doing it?

The reporter has no reason for his tirade against township officials as he doesn't really know what their jobs are or how much detail work they have to do. This type of information never shows up in public statements of critics of public officials.

Now this reporter is entitled to his opinion, but when he forces it on the general public, he should be very, very sure that he is right. But that is not the way of newspaper reporters. They always exaggerate to make dramatic reading, thereby increasing the circulation. And that is their only concern for their propaganda, which is always biased.

According to my information this reporter is a Democrat from Chicago. What does he know about township government? Mayor Daley handles everything in that town, not the people.

In listing the best jobs in town government, the reporter fails to report that these jobs carry the most responsibility. I think any official, having moral obligation of making decisions for the whole township and of spending the tax money wisely, earns his or her money.

Some of the salaries of these officials are set by law. Why doesn't the reporter run for state representative or the senate so he can change the laws instead of spreading his hate propaganda on the helpless public, who have no real knowledge of township government?

If this reporter keeps on spreading half truths around like autumn leaves, he'll end up by being just another employee of the Paddock Publications heartily disliked by the reading public.

Under the law every four years the salaries of most township officials are established by the electors. If the reporter would try to recall the annual township meeting in April, he would remember that the "former board" asked a raise of 100 per cent for the clerk or $3600. Immediately upon the reading of this section of the Budget, this town clerk was on her feet, making the motion that this amount be reduced to $2400, which was in favorable comparison with other townships.

That was before I knew what a town clerk was supposed to do according to the laws of township governments. I sometimes wonder if I shouldn't have kept my mouth shut and maybe have gotten $3600.

I would like to remind the reporter that the "uplifting" Palatine officials of last spring are not in office now. Why pin their faults on the present officials?

I don't know what other township clerks do, nor do I care, but I know what I do. Believe me the office help does very, very little of my work. The clerk's job is supposed to be part-time and the township must have office help for its day-time office hours. But I do my share of registering just the same. The duties of clerk keeps my hours occupied to the extent that I have very little time for personal living. When there is work to be done, I do it.

One of the small details that is part of my job is co-signing checks. Therefore I know what is paid out to everyone. The present assessor gets $400 plus expenses per month. Next year's assessor is getting $6,000 per year not $7,500, nor is that amount the maximum.

It is so easy for the reporter to ridicule the Supervisor, the Clerk and the Highway Commissioner but he is just another one of those guys that say "Let George do it," then criticizes everything "George" does. But he's crazy if he thinks the township is paying any salaries for a 40 hour week. I work only 35 hours per week for my company and get lots more than the amount the township is paying for my spare time.

I don't know how valuable the reporter considers his time. But I know the township couldn't pay me enough to give up my spare time without my firm belief that my town should be represented in its government. I have other things that I would like to do, that are just as or more rewarding to me than my work for the township.

There is one statement the reporter made, that I heartily agree with. . ."It's time for the people to start going to their general town meetings," but not only in April but every month during th entire year.

'People Always Beat Down Fakes, Frauds'

In answer to "literature" shoved under my door on Sept. 27—

To the "John Birch Society"—or as I more correctly see it the New Communist Party in the United States!

I am 42 years old, well-educated and with a well above average IQ, any fact just mentioned can easily be checked, so this letter does not come from an ignorant and ill-informed "crank."

I seldom, if ever, write such letters, but as I have been born and raised and lived in Mount Prospect and Des Plaines, I feel it sickening that an organization such as yours even exists, much less invades my home territory.

It is more than just coincidentally amazing to note that your "rabble-rouser" ideas are so in line with the Communist Party—in fact, I wonder if you obtain your material through Pravda.

The followers and "believers" in the "John Birch Society" obviously fall into one of four categories:

1) Those with a twisted "axe-to grind";
2) Ignorant and uneducated people—easily led—;
3) The mentally unbalanced and last, but by no means least,
4) A true Communist.

Further, you follow a long list of such organizations, which, thanks be to God, have been put where they belong. The list is as follows:

1) The German-American Bund (Remember?)
2) The Nazi Party (The "super-race"—Remember?).
3) The "Fascists" (Remember a man named Mussolini?)
4) The "Klu Klux Klan" (Who run around in bed sheets and dunce caps).

All of the above have at one time (and one still active) preached your doctrine of hate and suspicion under the guise of "Americanism." Your pamphlet-delivery people obviously cannot read, for in bold print on the front of my apartment house door is a sign which reads, "No Peddlers" and you people peddle hate, lies and twisted, which can only come from twisted minds.

I have, however, faith in God and the eventual condemnation of you, and all those like you, by the American people who always, no matter by what route, have managed to beat down the fakes and frauds.

I write this letter with "red" ink, since I'm sure that color is more pleasing to your eyes.

Let us in Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines and the surrounding area stand up and be counted against The John Birch Society.

Grateful for Quick Aid When Lightning Struck

My family and I wish to express our deep appreciation to the Arlington Heights Fire and Police Departments for their prompt and able assistance the night of Sept. 17th when lightning struck our home, blasting holes in the roof.

Lt. Dave Mills and Firemen Ed Grant and Ronnie Herff arrived promptly in answer to our call, bringing with them temporary repair of the roof so that only negligible damage resulted from the heavy rains. Officers Schenkel and Siebold of the Arlington Heights Police Department also arrived at the same time to offer their assistance. The following day, Chief Carothers of the Arlington Heights Fire Department came by to inspect the damage and and give us helpful suggestions about determing the full loss.

We had long been aware of the high caliber of the Arlington Heights Police Department and we are pleased to say during Fire Prevention Week that the Arlington Heights Fire Department personnel merit equal recognition.

Questions Article on PTA Rightists

In regard to Mrs. Bristol's article on extremist take-over of local PTA units, there are a number of points on which I am not quite clear.

1. In exactly what national magazine did articles appear about the extremist plot to take-over the PTA? Was it the New Republic of The Nation? Or, was it one of our more widely read magazines, known for their impartial reporting, such as Life, Look or Time?

2. Mrs. Bristol states that the John Birch Society has a library in Glenview, and in her next sentence says that the Glenview PTA has withdrawn from the state and national organizations. I think that any English teacher would admit that this is very poor syllogism.

And, in her next sentence she goes on to say that "informed people say the withdrawal was just the final step in a Birch-like take-over." What "informed people" and what exactly is a "Birch-like take-oer?" Some solid facts at this point would go a great deal farther than some hastily thrown together conclusions.

3. The entire article reads like a school-book example of slanted journalism and guilt by inference, but the comments made by Mr. Eichstaalt of Roselle were the most glaring. Why, in an article about extremism take-over of the PTA, should he find it necessary to mention that Roselle is "a very strong conservative Republican stronghold?" Is this supposed to subtly infer that Roselle is, in truth, a hot-bed of Birchites?

And then he states that a "young Republican" had the affrontry to "suggest" a speaker on communism. Is that extremism? Since when is it only the conservative Republicans that are concerned with communism? I surely hope that some Democrats are concerned about it or this country is in terrible shape!

Now that we have had so many articles alerting us to the dangers of the right-wing, how about a few on the perils of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), the National Student League (who demonstrate against our military action in Viet Nam and endorse sit-ins and massive civil disobedience); and also, if I don't sound like a right-wing extremist, how about some on communist infiltration of our schools?

'Disgusted' by Ad Offering Dogs for Sale

As a subscriber and avid reader of the Prospect Herald, I wish to state I was thoroughly disgusted with the ad that appeared in last Thursday's paper in the column headed "Dogs, Pets, Equipment" and which read as follows:

"Flea infested German Shepherd Puppies, not housebroken, only $5.00. Muzzle and whip included. 259-0334"

An ad of this sort certainly reflects the character of the owner who evidently does not know the meaning of love and devotion and in my estimation is not worthy of any dog. The thing that griped me most was the muzzle and whip included with the sale of these pups; this is unpardonable. Animals are trained with love and affection not muzzles and whips.

Mr. Public who is not familiar with this breed would get the intelligent animal and learn fast. Uncle Sam uses them in the armed forces, the police use them for attack and rescue work,—but, their handlers use no muzzles or whips. Dogs are taught to obey on command.

In rearing an inimal love and affection are most important. Once that pup knows what you want of him, he'll aim to please. It takes time and patience but it is worth it. Ask any one of the 195 members of the Lincolnwood Training Club for German Shepherd Dogs.

Mail Carrier Tired of Dogs Running Loose

I am a local mailman and I am fed up with dogs allowed to run loose to attack me and my fellow workers.

It seems to me that the dog owner should be brought before the law and fined for allowing their dog to run loose. These dogs not only attack me but the milkman, garbage men and all of us who have to frequent the neighborhoods every day. These dogs do considerable damage to other people's lawns and shrubs too which help to dirty up our village.

We have an ordinance in the village but for some reason it is very little used. I am sure the village treasury would not be unhappy to increase by as much as $100 per day in fines collected for these offenses.

It is time right now to have the cooperation on the part of the police department and the local citizenry to put an end to this provocation by loose dogs in our community.

It is hard enough to handle heavy bags of mail in all kinds of weather and then have to fight off somebody's dog who "is just a playful pal, he won't bite you."

Please friends how about your help now.

Human Relations Groups' Purpose Not Integration

Last week, in a letter to the Fence Post, a lady asks why human relations groups do not say they are FOR integration. It is a good question, one often asked within and without human relations groups. The answer is quite simple. This is not the purpose of a human relations group. Certainly there are within the groups individuals who are for integration. It would be most unusual to find individuals opposed to integration within the groups.

The purpose of a human relations group is to study, evaluate, educate, pray, preach, and by any other means within reason, try to prepare themselves and their neighbors to willingly accept their own responsibilities in a time of changes in our society. These changes are inevitable, irreversible and will hopefully result in better conditions than our present segregation and limitation.

Integration by itself would be too narrow a purporse. It would preclude these committees responsibilities' to face and deal with the multitudinous changes causing tension between groups.

There are many national and state civil rights, fair housing, and church groups who are FOR integration. This is what they work for. An individual is welcome to join these and even organize a local chapter if they should desire.

Human Relations Group Hit for 'Fanatical' Tactics

As a resident of Arlington Heights, I am deeply concerned about the actions of those citizens promoting human relations groups. I am sure some of these people are motivated by honest concern for the brotherhood of man. I believe others are motivated by hopes of personal gain, publicity, etc. using the misfortunes of a minority group to make a name for themselves.

Our community is primarily made up of intelligent and educated men and women. They are people with high principles and above all are God-fearing. Our citizens are people who will act fairly whenever justice and the rights of others are in jeopardy. These people do not need rabble rousing tactics to make them aware of the problems of any minority group. I think it is safe to say that with all the demonstrations in Chicago and the South, and the publicity accorded the demonstrators, the citizens of this village are quite aware of the racial problem. After all, we do watch TV, and a few of us even read a paper or two.

Demonstrations for any cause are done to bring attention to that cause. Since more than adequate attention has been brought to the minority cause, there is no need for further demonstrations, walking, riding, or whatever. Attention to the cause has been accomplished. We are all aware of the Negro's problem. Any further activities of this kind will only serve to irritate and destroy the results achieved in earlier demonstrations.

In this village, we elected a President and Board of Trustees to govern our community. These men are men of great integrity, having given much in time and effort to their community, with little, if any, reward or recognition. We elected them because we felt that they were capable of dealing with each and every problem that would or could arise in this village.

A problem in human relations is a village problem and should be handled by those people elected to handle the problems of this village. Human relations is a description of only one of the many problems facing this village. It is a serious problem, but it does not take precedence over all other village problems because of its controversial nature. Those who wave their banner heatedly and strongly for human relations groups should stop and think. Why have these people in the human relations groups, a mere handful of people, selected only one phase of human relations — the Negro? Human Relations-Galley 2 ..... Where were these people before marching and sitting got to be such a popular pastimeg Did these people come forward in righteous indignation over the problems and difficulties of the migrant workers, the Mexicans? No! This is a cause very close to home.

I tend to view with suspicion the motives of people so limited in scope. It is the fanatic who can see only his cause and no other. It is the fanatic who does not respond to reasonable argument. It is the fanatic who can cause trouble where it would otherwise not exist. It is the fanatic who feels he must impose his ideas on those about him. It is the fanatic who labels honest opposition as prejudice. It is the fanatic who disregards the rights of others so long as his cause is furthered, whether just or not.

The people of these human relations groups, as far as I can see, as a whole (there may be a few exceptions) have done little if anything to help this village. They are not the people who work hard year after year for better government, who devote time away from their families without benefit of publicity to help this village. Most of these people have appeared at a village board meeting only to promote their cause.

Not one of these people was present when the village board passed an annual budget of over a million dollars. Most assuredly, the budget concerned all the citizens of this village and would affect all residents deeply. These people who purport to be so civic minded weren't interested enough to come.

The people in the human relation groups are actors in a play that citizens in increasing numbers are tiring of. These small groups of people are attempting to speak for a whole village, some 42,300 people.

The village board, elected by the people of this community, speaks for this community. I, as an elector, am annoyed and angered by these self-appointed individuals who are attempting to influence our village board to their position. I feel a handful of people have no business speaking for me or anyone else in this village.

They have no right to use a highly volatile matter to endanger the calm and rationality of our citizens. Tactics, like telephoning home sellers asking if they would sell to a Negro, etc., simply cause trouble where none has ever existed. If you do not agree with their position, you are called "prejudiced." If you disagree with the methods they use, you are called "prejudiced."

An example of the limited scope of these people might be found in the last village election. Candidates were quizzed on their feelings regarding a human relations commission. Candidates who favored human relations commission were supported regardless of the views of these candidates on other matters. The people of the human relations groups were willing to sacrifice the entire good of the village as long as they got their way.

When my husband who was then a candidate for village trustee was called by a human relations commission promotor, he was asked only one question—whether or not he favored a human relations commission. He told his caller he did not have sufficient knowledge of the human relations groups, their aims, goals, etc. to make a qualified statement at that time. He asked his caller if she would please send him some descriptive material concerning these organizations. Only with full knowledge and understanding of their position and the problems involved would he make a decision.

His caller agreed to send him the desired information. His caller did not ask him about his position on any other matter. To this day, we have not received the information promised. Shortly after this call, a news release was published listing all of the candidates. My husband was shown as being in opposition to a human relations commission.

This angered me greatly because I felt my husband answered judiciously an important question, and I felt it wrong of these people to treat an honest inquiry as a refusal of support. I myself was accused by the same person as being prejudiced because I found fault and was indignant with their unorthodox methods. These people did not fulfill a promise. Why was the information asked for never sent?

The people of these groups proved as far as I am concerned their fanaticism by speaking falsely about my husband. Herein lies a grave danger—a group willing to falsify the truth to secure their own goals. Their willingness to overlook, to be unconcerned with the village as a whole and with the rights of all people proves their fanaticism is more of a danger to our community than any racial problem could ever be. I am certain that the village board (if there is ever a need) would handle this problem properly.

If people were needed to help, they would select interested citizens who see the problems of this village as a whole, who are cognizant of the rights of all—not just a single group, and who would work for the betterment of this village. We the citizens of this community then would have no fear of a "fanatic Johnny one-note" damaging our way of life.

For the record, I believe in social justice. I supported it long before it became a popular issue. Social justice applies not only to the Negro; it applies to me and others who are white; it applies to the religious communities—to all groups whether Negro, white, Indian, or Oriental.

It is wrong to give rights to one group while stripping away the rights of others. Many people forget in their haste for social justice that everyone has rights, the white as well as a member of a minority group. Every right carries along a corresponding duty. To recognize one and not the other is wrong.

To those well intended souls of the various human relations groups, if you really wish to further the cause of brotherhood, do it positively. Work without excessive publicity to educate the people of our community. Do not attempt to win converts to your cause by practices designed to irritate. Let this be a local problem. Why do those from Evanston with their segregated housing come to Arlington Heights? Would they not be better off to clean up their own house before telling us how to clean ours.

Do not underestimate the integrity and the good will of the people of Arlington Heights. Because they do not march to Selma or some other trouble spot, do not assume they are unaware of the problem, or that they are prejudiced. They just have the good sense to use their minds instead of their emotions and are not swept up in a tide of fanaticism.

If they view the problem of human relations realistically and in good perspective, I feel they will always act like the good and generous people they are. I may be wrong, but I have the right to my opinion, a right to disagree with the methods being used without being called a bigot.

Again, I state the village board is composed of men of proven ability and integrity, men of high religious principles. These are men dedicated to the good of this village and its people. Let this problem be theirs to deal with.

Palatine Grad in Viet Nam Writes of Battle for Freedom

I am writing this in an attempt to inform the American people of what a worthy cause we are contesting in this Far Eastern land called Viet Nam.

Having graduated from Palatine in 1962, many of my former classmates have begun to raise families and to earn livings in my former home. I played football three years in Palatine and remember the faces of many of the persons attending the Friday night contests. But what are they thinking now concerning this small, Asiatic country the world is so bitterly split over? Do they realize that many of the young men who used to do battle on the green turf to decide a conference championship are now battling once more with their own lives and the freedom of the world as the much coveted prize?

Many of our friends and relatives haven't the slightest idea of the true situation over here. Let them see the severe poverty and state of decay this small nation is trying to rise above, while at the same time remain free to pursue a life of their own choosing and not one governed by a Communist dictatorship. The homes are nearly beyond description. Built out of clapboard and other salvaged materials, they are highly unsuitable to healthful living. When it rains, which is often now, the roofs lead; mud becomes ankle deep. Attempts to eke out a decent living are most unfruitful, and the children have no place to play. The clothes are simple and few—some of the smaller children lack even the basic essentials. The streets are cluttered with discarded food, rocks and rubble from the decaying buildings. It is indeed a sorrowful sight.

Our men live here in even worse conditions. Try living in a tent, having to shave and shower in cold water; in many instances all this has to be done without the benefit of lights. These are not easy conditions to adopt. But our men do it because they recognize a distinct purpose and they do it without complaint.

Many of us have families and friends waiting at home, hoping that we will return. I myself am no exception. She is waiting, waiting and dreading the notice that may spell the worst. Yet like so many others, she waits and prays, knowing that we must come here, risk our lives, and fight for the freedom that she now enjoys and cherishes and for our unborn children.

Americans have no right to remain at home, enjoy their freedoms, and ignore the rest of the world. In the world of today, its mere existence depends on what we do here. It is not only a way of life we are defending, but also the future existence of freedom and life as we know it is at stake.

I only hope that a few minds will be awakened to the true cause for which so many of us are dying. Let us not die in vain. Further, don't make us out as heroes, we are only common men doing our duty—our duty to ourselves, our God, our country, our friends and relatives, and hopefully, our unborn children. It is for all this that we so willingly risk and give our lives.

Park Vote Shows Him Palatine Is Waking Up

I just want to say that I was pleasantly surprised, indeed shocked, to learn t at the park district referendum passed with such a decisive vote.

As a matter of fact, I was surprised that it passed at all.

It looks as though the citizens of this village are finally waking up to the fact that Palatine needs more recreational facilities for its young folks. It looks as though they are finally realizing that one "wash tub" pool is not enough for a community of 20,000.

It looks as though the citizens are finally beginning to take pride in their town and trying to improve its park facilities. It looks as though people are finding out at long last that it takes money, not idle dreams, to make these improvements a reality.

It seems that Palatine is finally moving in the right direction. The people are to be congratulated for taking interest in their youth instead of forsaking them. Palatine's youth will finally get the places they need for healthful and safe recreation.

Thank you for waking up, Palatine, and keep up the good work in the future.

Publicity Led To Successful Rummage Sale

Our organization wishes to thank you for the excellent news coverage of our rummage sale which appeared in Paddock Publications. Our members feel that it made a valuable contribution to the great success of the event.

As you may know, the rummage sale is patronized by many migrant workers who purchase clothing and other articles at a very low cost. In dition, the proceeds help to defray the expenses of the several philanthropic projects of the P.E.O. Sisterhood.

The Way We See It

Suburb Libraries Face Opportunity

Exciting progress is being made toward better library service in Illinois.

Reporter Don Heine told Paddock readers in the Sept. 23 issue how librarians are drafting a plan for cooperation involving 24 north and northwest suburban communities. Similar planning is going on elsewhere in the state.

This movement for cooperation is a result of important library legislation passed last spring. The new laws incorporate the essential features of a plan drafted two years ago by the Library Development Committee of the Illinois Library Association.

This development plan was overdue. Most other states comparable to Illinois have had some form of interlibrary cooperation for many years. This was especially true in metropolitan areas, where the needs and advantages were most obvious.

Increasing suburban population puts new pressures on the libraries. New high schools spring up yearly, sending more and more students to the libraries for information. The northwest area junior college opening in 1967 will add to these demands. DuPage County is moving toward its junior college. Increased leisure time results in more people using the libraries more frequently.

In the face of these pressures, local libraries will be fighting a losing battle unless they join forces.

The possibilities of full-scale cooperation are exciting. A reader will find a million books at his disposal, instead of the 20,000 or 30,000 volumes in a typical local library. Libraries will be linked by teletype. Daily delivery will bring requested materials to each library.

Residents and businessmen whose questions frequently could not be answered by existing reference facilities can expect to get almost 100 per cent replies.

As local libraries get new "muscles" and expand their ability to serve the public, they will also become much more important community centers, stimulating cultural progress on all fronts.

All this will not happen by itself. Local librarians and library boards must inform themselves of the opportunities open to them and act to take advantage of them.

More than that, they must inform the public of the possibilities.

The recent adverse library tax vote in Wheeling, for example, can be reversed if the public's imagination is stirred by the exciting prospects of library cooperation.

This message can also be a big help to library boards such as Bensenville's and Arlington Heights', which have the task ahead of winning support for bond issues for new buildings.

But prompt, vigorous action is needed. The local library will be left behind if it is lacking.

Education Indispensable

Passage of the Higher Education Act certainly must be judged one of the major achievements of this session of the U.S. Congress.

The bill covers vital needs of higher education: scholarships, guaranteed loan programs, work-study programs, improved college libraries, classrooms, more and better equipment and facilities, and teacher training.

As Sen. Prouty of Vermont, the ranking Republican on the Education Subcommittee, noted: "At present, the supply of students is great and growing — the supply of facilities, teachers, books and money for student aid is short."

The Higher Education Act deals with these needs. It will cost many millions to make up the shortages, but it would be more costly to the nation not to do it.

This was recognized by most Senators. The bill had the unanimous support of all members of the Education Subcommittee, both Republican and Democratic, and passed the Senate by a vote of 78 to 3.

Sen. Prouty paid tribute to this bi-partisan support. "One of the most heartening things I have witnessed in my 15 years in Washington," he declared, "has been the increasingly active and bi-partisan congressional interest in matters pertaining to our nation's schools."

Then he quoted another Vermont senator of 100 years ago, Justin Morrill, who said, "In other lands and under other forms of government, education may be optional; with us, it is indispensable. Untaught and unprincipled men may be governed, but they cannot govern."

These are words to remember whenever support of the schools is endangered either by partisanship or short-sighted penny-pinching.

A Century of Service

The Illinois Press Association, largest state press group in the United States, will commemorate its 100th year next week.

Awareness of the problems of government "encroachments" committed the IPA at its first meeting to champion the "people's right to know." This embraced the principle that all significant actions of government bodies, whether general or local, should be widely published for the information and appraisal of the people. This conviction expressed itself in recent years through successful campaigns for state laws to assure that public records and public meetings be open to the public.

One of IPA's proudest achievements during its 100-year history was fathering a school of journalism at the University of Illinois. The association worked many years on this project; fostering the interest, assisting in the planning, and finally sponsoring the state legislation which secured the necessary appropriations to establish the school in 1927.

Through its annual meetings, workshops, and contests, IPA has made a valuable contribution to the elevation of professional standards in Illinois journalism. These programs have broadened editors' outlooks and added a perspective and experience with which to judge problems of community and general interest.

IPA has served well the interests of all Illinois newspapers and the public. Its founders can be proud of its progress and good works during 100 years.

Critic's Corner

Buck-Makers Want a War

by HOWARD HARMENING
Staff Writer

Every newsman in the world is dreaming of the day when he'll find time to write "his book."

I'm no exception. In fact, I'm already ahead of the herd, since I have the outline prepared for my book, "How To Make War For Fun And Profit."

In all modesty, I predict it will be even more successful than Carnegie's "How To Win Friends And Influence People."

Educational, the book will point out the value of declaring World War III.

I'm sure it isn't necessary to illustrate here all of the economic implications of making war, but, as an example, just look at one industry alone—that of the uniform manufacturer.

Harmening

Now, in all honesty, can you think of one time in the past week that you've even thought of the uniform manufacturer, far less of the financial implications on his industry if we were at war?

OF COURSE not! Nobody does. Yet, talk about recession! What does he have to do in peacetime except make uniforms for doormen, porters and a fast-dwindling supply of royal pretenders to European thrones.

It would be a different story in wartime, though. The increased demand for military personnel and extensive wear war gives uniforms would cause a boom in the industry unequaled ever before.

Why, just the thought of it causes me to break into a cold, greedy sweat and begin looking for sewing kits I used as a bachelor.

One area of our economy would suffer, however, and that is the field of psychiatry.

WITH A WAR in progress, who would want to hop onto a psychiatrist's couch to tell him about anxieties caused by worry over when the next war would strike?

Since the number of psychiatrists is relatively small, I would propose to the President that he establish a job retraining program for them.

They could, for example, be converted into specialists on shrapnel wounds or something else of more value for wartime conditions.

To return to my book, though, I'm sure all of you instantly see the fun part of war. Television networks display this aspect almost nightly.

After all, what's more humorous than PT-boat sailors battling their commanding officer under the easy-going direction of an Ernest Borgnine or an affable enlisted man telling the Air Force he hasn't any time for sergeants?

WITH AN EYE to the future, this leads me to reveal I've already planned a second book, which would be ideal for a television series.

This one will be about a sailor who has no time for admirals.

The setting, of course, will be in a military prison.

Cummins Comments

Anatomy of an Upset

By BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

Each year when the football season rolls around, we witness frantic but futile efforts by sports writers and other experts to predict the outcome of the games.

We are reminded of Joxer in "Juno and the Paycock," who found that "the world is in a terrible state of chassis." Football forecasting is in a terrible state of chassis, too, and has been for a long time.

CUMMINS

Teams that were tabbed for the Rose Bowl can't even make it to the Peanut Bowl.

I'll admit it isn't easy to predict football games. If the Dakota Aggies beat Indiana Mines by 20 points, then Indiana Mines beats Cincinnati Wesleyan by 32 points, then Cincinnati Wesleyan beats Arkansas Tech by 41 points, that should mean the Dakota Aggies will blast Arkansas Tech by 91 points in their showdown.

So what happens? Arkansas Tech wins.

IT SIMPLY means you shouldn't pay too much attention to the scores.

After long years of observing the college football scene, I have devised a few laws which are not infallible, but which will help a football forecaster keep on the rails.

Try to find out how many players on each squad are taking courses in calculus and vector analysis and things like that, and how many are taking physical education courses. Then give a team one point for each math student on its squad, because it takes a mathematical genius to learn all the plays in modern football.

Find out the seating capacity of the respective stadiums. Give each team one point for every 10,000 seats. The more seats to be filled, the better the team must be. The business administration faculty wouldn't stand for empty seats.

GIVE EACH team one point for every 1,000 miles its coach traveled during the off-season, and one point for every 50 speeches he made. Some of the big ones grow in the back country.

Give each team one point for every player on the squad who is waiting table in the Union and driving a convertible, too. The chances are the player bought the convertible with what he saved on restaurant bills, but there is always the possibility he got it for being a good football player.

Carefully examine the roster of each squad. Note the native state of each player. Give one point for each player from Ohio or Pennsylvania (two points if he is from a steel town as well).

THE MERIT of this system is proved by the Dakota Aggies-Arkansas Tech game.

Dakota's coach traveled 16,000 miles during the off-season, while Tech's covered 14,000 miles.

Dakota had six players driving convertibles, while Arkansas had nine.

Dakota had three players from Ohio and two from Pennsylvania, while Arkansas had five from Ohio and three from Pennsylvania.

That's why Arkansas Tech pulled a 35-31 upset.

Press Association To Mark Centennial

A century of service to Illinois newspapers will be commemorated by the Illinois Press Association at its centennial convention to be held at Springfield Oct. 14-16.

The Illinois Press Association was established during the closing year of the Civil War. Two years prior to that time, during 1863, a movement for a state society of newspaper editors and publishers was started to band together members of the press for the development of professional ideals and standards, methods, and unified action in legislative matters.

BY THE TIME the Civil War was over on April 9, 1865, more than a score of editors had been enlisted in the preliminary organization work that would make the state association become a reality. A membership drive was launched and IPA was founded in the fall of 1865.

From a membership of 80 daily and weekly newspapers in the beginning, IPA has grown steadily over the years reaching a current all-time high of 710 members, of which 625 are newspapers—60 dailies and 565 weeklies.

Today, the association holds the distinction of being the largest state press group in the United States.

Government Study Asked By Rumsfeld

Congressman Donald Rumsfeld, R-13th has introduced a bill in the U.S. House of Representatives calling for the creation of a blue-ribbon commission to conduct a two-year study of the executive branch of the federal government.

In introducing the bill last week, Rumsfeld said: "Although Congressional oversight is continuous, the last comprehensive review of federal operations—by the second Hoover Commission—ended 10 years ago. Since then we have seen great changes in the size, complexity, and emphasis of government, and I believe it is time for another over-all review."

THE PROPOSED commission would be asked to make specific recommendations to Congress in the areas of urban affairs, natural resources, transportation, medical services, and others.

The commission would be composed of fourteen members, including governors, senators, congressmen, ad six members from private life. Life of the commission would be two years.

"One specific area which deserves study is the need to increase and improve liaison and communication between the Executive Branch and other governmental entities," Rumsfeld noted. "The 'information revolution' has produced grave problems in communication which the commission could work effectively to solve."
